VOTE BOARD HEAD TO URGE CHECK OF THREE PLACES IN 18TH WARD

10 Adults Found Actually Living in One Rooming House From Which 19 Are Registered.

An investigation of voter registration at three rooming houses in the Eighteenth Ward will be recommended by Chairman Michael J. Doherty to the Board of Election Commissioners, he told the Post-Dispatch today.

Doherty acted after the Post-Dispatch made available the results it had found in a check of the three places.

At 4121 Delmar boulevard, where 19 persons are listed as registered voters, a reporter was told that only 10 adults were actually living there.

Three tenants said two of the persons registered were unknown to them and two others had been residents but had moved away. None of the four had voted in the Aug. 7 primary election, however.

Owner, 2 in Family Registered.

Three registrants were the owner and two members of his family who formerly lived at the house but are now living in the 4400 block of Elmbank avenue, the Post-Dispatch was told. The three voted from 4121 Delmar in the primary this month, records showed.

At another rooming house at 4719 Vernon avenue, a reporter found two tenants who were able to identify only five persons among the seven registered there as actual residents. One was unknown to the informants and another had lived there and might still be a resident, they said.

Only one elderly woman was found at a rooming house at 4439 Evans avenue when a reporter called Saturday. She was one of 15 persons registered at the address and was unable to identify more than two others. However, in a second check today, a reporter was told by another tenant that all the registrants actually were living in the house.

Bar on Beauty Shop.

State Representative Jennie S. Walsh today was ordered by Building Commissioner A. H. Baum to cease within 10 days the operation of a beauty parlor in her home at 4374 Laclede avenue.

Baum said an investigation disclosed that the beauty shop violated the zoning ordinance which restricts that block of Laclede avenue to "E" four-family dwelling purposes. He also found that a 2-by-7-foot sign affixed to the wall of the building had been erected without a permit and ordered it removed within five days.

Mrs. Walsh, who was defeated for the Democratic renomination for State Representative in the primary, had called attention to alleged irregularities in the voting of absentee ballots in her district.

In the course of the investigation, it was discovered that nine persons had been registered from Mrs. Walsh's home but that not all lived there. Two of the registrants have been ordered to show cause why their registration should not be revoked.

Baum decided, however, that Mrs. Walsh's home was not a rooming house, for which a permit would have been required. It was as a result of the election board inquiry that the lack of an occupancy permit for the beauty shop was disclosed.

The circuit court grand jury yesterday examined records of absentee voting in the Seventeenth Ward in the Aug. 7 primary election but heard no witnesses, the Post-Dispatch learned.

The jury is meeting again today and Thursday but whether

MEN RECRUITED BY UNION START OPERATING CABS

Number of New Drivers Not Disclosed — Action Is Denounced by Strike Leader.

Men recruited by the Teamsters' Union to replace striking taxicab drivers went to work today, it was reported, but the walkout by 700 regular drivers continued. The number of replacements was not disclosed.

Don Cortor, leader of the strikers, denounced the recruiting as an effort by Harold J. Gibbons, president of Teamsters' Joint Council No. 13, to crush the Taxicab Drivers' Welfare Association, independent union organized by former members of Teamsters Local 405.

"This strikebreaking move can't succeed," he contended. "The larger part of our members are individual cab owners, and they can't be replaced in this way. The only way to replace them is for Black & White, Laclede and Yellow Cab Co.'s to buy 400 or 500 automobiles."

Alderman A. J. Cervantes, who is president of Laclede, and William Seibert, head of Yellow Cab Co., sought to address a meeting of the striking drivers at St. Louis House last night, but were refused permission to speak by vote of the strikers.

The strikers refused to hear the company officials because they were convinced that Gibbons had sent them to the meeting, said Cortor, who is chairman of the Drivers' Welfare Association.

Gibbons, trustee of Local 405, said it was the union's responsibility to furnish drivers to the taxicab companies, and 60 men had been recruited from other locals of the Teamsters' Union for this purpose.

"We've been hiring new drivers," said Cervantes, but when asked how many men had been taken on since the strike began said, "Three or four were taken on in the last couple of days."

Seibert said Yellow Cab "will use any one who is a member of the Teamsters' Union, regardless of who recruits him."

The strike was called shortly after several Negro drivers had been employed by firms which had not used them before. Cortor insisted that this was not the reason for the walkout, which he termed a revolt against domination by Gibbons.

The St. Louis Council on Human Relations issued a statement congratulating the officers of Local 405 and the owners of the taxicab companies for their joint announcement of a fair employment policy."

SEGREGATION LEADER FREED OF CHARGES IN TENNESSEE

Kasper was arrested Sunday on charges of inciting to riot and vagrancy. Police said Kasper, who identified himself as executive secretary of the Seaboard White Citizens' Council, distributed inflammatory literature and tried to induce Clinton parents to picket the school.

Kasper announced immediately he would continue his efforts to keep Negroes out of Clinton High.

15-YEAR-OLD GIRL STALLS RED DRIVE FOR REPATRIATES

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 28 (AP) — A 15-year-old girl who jumped ship rather than go to Russia may have helped torpedo the booming Soviet repatriation program in Argentina.

The case of Ana Lewczuk has aroused sympathy and indignation throughout the country. The reaction bodes ill for the Red drive to lure exiles home to Iron Curtain countries.

The attractive Argentine-born girl returned to Buenos Aires last week, rushed into her tearful father's arms and cried: "The nightmare is over."

She had sailed a month earlier with a boatload of repatriates bound for the Ukrainian port of Odessa.

Her father, a Ukrainian-born furniture maker, accused Soviet diplomats here of "corrupting her mind" and persuading his daughter to go to the U.S.S.R. to live.

Disillusioned by Communist brainwashing aboard ship, she jumped ship in Genoa, Italy. Argentine consular officials there arranged for her return home. Her account of iron rule and Red indoctrination on the ship was been given large display by the Argentine press.

MOONSHINING IN WINDOW RULED LEGAL INVITATION

Judge Holds Raiders Need No Search Warrant When They Can See Still.

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., Aug. 28 (AP)—A moonshiner has no protection against search and seizure if his still is visible through windows, San Mateo County Superior Judge Aylett R. Cotton has ruled.

State officers arrested Larkie Tone, 52, last June 14 in San Francisco for selling moonshine. They later broke into his home in San Mateo county to seize a contraption which was steaming in his basement. They said it was a still. The defense argued illegal search and seizure.

When Deputy District Attorney Howard Harley told Judge Cotton the raiders could see the still plainly through the windows, he denied a defense motion to dismiss the charges against Tone.

CAUSE OF ATOM PHYSICIST'S DEATH IS UNDETERMINED

HOLLOW ROCK, Tenn., Aug. 28 (AP)—An autopsy yesterday failed to indicate the cause of death of a former suitor of the bride of bandleader Vivian Chaudet, killed in an explosion at Paducah, Ky.

Dr. Roy Douglas said Paducah police officials had taken the stomach and other vital organs of Reuben Crews for chemical analysis. He said there were no indications of suicide.

Crews was found dead in bed at his home here Sunday morning. He was employed as a physicist at the Paducah atomic energy installation.

Chaudet, a well-known bandleader in Kentucky and Illinois, died when a bomb placed under the front seat of his car exploded Saturday. Paducah police said it was a grudge killing.

GAS KILLS 29 POLISH MINERS

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Warsaw radio said last night that a fire in a coal mine at Chorzow killed 29 Polish miners.

The broadcast said the fire broke out in the mine Saturday and that poison gas killed the miners. It added that work in the mine was resumed yesterday. Chorzow is a city of 100,000 in the former German province of Upper Silesia.

U.S. Giving Away Hot Dogs, Some With Mustard, at London Fair

© New York Times News Service

LONDON, Aug. 28 — The United States Government will be giving away thousands of hot dogs, some with mustard, in this town in the next few weeks.

Its free-of-charge hot dog stands are part of the attractive and expansive government exhibit at the British Food Fair, which opened at Olympia hall today and continues through Sept. 15.

The United States has plenty of rivalry for attention. Thirteen other nations are represented and some of the most lavish exhibits are those of the East European countries, among them Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia.

The attractively-designed United States exhibit is intended to give the visitor some idea of what American food looks like and how it is produced, processed and marketed. For the housewife, there are display cards listing the average prices of the products in the United States.

STEVENSON USES 'JOE SMITH' TACK IN REGIONAL BIDS

By TOM YARBROUGH
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SANTA FE, N.M., Aug. 28—Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois has launched his second try for the presidency on the "Joe Smith" approach, an angle supplied by the Republican national convention at San Francisco last week. It is an approach that symbolizes the election-year stature of "the common man"—the same figure who was Franklin D. Roosevelt's "forgotten man."

At the first of a series of five regional meetings with Democratic party leaders scheduled for this week, Stevenson and his running mate, Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, met here yesterday with leaders from seven southwestern states. When it was all over at an early hour today the word on all sides was harmony. The phrase most commonly heard at this partisan gathering was, "We are going to win in November with Stevenson and Kefauver."

Today the candidates and their official retinue, accompanied by some 40 representatives of newspapers, newsreels, television, radio and assorted magazines were flying—all in one airplane—to Vancouver, Wash., and the Bonneville Dam for another conference with the several northwestern states represented.

Confidence Confirmed.

Stevenson said the Santa Fe meeting had confirmed his confidence in a Democratic victory in November and he noted that there had been a "sharp change" of opinion in this area toward the Democrats. Kefauver said that a lot of people who voted for Mr. Eisenhower in 1952 had informed the Democrats they intended to vote Democratic this year.

The Santa Fe conference was closed to the press—as all of the others are to be this week. At the end, Stevenson and Kefauver met the press and answered questions. They reported good progress. An aid to Stevenson conceded at the time that it would have been just as well to have had the reporters inside for all of the proceedings, since there was no hassle that would have been embarrassing.

Nevertheless it was agreed that it was a good thing to let the visitors feel that they were having a private meeting with the bigwigs of the party and the campaign.

The "Joe Smith" approach was made clear even before the party took off from Chicago yesterday. Clayton Fritchey, heretofore deputy chairman of the Democratic National Committee and now press secretary to Stevenson, said the plane should be called "The Flying Joe Smith." The next best runner-up as a name for the airplane was "The Grass Rooter."

"Joe Smith," of course, is the mythical man who did not get nominated for Vice President by the Republicans at San Francisco. He was put forward by Terry Carpenter of Nebraska, in opposition to Vice President Richard Nixon, and the whole thing turned out as something of a gag. But "Joe Smith" held over as a symbol of the little guy who could get nowhere against a steamroller.

Clue to His Origin.

The best clue as to the origin of "Joe Smith" indicates that he was born in East St. Louis—a character that turned up at the Illinois American Legion convention at Chicago two years ago. An East St. Louis delegate, against some candidate for Legion office but at a loss to say who he was really for, just blurted out—"Joe Smith." Joe developed a strength of important proportions, although he could not be found by endless paging in hotel lobbies.

The Democrats, gathering breath after their own knockdown-and-drag-out in Chicago,

PEIPING TELLS U.S. RED PLANES DOWNED CRAFT LAST THURSDAY

But Contends It Was Chinese Nationalist Plane, Dulles Says — No Word as to Survivors.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Communist China has informed the United States that Red Chinese planes shot down an aircraft off the China coast last Thursday and that apparently there are no survivors, Secretary of State Dulles announced today.

Dulles, at a news conference said the Peiping regime contends, however, that the plane downed was a Chinese Natiopalist plane.

A United States Navy Mercator patrol plane, with a 16-man crew, disappeared Thursday (Tokyo Time) after reporting it was under attack off Red China's coast. United States searchers have found wreckage and the body of one crewman, with bullet wounds.

Dulles said that in answer to an American inquiry through the British embassy in Peiping, Red China has conceded only that Chinese air force fighters did shoot down a plane in that general area about the time mentioned.

Dulles reported that the note, as he put it, was entirely negative regarding an American inquiry about the whereabouts of any survivors.

Dulles said he read a memorandum of the Chinese reply a few hours before the news conference. He said he did not recall precisely whether the Reds stuck to a story they previously broadcast by radio that a Chinese Nationalist plane was "damaged" and then disappeared toward the sea.

Dulles said he assumes that by now, since the body of a crewman has been discovered amid wreckage, everyone knows the American plane was shot down in any event.

Dulles did not indicate what step the United States might next take. He said the Defense or State Department would make some sort of announcement as soon as all the facts are available.

There have been some demands that this country make a strong protest to Red China against the shooting, and perhaps take other action.

The department has taken the position that it first wanted to get all the facts on the case before taking any action.

Body of Ohio Airman Being Flown to U. S.

TOKYO Aug. 28 (AP)—The flag-draped casket of a United States airman, killed when a Navy patrol plane was shot down by unidentified planes off Red China's coast last Thursday, left for home tonight by special plane.

An honor guard stood at attention as six white-clad sailors carried the coffin of Aviation Electronics Technician Albert P. Mattin, Delta, O., to the waiting C-124 Globemaster transport plane. Mattin's wife and three small sons, along with the wives and 10 children of five other crew members listed as missing, were to follow in another plane.

Of the 16 men aboard the P-4M Mercator, only Mattin's fate is definitely known. His body and bits of wreckage were found about 100 miles southeast of Shanghai. The other 15 are listed as missing.

RECORD RUSSIAN GRAIN CROP MAY BE BUNGLED AWAY

© New York Times News Service

NOVOSIBIRSK, U.S.S.R, Aug. 28—The dream of Nikita S. Khrushchev, chief of the Soviet Communist party, of making Siberia into a vast granary may turn into a nightmare.

What appears to be a record grain crop of more than 124,000,000 tons is now standing or lying on the steppes of Siberia and Kazakhstan, on the central black earth belt, along the Volga and in other parts of the Soviet Union. Unless the grain can be put under cover quickly, it may rot or freeze in the fields.

Pravda, the Communist party organ, devoted a large part of its first page yesterday to the problem. It said that unseasonable rain was not solely responsible for the fact that less than half of the crop was been harvested.

Pravda repeatedly has criticized local officials for mismanaging harvest labor, using machinery at one-third of its efficiency and for delaying construction of storage facilities.

NIXON BEGINS CLEARING HIS DESK FOR CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Vice President Nixon plunged into office work today to clear the decks for his re-election campaign.

Aids said the Vice President was on the job early, facing a big stack of correspondence and routine office work. No appointments were on Nixon's schedule for this second day of his return from California and the Republican national convention which renominated him.

NASSER AGREES TO HEAR WEST'S PLAN BUT WON'T BE BOUND TO ACCEPT IT

DULLES SAYS HE BELIEVES SUEZ CRISIS CAN BE SOLVED

By GEORGE H. HALL
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today he thinks a solution can be found to the crisis created by Egyptian seizure of the Suez canal despite Russian efforts to make it difficult for Egypt to accept a settlement.

Dulles said Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser had made a contribution toward a peaceful solution by agreeing to receive a committee set up by the recent London conference on Suez.

The secretary told a news conference he was not at all hopeless about the Suez situation.

Dulles was asked whether he had recent evidence that the Soviets have tried to prevent a settlement of the Suez dispute. He replied he did not like to charge motives to other people, but that there is a legal maxim that a man is presumed to intend the natural consequences of an act. He said he thought that maxim was applicable.

The act, Dulles said, consisted of anti-western Soviet broadcasts beamed to the Middle East. These were carried on while the 22-nation London conference on Suez was in progress.

The broadcasts were of a vicious type, Dulles said. He said the broadcasters told the Egyptians that any solution would mean knuckling under to colonialism and imperialism. At the very time he was explaining the western plan to Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov, Dulles said, the radio was denouncing the plan.

Of the 22 nations attending the conference in London, Dulles said, only the Soviet Union stood out as a country that did not want a peaceful resolution of the problem. The western plan, approved by 18 nations, called for operation of the canal by an international board. A minority plan, sponsored by India and supported by Russia, Indonesia and Ceylon, would permit Egypt to retain control and set up an advisory international board.

Dulles pointed out that the Egyptians are in physical con-

MENZIES GROUP REPORTED READY TO FLY TO CAIRO IMMEDIATELY

Egyptian Envoy in London Gives Reply to Australian—Message Read to British Cabinet.

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP) — Egypt agreed today to meet with a committee charged with presenting a proposal for international control of the Suez canal but made no commitment to accept the plan.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser made known his willingness to see the five-nation committee in a brief letter to its chairman, Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies of Australia. He mentioned neither time nor place for the meeting.

Sami Aboul Tetough, Egyptian ambassador to London, called on Menzies to deliver Nasser's letter.

Text of Letter.

The text, as made public in Cairo, read:

"I wish to acknowledge receipt of Your Excellency's letter dated Aug. 24 in which you informed me of the request of the committee under Your Excellency's chairmanship . . . To meet with me to place before me and to explain to me the views of the governments mentioned in your message concerning the Suez Canal. I agree to the proposed meeting as requested by the committee."

The letter did not bear out an earlier report from Egyptian officials that Nasser had specified Cairo as the place for the meeting. On the strength of this report, a spokesman for the committee had indicated the members were ready to fly to Cairo almost immediately.

On getting Nasser's reply, Menzies went to 10 Downing street, residence of Prime Minister Eden, where the Cabinet was in session. The Cabinet was informed of Nasser's reply and the meeting broke up soon after.

Time, Place Question.

Menzies's letter to Nasser, as disclosed by the Egyptians, was also brief. It suggested that the time and place of the meeting be arranged after Nasser replied to the committee's request that it be held.

The Menzies committee was named by 18 of the 22 nations attending the recent Suez conference in London. It was assigned the task of presenting the majority proposals to Nasser for an international board to run the canal. The plan would make Egypt a member of the board and link the agency to the United Nations.

The London conference was called after Nasser announced July 26 that Egypt had nationalized the internationally-owned Suez Canal Co. Egypt refused to attend the London parley and challenged its right to take up the Suez question.

The five-power committee sent its request for a meeting to Nasser five days ago. Members in addition to Australia are the United States, Sweden, Ethiopia and Iran. Veteran career diplomat Loy Henderson is the United States representative.

A minority plan, submitted by India at the London conference and supported by the Soviet Union, Ceylon and Indonesia, would leave the canal under Egyptian control and provide an international board with advisory powers only.

Open to Shipping.

Nasser has said that Egypt will keep the canal open to all shipping. Reports from Cairo said he would offer treaty guarantees to back up his promise.

In the background remained the question of what the West would do if Nasser, after meeting with the committee, still refused to yield the waterway to international control.

Britain and France are continuing to reinforce their military forces in the eastern Mediterranean. They have described these moves as precautionary, however, and it was considered likely that a deadlock over the canal would bring economic rather than military moves against Egypt.

There are about 13,000 British subjects still in Egypt. Hundreds of wives and children of Britons working there have been evacuated since the seizure of the canal, and both Britain and France have advised all their people there to leave unless they have compelling reasons for staying.

Adding to the tension of the situation was the arrest in Cairo of two British subjects on charges of espionage. An Egyptian also was arrested and accused of being a member of an alleged spy ring.

BOMBING MARKS END OF TRUCE BY CYPRUS REBELS

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Aug. 28 (AP)—The end of a 11-day truce proclaimed by the Greek Cypriot underground was punctuated today by a bombing at the east coast town of Lanarca.

Authorities said the bomb damaged a house occupied by a Greek family but there were no casualties. The bombing was blamed on Eoka, the extremist underground that called the truce.

Meanwhile, the British placed Dr. Themistocles Dervis, Greek mayor of Nicosia, under house arrest and searched his home and office. They said they were investigating the mayor "as a result of information received" but did not elaborate. The mayor is an outspoken advocate of union with Greece.

Authorities also announced six convicted Eoka members were taken from Nicosia's central prison and flown to Britain to serve out the rest of their sentences.

They said the six had terrorized their wardens and other prisoners. One convicted Eoka member under life sentence escaped from the prison last night.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—A city sanitation truck dumped two tons of garbage in a Bronx street yesterday to enable a woman to recover $530.

Three workers on the truck emptied the load and after a half-hour of sifting found the money. The woman gave them a $5 reward.

ANTHROPOLOGIST REPORTED KILLED BY MEXICAN INDIANS

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 28 (AP) — Indians of the primitive Chamula tribe are reported to have killed a German anthropologist, Arthur Siltz, in Chiapas state near the Guatemalan border.

A report from San Cristobal de las Casas said Siltz went on a painting trip in the Indian zone despite warnings that it was dangerous. A search party learned the Indians had hacked him to death with machetes and long knives.

EISENHOWER OFF ON FLIGHT BACK TO WASHINGTON

President Leaves California Vacation Spot —To Arrive in Capital Tonight.

By JAMES DEAKIN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower took off in the presidential plane, Columbine III at 10:37 a.m. (St. Louis time) from the Monterey Naval Air Station.

The Columbine's pilot, Air Force Col. William Draper, estimated the return flight would take 8½ hours, depending on the winds. Because of the three-hour time differential, it is expected to be about 8:30 p.m. when Mr. Eisenhower arrives in Washington.

The flight both ways, at an estimated total cost of about $12,750, is being paid for by the Republican National Committee, which considers it an expense incident to politics.

Suez Problem.

Suez will be the most pressing international problem facing the President on his return to the capital. He has talked by telephone several times with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who represented the United States at the conference in London on the crisis created by Egypt's seizure of the Suez canal.

Mr. Eisenhower invited some old friends to accompany him on the plane, and en route they probably will get up a bridge game to pass the time.

The guests were William E. Robinson of New York, president of the Coca-Cola Co.; Frank Willard, a New York investment banker, and Ellis Slater, president of Frankford Distilleries. Hagerty did not know who would be the fourth for bridge.

Robinson, Willard and John A. McCone, the President's host at Cypress Point, were Mr. Eisenhower's golfing partners yesterday as he wound up his vacation with what White House press secretary James C. Hagerty described as his "best round."

"He was feeling very good about it," Hagerty said.

Total of 72 Holes.

Altogether, Mr. Eisenhower played 72 holes of golf there—18 holes each of the four days—and all on the tough course at Cypress Point.

"In and out of the rough with Ike," remarked one wit. Hagerty, a golfer himself,

Esther Williams Gives Cop Kiss, But Her Husband May Pay for It

LONDON, Aug. 28 (UP)—The next time Esther Williams asks a London policeman to kiss her the answer is expected to be a flat "no."

A disciplinary board fined an unidentified policeman £2 ($5.60) for kissing the swim star and said cops must "comport themselves with dignity."

The kissing scene took place at a gala premiere at a London movie house. Esther asked the cop to kiss her for the benefit of photographers. Her husband, Ben Gage, offered to pay the fine.

U.S. TO STEP UP OUTPUT OF JET TANKER PLANES TO 20 A MONTH

But Rate Won't Be Reached Until 1959 —Craft Will Service Bombers, Adding to Their Range.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—The Defense Department announced last night that it is stepping up production of KC-135 jet tanker planes which service Strategic Air Command bombers.

The Air Force said increased production of the jet tankers "will give the Air Force's main retaliatory force longer range and more flexibility in employment."

The money will come from the $800,000,000 added to the 1957 defense budget, over administration objections, under Democratic sponsorship after weeks of Senate hearings on how United States airpower compared with that of Soviet Russia.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, who has been under fire in some quarters for cutting back Defense Department expenditures, personally ordered the tanker production step-up on the recommendation of Gen. Nathan Twining, Air Force Chief of Staff.

Nothing Immediate.

Because of long lead-time needed, the order will produce nothing immediate. The new tankers are not yet off the production line, and the new production rate of 20 a month will not be reached until early 1959. However, this is "substantially earlier than previously planned," the Air Force said.

Production of B-52 long range bombers, which need the tankers on certain target missions, will reach its presently scheduled peak of 20 a month between 12 and 18 months ahead of the timetable for tankers.

KC-135s cost about $4,000,000 each. They are built by the Boeing Aircraft Co. at Seattle and are modeled after jet transports already in Air Force service and scheduled to go into civilian airline service next year.

Two KC-135s to One B-52.

Earlier this year, Air Force officers testified to congressional committees that they needed a speed-up on tanker production, among other items of military hardware. The Air Force wants a minimum of two tankers to each B-52, although last night's announcement suggested that the maximum tanker fleet will be around 400.

The Air Force has not disclosed the number of long-range bombers in its SAC groups.

However, SAC is prepared, with B-47s and B-52s already in service and others scheduled to be operational within a month, to hit targets more than 4000 miles distant. Use of tankers can extend the range to 8000 miles or more.

15 HURT, RIOTING ARGENTINE STUDENTS BATTLE POLICE

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 28 (AP) — Fifteen persons were hurt in Mendoza last night in a clash of police and firemen with students demanding the resignation of the rector of the University of Cuyo.

A government communique said seven firemen were injured by rocks and six students, a fireman and a street peddler wounded by gunshots which "were not from police firearms."

Early today a small band of students burst into the home of the rector, Dr. Germinal Basso, and wrecked much of the interior before police ejected them.

A professors' association spokesman said he demonstration "has no political ends . . . it seeks only a new rector with teaching capacity and who is absolutely free from political leaning."

'Rock and Roll Ship.'

LONDON, Aug. 28 (UP)—The London Daily Sketch intimated today that Britain's $5,300,000 royal yacht Britannia may not be seaworthy. The paper said dock workers, who have done more than $300,000 worth of repair work on the vessel, have dubbed it the "rock and roll ship" and "the awkward lady."

3 SOVIET SATELLITES ANGLE FOR RELATIONS WITH TUNISIA

TUNIS, Aug. 28 (AP)—Three Iron Curtain countries angled for diplomatic relations with the new government of Tunisia yesterday.

The office of Premier-Foreign Minister Harib Bourguiba said Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania have notified him of their official recognition of Tunisian independence and asked for exchanges of envoys.

Officials said the replies will undoubtedly be the same as Bourguiba's recent answer to a similar note from Moscow. He thanked the Russians for recognizing Tunisia's independence from France and said he would establish diplomatic relations "when circumstances permit." Intimates say he does not want any Communist representation here until his government is more solidly established.

WARRENS GREETED WARMLY ON ARRIVAL IN NEW DELHI

NEW DELHI, Aug. 28 (UP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States Supreme Court and Mrs. Warren received a warm welcome by Indian government and American representatives today.

The welcome was in contrast to the quiet reception the Warrens received two weeks ago in Bombay, when they first reached India for an 18-day tour as guests of the Indian government.

Warren spoke briefly in praise of the Indian judiciary, then he and Mrs. Warren were driven to Government House in Indian President Rajendra Prasad's limousine.

JAPAN LABOR FEDERATION EASES OPPOSITION TO REDS

TOKYO, Aug. 28 (AP)—Japan's most powerful labor federation loosened its tight stand against the Japan Communist party today and decided to shake hands with the Reds "when it is needed."

The Japan General Council of Trade Unions (Sohyo), which claims a membership of 3,000,000, unanimously adopted the new policy.

Kaoru Ota, vice chairman of Sohyo, said later that "the new policy doesn't mean Sohyo is leaning to the Left." He added Sohyo earlier "had to be anti-Communist to avoid defeat by the capitalists' offensive. . . . Now it can stand alone."

EISENHOWER OFF ON FLIGHT BACK TO WASHINGTON

painted a graphic picture of the President on the eighth hole. "He was fighting it (the rough and sand traps) all the way, and so was I," said Hagerty.

As for the notorious sixteenth hole, where the fairway meets an inlet of the Pacific ocean, Mr. Eisenhower took the easy way out. He went around it.

Photographers wanted pictures of the President on the sixteenth hole. He sent word back through Hagerty: "You tell them if I sat up there for three years I couldn't make it over that water."

Scores Not Kept.

Mr. Eisenhower's scores were not announced. They were not even kept, because several times he "picked up" his ball when he was high scorer. Nevertheless, he had a very good time.

"He enjoyed it very much—the golf, the weather, the hospitality," Hagerty said yesterday.

Best indications were that he shot between 95 and 100 on the par-72 course. When he arrived here last Thursday night, he remarked that he considered himself lucky any time he went below 95 these days.

Hagerty told reporters yesterday he thought Mr. Eisenhower's physicians consider his convalescence from a major abdominal operation ended, although a formal announcement to this effect has never been made.

The President underwent an emergency operation last June 9 to relieve a partial intestinal obstruction. Shortly before he went to Panama July 20, his doctors announced he was still rated as a convalescent. That was the latest word from the physicians.

Walked Half of Way.

At his press conference, Hagerty first ducked questions on Mr. Eisenhower's health. Then he was asked if the doctors believe the convalescence period has ended.

"I would think the answer to that would be yes, they do," Hagerty replied.

He said the President has been walking about half the distance over the 6317-yard golf course and using an electric golfmobile on the longer, hillier stretches of fairway. Mr. Eisenhower's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, has accompanied him over the course each time.

Others on the presidential plane, in addition to the Eisenhowers, were Dr. Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. Hagerty; Mary Jane McCaffree, Mrs. Eisenhower's personal secretary; Bernard M. Shanley, the President's appointments secretary, and his wife; John Mowney, the President's valet; Rose Wood, Mrs. Eisenhower's maid, and Secret Service agents.

TWO ALTERNATE JURORS NEEDED IN BRINK'S TRIAL

BOSTON, Aug. 28 (AP) — A jury of 12 men was finally seated today for the Brink's million-dollar robbery trial and there remained only the selection of two alternates before the trial actually starts in Suffolk county superior court.

The alternates probably will be selected tomorrow. Today's daily batch of 100 veniremen—bringing to 1600 the number examined since Aug. 7—was exhausted before the alternates could be picked.

Judge Felix Forte excused 26 in preliminary screening today and 50 more in open court. The prosecution challenged 22 and the eleventh and twelfth jurors were drawn.

MEXICANS CALL FOR INQUIRY ON 'WETBACKS'

Action Follows Drowning of 4 After Mass Protest Over Deportation Ship.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 28 (AP)—Several Mexican deputies and Senators joined yesterday in calling for an inquiry into deportations of Mexican "wetbacks" from the United States. The demand followed a mass break from a deportation ship at Tampico Sunday in which four were reported drowned.

Wetbacks are workers who entered the United States illegally, after wading or swimming the Rio Grande, for jobs on farms.

Foreign Minister Luis Padilla Nervo was reported to have discussed the problem with his assistants. The Minister of Marine flew to Tampico for an investigation of the incident.

There was still some mystery over what happened at Tampico when the Mercurio I put in with about 500 Mexican workers en route from Port Isabel, Tex., to Vera Cruz.

Tampico Port Capt. Luis Sevilla said the ship put in to discharge a seriously ill passenger. It was reported afterward that a number of others demanded to be let off, that 37 deportees leaped overboard into the river Panuco, and that only 33 reached shore.

Survivors complained to reporters that they had been packed into the ship with little food and water.

Some dispatches said Capt. Jorge Espinoza of the Mercurio was forced to put in to Tampico by a mass demonstration on the ship. Sevilla said, however, that after the ship came into port to discharge the sick man, a group jumped overboard. Then, he said, others rose up "and threatened to lynch Espinoza" unless he let them off at Tampico.

U.S. to Step Up Drive Against 'Wetbacks,' Gen. Swing Says.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—The United States is stepping up its drive to keep Mexican "wetbacks" out of the country, Gen. Joseph M. Swing, Commissioner of Immigration, said yesterday.

He disclosed in an interview that the border patrol two weeks ago began prosecuting captured "wetbacks" for illegal entry. The border patrol previously had contended itself with shipping the violators back to Mexico.

When the Immigration Service began its drive against wetbacks, in the summer of 1954, it picked up an average of 3000 a day. This summer the average has dropped to about 125, Gen. Swing said.

Gen. Swing said the Immigration Service now is getting "excellent co-operation" from the Mexican authorities.

The commissioner gave much of the credit for the sharp drop in illegal crossings to the boat-lift that the Immigration Service uses to return "wetbacks" to Vera Cruz. A wetback who is shipped to Vera Cruz has a long distance to travel before he can get back to the United States border.

Landslide Cleared Off Road.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Pacific Coast Highway, blocked Sunday by a landslide that injured four women, was reopened to traffic today. An underground spring was believed to have caused the slide that toppled the women and 18,000,000 pounds of earth onto the highway, blocking it for 150 feet.

2 British Embassy Secretaries Aided Accused Spy, Egypt Says

English Again Deny Link to Alleged Espionage Ring—Call It 'Complete Fabrication.'

CAIRO, Aug. 28 (AP) — Egyptian authorities charged today two British embassy secretaries in Cairo were linked to an espionage ring allegedly headed by James Swinburn, one of the two Britons arrested yesterday.

A statement circulated by the Middle East News said Swinburn had confessed he worked with J. B. Flux, first secretary at the British Embassy, and J. C. Gove, also a first secretary at the embassy.

Asked about the announcement, a British embassy spokesman repeated a statement earlier today calling reports of embassy involvement "without foundation and a complete fabrication."

Security police charged that the Britons and an Egyptian associate headed a spy network for British intelligence. The police said the ringleaders have incriminated four other Egyptians and that "others may be implicated."

The arrests added to tension stirred up by President Gamal Abdel Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal Co. They seemed certain to increase sentiment in Britain for a tough policy toward Egypt—possibly including the use of military force.

Held at the heavily-guarded Interior Ministry were Swinburn, business manager of the British-owned Arab News agency in Cairo; Charles Pittuck, an officer of the Marconi Radio-Telegraph Co. of Egypt, and El Sayed Amin Mahmud, the Egyptian.

Police seized the three at Swinburn's Cairo home yesterday.

(The United Press said important documents also were confiscated there.)

Col. Abdel Kader Hatem, Egypt's director of information, said:

"Two years ago Egyptian authorities learned of the existence of a dangerous espionage ring which worked for British intelligence and supplied it with information regarding Egyptian armed forces and activities of various Egyptian political bodies.

"Through close and continuous observation, the Egyptian security department finally was able to secure documents which proved members of this ring were conspiring against the security and safety of this country."

Reporters were not allowed to question Swinburn and Pittuck, but photographers were permitted to take pictures of them.

Swinburn, about 50, has lived in Egypt almost 25 years. The Arab News agency distributes news through the Middle East from the British agency Reuters. Pittuck is a second generation resident of Egypt.

Authorities said Swinburn acknowledged receiving instructions from two diplomats of an unidentified foreign embassy.

The arrests followed by a day the expulsion from Egypt of two British reporters and an American woman correspondent for a London daily, for unannounced reasons.

ISRAEL OPPOSITION LEADER URGES ALLIANCE WITH WEST

JERUSALEM, Aug. 28 (UP)—Rightwing Herut opposition party leader Menahem Beigin called today for an alliance between Israel and the Western powers.

The former leader of the Irgun Zvai Leumi terrorist organization said on the eve of a trip to Europe that there is no chance of the Suez canal being opened to Israeli shipping if it falls under exclusive Egyptian jurisdiction.

If Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser "gets away" with the expropriation of the canal, Beigin said, he would be able to intensify preparations for an all-out assault on Israel.

SOUTH CAROLINA REBELS WALK OUT ON DEMOCRATS

50 Delegates to Convention Refuse to Back Stevenson, Form Rival Group.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 28 (UP)—Insurgents bolted from the South Carolina Democratic party and today set out to get an independent slate of electors on the November general election ballot.

Some 50 delegates who objected to a unity stand adopted by the state Democratic convention yesterday met afterward in a secret night session and decided to split from the party. They said they would announce their slate of electors today.

The insurgents, calling themselves "South Carolinians for Independent Electors," have to get the 10,000 signatures in 11 days on a petition for a spot on the ballot.

They will get no help from the regular Democrats, who in 1952 tacitly indorsed the South Carolinians for Eisenhower movement and opened the door to independent voting. The Republicans almost carried the state.

The convention yesterday narrowly voted down resolutions to open the door to insurrection again in 1956.

Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. said, "I do not believe we are prepared to sever our connection with the national party," and a majority of the convention fell into line.

United States Senator-nominate Strom Thurmond, 1948 "States' Rights" presidential candidate, led the opposition before the convention. This split the convention nearly down the middle on roll call votes that killed two resolutions indorsing independent electors, 168½ to 147½, and 167 to 150½.

The convention then pledged its allegiance to Adlai Stevenson and Senator Estes Kefauver despite wide dissatisfaction with Kefauver and with the party's civil rights platform plank.

At this former State Senator James H. Hammond jumped to the floor and shouted, "You are fixing to split the Democratic party so wide open in this state it will never heal."

While Senator Olin D. Johnston, South Carolina's senior Senator and a leading loyalty advocate, was congratulating the delegates because "everything went Democratic" at the meeting, the rebels moved to another hotel and denounced the proceedings.

You're convinced . . . in half an hour you can play the Hammond Chord Organ that is why we say: you try it!

Everyone, including yourself have an inborn desire to create beautiful music. You have not gone beyond the dream stage simply because you have never made a test of your talents. The Hammond Chord Organ was designed expressly for those who would love to play, but have no desire or time for lessons. One finger of your right hand plays the melody. (You don't read notes, so you use the new picture music to follow). Then, one finger of your left hand presses a button for the correct chords. The musical result is astonishing! You are playing correctly and satisfyingly with your first attempt! Come in . . . play it . . . of course no obligation!

Come in—bring your family — have real fun playing!

Many people today are enjoying music of their own creation who a few short months ago just could not believe they possessed the ability to play. You'll love it! No tedious scales or exercises, no regular practice—just a lot of wholesome pleasure and interesting diversion.

U.S. AUTHORITIES UNABLE TO FIND ANY WORTMAN BANK ACCOUNTS

Grand Jury Inquiry Continues — Protest Made Over Reported Free Work by Bricklayers on Island.

Federal authorities directing a full-scale grand jury investigation of the sources of income and tax records of Frank (Buster) Wortman, East Side gang boss, so far have found no bank accounts in the gang leader's name, although his earnings from various enterprises are described as large, the Post-Dispatch was told today.

A scheduled four-day grand jury session, the third in the Government's inquiry into Wortman's varied financial operations, continued today at East St. Louis under the direction of Edward G. Maag, Assistant United States Attorney. Seventeen witnesses are under subpena this week, six of them having been heard yesterday.

Bricklayer Union Protests.

A report that St. Louis bricklayers are donating their services on weekends in constructing a large building on the mysterious man-made island near Collinsville in which Wortman is interested aroused a protest from a representative of the East St. Louis Bricklayers' Union today.

Elmo E. Beever, business agent of Local 30, said Sam Magin, a close associate of Wortman, told him that a "few St. Louis bricklayers" were working at the island on Saturdays and Sundays. Magin has insisted that the establishment is to be a boys' club.

Beever, who said he hesitated to enter the moated area because of "No Trespassing" signs, told the Post-Dispatch he would take up the "free work" with his members at a meeting next month.

Union bricklayers performing unauthorized work are subject to stiff fines, Beever said, and he added that no permission had been given for work on the island.

Havey Denies Knowledge.

Leo F. Havey, business agent of Bricklayers Local No. 1, St. Louis, declared he had no knowledge of St. Louis men working on the Collinsville project. "That is in the East Side jurisdiction; we have nothing to do with it, and know nothing about it," Havey said.

Ten witnesses are scheduled to be heard by the grand jury today. They were described by Maag as business associates of Wortman.

The gang leader has told Federal authorities he retains control over night clubs and other enterprises by keeping the owners of record in debt to him. Wortman is reported to regard this business method as preferable to having his name appear on legal documents involving ownership.

The Government is applying the "net worth" formula in its effort to determine whether Wortman has met his income tax obligations. Intelligence agents of the Internal Revenue Service, assembling evidence for the grand jury, appeared yesterday with 20 large cardboard boxes of business records. Some boxes were labeled "Paddock," "Terrace Lounge" and "Club Prevue."

'Gentleman's Agreement.'

Authorities have learned from Wortman that the operator of the Paddock, a tavern at 429 St. Louis avenue, East St. Louis, is indebted to him for $50,000 under "a gentleman's agreement."

He also has an interest in the Terrace Lounge, at 127 Collinsville avenue, and in Club Prevue, on Collinsville road.

An Internal Revenue Service agent who inquired at the Paddock on July 1 about Wortman's tax payments, was slugged and denounced as "a meddler."

Snowden Bought Insurance Firm and Lent Self $400,000, Deal May Have Been His Downfall

High Loan Payments Forced Him to Sell and Buyer Began to Investigate.

Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

INVESTORS were throwing millions into Homer W. Snowden's far-flung search for oil in 1951, but the Dallas (Tex.) promoter was having trouble getting his hands on enough money to maintain his expensive operations. So he bought the controlling interest in the Constitution Life Insurance Co., of Los Angeles, and lent himself $400,000.

It looked like a good deal at the time, as it temporarily replenished the Snowden bankroll, but it may have been the one promotion that broke the back of Homer's precarious financial empire. Strangely enough, the deal also set in motion a chain of circumstances which may result in a large group of Illinois backers recovering a substantial part of their money.

Two of Snowden's business associates, Ross Bohannon, an attorney, and W. Solon Snowden, his nephew, bought control of the insurance firm from Maytor McKinley, a Los Angeles undertaker, in July 1951. They gave McKinley their promissory note for $326,650 and paid the balance of the $775,000 purchase price by obtaining a $448,000 loan on their newly acquired stock.

The only cash in the deal came from Orrin Tucker, nationally known orchestra leader, whose money and name were being used by Snowden in his promotions during this period. Tucker advanced $25,000 earnest money which gave the Snowden group its option to buy. Later, Tucker became disillusioned with the Texas promoter and severed all connections with him.

Payments Too Steep.

Payments on the promissory note were steep and the insurance company apparently became too big a load for the Snowden organization to carry. Bohannon, who had been elected president of the company, began looking around for a buyer.

John MacArthur, Chicago financier and brother of the late Charles MacArthur, successful author and playwright, had made inquiries about purchasing Constitution Life in 1951. Bohannon approached MacArthur, who is president of Bankers Life & Casualty Co., and asked if he still was interested.

"I was interested," MacArthur told the Post-Dispatch, "and went to Los Angeles in March 1952 to meet Bohannon and Solon Snowden. I learned they had bought the company on the cuff and were selling because they were not able to meet their note."

MacArthur said his preliminary examination of assets of the insurance company, an old California firm, indicated everything was in good shape. He completed the purchase and his business organization took charge.

Mortgages on Oil Land.

"It didn't take us long to discover that company's affairs were not in as good shape as we first thought," he said. "Closer study showed Constitution Life was carrying on its books more than $400,000 in mortgages on land involved in Homer Snowden's oil speculations. The loans were based on phony appraisals."

Homer Snowden, his nephew and Bohannon later were indicted by a Los Angeles county grand jury for conspiracy to commit grand theft as a result of the evidence unearthed by MacArthur. The indictment, on which Homer was sentenced to one to 10 years in prison and Solon was fined $10,000, charged they "milked" the insurance company of $300,000. The charges against Bohannon were dismissed after the others pleaded guilty.

Snowden Activities Checked.

"We were in a quandary when we woke up to the true state of affairs of Constitution Life," MacArthur related. "We could have given up and acknowledged that we were stuck. But we stood to lose $1,000,000 if we did that.

"We decided to try some course of action that would get us well and my staff began looking further into Homer Snowden's activities."

MacArthur said he then learned that Snowden, who had extracted about $2,500,000 from Illinois investors alone, owned or maintained leases on tremendous acreages of undeveloped land near Brush and Alamosa, Colo.; at Refugio and Baytown, Tex., and in the Cayuma valley of California.

"We found Snowden had fooled his creditors into thinking his oil holdings were good," the Chicago financier said. "The results of his drilling operations did not justify this faith, however. The creditors were in a bad position also because they had nothing but canceled checks to show they had invested with him."

MacArthur at this point conceived a daring plan that just may get him completely off Fisherman Snowden's hook and obtain relief for the many creditors, who were beginning to breathe hotly down the Snowden neck.

Assets Surrendered.

He "talked turkey" to the harassed promoter. Snowden agreed to surrender his assets, MacArthur said, in exchange for relief from the creditors. MacArthur, in effect, became a volunteer receiver for the Snowden enterprises.

Employes of the MacArthur organization had difficulty unraveling Snowden's financial manipulations, they said, because the assets were jumbled as badly as pied type in a newspaper composing room. The promoter would receive a $10,000 check for one of his developments, the examiners said, and would indorse it over to some other project without ever banking it.

—United Press Telephoto.
JOHN MacARTHUR

The asset-tracers also said Snowden had used fresh money from investors to pay interest to others. He had played a game of robbing Peter to pay Paul, stopping leaks in his financial dike whenever a flood threatened.

"We hired a geologist," MacArthur continued, in his recital to the Post-Dispatch. "He advised us it was impractical to carry as many leases as Snowden had maintained because drilling operations could not possibly pay the overhead.

"Snowden had leases on about a half million acres. He was paying the landowners $1 an acre each year. We reduced the acreage drastically and concentrated on the Brush and Refugio fields."

Unusually good luck has smiled on MacArthur's efforts to bail out of the Constitution Life Insurance deal, an endeavor in which his organization has invested about $4,500,000, according to his estimates.

"We spent more than $25,000 for a geological survey of the Brush field, which is about 80 miles northeast of Denver," MacArthur said. "Our geologist came to the conclusion an oil pool could be tapped south of where Snowden had drilled some dry holes.

"Our drillers certainly proved him right. We hit oil in the first 17 wells we sank and 24 wells are now in operation."

The machinery for the 1956 bail out is a new company called Col-Tex Oil Inc., which was established by MacArthur in his organizational headquarters in Chicago. Ben J. Simons, an attorney, was named secretary-treasurer.

MacArthur agreed to turn over 25 per cent of the first 16 commercially producing wells in the Brush field to Col-Tex. Dividends already have been paid to creditors holding claims totaling $2,000,000 and it is hoped they will get their money back in time. They have recovered about 12 per cent so far.

The most hopeful estimates of the pay-out given to the Post-Dispatch were 12 to 15 years with the investors, of course, losing interest they could have collected on their money had they deposited it in a bank.

A Government attorney, who participated in the extensive investigation made of Snowden's Illinois operations, told the Post-Dispatch, geologists have expressed doubt the pool under the Brush field is large enough to produce enough oil for a complete pay-out.

The wells are pumping regularly now, however, and Col-Tex's comptroller issued his twenty-seventh report on receipts and disbursements last Aug. 7. The report announced disbursements totaling $99,368 to creditors.

Investors, discussing the Snowden affair in retrospect, say damage to personal confidences and friendships of long standing has been the most injurious by-product of the Illinois blitz. The loss of money was rated as a secondary hurt.

The man who was hurt most because of his association with Snowden was band leader Tucker, who sang the blues to a Post-Dispatch reporter at Los Angeles today about his financial affair with the promoter.

He said he met Snowden in 1951 and became an investor and associate in the Snowden enterprises for about four or five months before he "woke up" to what was going on.

Invests $62,000.

By that time, he said, he had put $62,000 into Snowden's financial adventures and had helped induce his friends to put up $1,000,000 more. Fortunately, he went on, his friends have retrieved all their money. Tucker, who has his own television show in Los Angeles, has been repaid three-fourths of his own investments.

The entire experience has been acutely embarrassing to the band leader, whose name was widely used by Snowden in selling investors in St. Louis and in Illinois.

Subpena servers and bill collectors are apt to pop up at a night club or television studio where he is playing and saddle him with papers about deals that he claims he knows nothing about. If he raises his hand or a baton on a stage he is always fearful it will come down with a subpena wrapped around it.

"Not so long ago," he related sadly to Edward A. Harris of the Post-Dispatch, "I was suddenly served at a night club with notice to pay $25,000 for oil well equipment that Snowden had bought in my name. I had never even heard about the equipment."

Asked how he became so deeply enmeshed in Snowden's operations, the soft-spoken and chastened bandleader recalled he was introduced to the promoter five years ago by the operator of an exclusive supper club in San Francisco. Snowden offered to show Tucker some of his oil properties.

Titles in Tucker's Name.

That meeting led to Tucker's first investment, and before long he had given Snowden consent to use his name for various promotions and investments.

"He put title to things in my name and told me this amounted to a guarantee to my friends that they'd get their money back," said Tucker. "That sounded good to me and my friends. We didn't see how anything could go wrong.

"Snowden would explain that he couldn't sign anything because the titles to things were in my name and that I'd have to do all the signing. He got us into things so fast that it took awhile before someone came along to tell me of his past."

"After I found out about the nature of Snowden's operations," continued Tucker, "Snowden tried to say that I had been a partner of his. I never dreamed of being his partner. But he did burden me with a lot of liabilities by making that claim.

"I even signed letters to friends virtually guaranteeing that they couldn't miss the boat if they invested with Homer. Until the bubble burst we all thought he was the greatest thing that ever happened. Now I know that I was used by him as a kind of foil. To put it plainly, I was duped.

Asked if he had used his night club associations to push Snowden's investments, he replied: "Well, it was more like this: Various items got into the papers about how well I was doing in oil, because I did get some checks back, you know. So when that happened my friends would say, 'Gee, I see you're doing real good in oil', and then they'd say, 'How about letting me in on some of it?'

"That's the way it really happened. And at first, to make it look good, Snowden threw so many things my way that everything looked rosy."

Calls Snowden Hypnotic.

Trying to explain how he could have become so intricately involved with Snowden in a field so alien to his own, Tucker said Snowden is a hypnotic personality, a "brilliantly persuasive" talker.

"Why," he declared buoyantly, almost proudly for the moment, "he could walk in right here, in this room, and in 15 minutes he'd have me convinced that he was absolutely the most persecuted man in the world and I'd be right back in his hip pocket."

Snowden, 51 years old, recently hired new counsel in Los Angeles and sought to vacate the court's judgment on the ground that he had been induced to plead guilty with the promise of probation and a light fine.

An indictment charging Snowden and Allan Borton, who was the driller in the Baytown field, with conspiring to defraud the Illinois investors, is pending in United States District Court at Danville, Ill.

KAUFMANN CITES EXPANSION IN INDUSTRY HERE

Asserts St. Louis Has Gained More Firms Than It Has Lost Since 1947.

More than $250,000,000 has been invested in industrial expansion in the St. Louis area in the last 18 months, Aloys P. Kaufmann, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Metropolitan St. Louis, indicated today.

Addressing the St. Louis Advertising Club at Hotel Statler, he made public a survey showing that 41 new plants have been erected, are under construction or will be built shortly, while $190,000,000 has been spent on enlargement of existing facilities.

"I should like to set to rest any rumors you may have heard that we are going to the dogs because of the transfer of ownership of firms or factories," he declared.

"The past decade, as you know, has been a period of industrial consolidation. While certainly we are vitally concerned every time we lose a local plant or facility, the fact is that there has been a net gain in the transfer of ownerships into St. Louis over the number of St. Louis firms to other cities."

As evidence of steady industrial growth, Kaufmann pointed out that the Federal Census of Manufacturers listed 3152 plants in the St. Louis metropolitan area in 1954, a gain of 192 over the 1947 total.

"I believe these facts prove beyond question that the economy of our area is as sound as it has ever been," he said, "and prospects for an even greater degree of growth in the years to come are as bright as at any time in our community's history."

St. Louis has the "climate"—a combination of many factors—to attract business and industry, Mayor Raymond R. Tucker declared at the meeting.

"Such a climate," he said, "consists of employment opportunities; adequate housing for all income groups, a government which efficiently and economically meets the needs of all the people, and one in which public, parochial and private schools satisfy the educational needs of all groups."

It also embraces cultural opportunities, a spirit of tolerance and a citizenry manifesting pride and confidence in the community, he stated.

SONNY FOX BEING REPLACED AS M.C. OF TV QUIZ SHOW

Sonny Fox, who was the original "Finder" for a children's series of telecasts on Educational Television Station KETC, Channel 9, has been replaced as master of ceremonies on the "64,000 Challenge," it was announced today in New York.

Ralph Story, a radio disc jockey of KNX, Los Angeles, has been signed to replace Fox on the CBS television quiz show, starting next Sunday. No reason was given by CBS officials for dropping Fox.

Last June when Bill Pearson, a jockey, and Vincent Price, motion picture actor, were competing for $64,000, Fox inadvertently blurted out part of the answer to an art question. Fox said: "There are two more, Michael . . . oh." Pearson then gave Michaelangelo as the right answer. He later said he did not hear Fox's slip.

Fox will continue with a CBS Sunday noon show called "Let's Take a Trip."

ELECTRICIAN KILLED WHEN HE TOUCHES HIGH-POWER LINE

William Frye, an electrician for the Illinois Power Co., was killed today when he came in contact with more than 30,000 volts of electricity when working on the firm's Wood River plant between Alton and East Alton.

He was extensively burned and fell 40 feet from the top of a sub-station. Efforts to revive him at St. Joseph's Hospital, Alton, were unsuccessful. John Whittman, one of two other workmen on the project, suffered minor flash burns not requiring hospitalization.

Power to Wood River and Bethalto, served by the substation, was cut off for about 10 minutes, an electric company spokesman said.

POLICE DEPARTMENT GOING TO ONE NUMBER TOMORROW

The St. Louis Police Department change from a two-number telephone system to a single number system will begin tomorrow at 7 a.m.

From that time on, all calls to the department should be made by dialing CEntral 1-1212. The old CEntral 1-6236 number, used for administrative calls, will be discontinued.

The new single-switchboard system will be manned by police officers who have detailed and complete knowledge of department operations.

ADMITS FATAL STABBING, CALLS IT A FRIENDLY SWIPE

Joe N. Garrett, a laborer who lives in the 2300 block of Biddle street, has admitted the fatal stabbing of Benjamin Roberts, a Negro, 3129A Lawton boulevard, police said yesterday. Roberts was killed Saturday night in his home.

Garrett, also a Negro, said he took "a friendly swipe" at Roberts with a pocket knife after the other man threatened him with a knife.

WRIT AGAINST CITY ON TRUCKER ARRESTS

Temporary Order Bars Seizing of Drivers Using Riverview Boulevard.

A temporary injunction prohibiting the city from causing the arrest of truck drivers using Riverview boulevard near Halls Ferry circle in north St. Louis was issued today by Circuit Judge John K. Regan.

The petition for the injunction was filed by Lee Transportation Co., Illinois Motor Express Inc., and Be-Mac Transport Co. Defendants listed in the suit were Mayor Raymond R. Tucker, Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell, City Counselor James V. Frank and members of the Board of Police Commissioners.

In August 1954, an ordinance was passed by the Board of Aldermen prohibiting trucks in excess of 35 feet in length and in excess of two and a half tons in weight from using Riverview boulevard, which is Alternate U.S. Highway 67, the only route trucks are authorized to use by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Missouri Public Service Commission.

Judge Regan in his ruling said the city ordinance conflicts with state law and is discriminatory. No date was set for hearing arguments on making the injunction permanent.

On Sept. 29, 1955, there were 521 cases resulting from truck driver arrests in Riverview boulevard in Police Judge Morris Rosenthal's court. Fines and costs amounting to $14,588 were assessed. Most of the cases were appealed to the Court of Criminal Correction. Under the city ordinance fines of $1 to $500 could have been assessed for each violation.

ILLINOIS EX-PRINCIPAL NOW ADMITS EMBEZZLING $10,000

Mrs. Cecille Hudspeth, 5026 Northland avenue, who previously admitted embezzling $1940 in funds from the Lovejoy School District at Brooklyn, Ill., now says the amount she took is from $10,000 to $12,000, State's Attorney Richard T. Carter of St. Clair county announced today.

Carter said the admissions of larger embezzlements were made when he and his chief assistant, Eugene Chaplin, interviewed Mrs. Hudspeth yesterday. A Negro, she was principal of the district's high school.

The county grand jury, which has been investigating conditions in the school district at Brooklyn, a Negro community north of East St. Louis, probably will make its report later this week and return at least one indictment, Carter said.

NASSER AGREES TO HEAR WEST PLAN FOR SUEZ

of the Marconi Radio-Telegraph Co. of Egypt.

A British spokesman in Cairo flatly denied the embassy there was in any way involved with the alleged spy ring.

One of three Western correspondents expelled from Egypt Sunday, William Stevenson of the Toronto Star, published the dispatch his paper said had caused his ouster. In it he reported that German Nazis are "everywhere and everything in Egypt today."

The correspondent said Egyptian officials "hit the ceiling" after his story was cabled.

Once On Hitler's Staff.

(A Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch report from London said Johann von Leers, once on Hitler's staff, is believed now to be working in Cairo as propagandist for Nasser.

(Von Leers, a Jew-baiter and Nazi propagandist, was said to have fled Germany before the end of the war and worked for a time in Argentina for ex-President Juan Domingo Peron. Now British government officials were quoted as saying they have reason to believe Von Leers is now one of Nasser's advisers.

(Discovery by news writers of Von Leers's presence in Cairo was said to have been the reason for their expulsion from the country.)

Russia, meanwhile, kept up its propaganda campaign against the Western position in the canal dispute. The Moscow radio charged Britain, France and the United States with "crude attempts to upset navigation in the Suez canal."

An article in Izvestia, the Soviet government newspaper, described the statement by the Suez Canal Co. that it could not guarantee the safety of its employes in Egypt as "another attempt to foil normal shipping through the canal."

"It intimates that non-Egyptian employes and technical personnel still staying in the canal zone ought to return home," the newspaper said.

British, French Pilots.

Most Suez pilots are British and French. The British Foreign Office urged them to remain on the job, at least until the results of the canal conference became clear. A considerable number have refused to return from vacation; however, and others reportedly will leave their posts if the canal remains entirely under Egyptian control.

Egypt is hunting for replacement pilots. Russia has promised to help find recruits.

Saudi Arabia lent Egypt $10,000,000 yesterday to bolster its hard currency. Egyptian sterling deposits in Britain and France were frozen in the Suez crisis. The loan was agreed on at a meeting in Cairo between Nasser and Saudi Arabia's foreign under secretary, Sheikh Youssif Yassin.

(Indonesian Foreign Minister Ruslan Abdulgani landed in Karachi, Pakistan, today from Cairo talks with Nasser, the United Press said he told reporters the Egyptian leader was in a "conciliatory frame of mind" and that he was optimistic for success of the Nasser-committee talks.)

DULLES BELIEVES SUEZ DISPUTE CAN BE SOLVED

trol of the canal and have been since the British gave up their great Suez base. This was a two-year operation that ended last June. Just what operational guarantees would be satisfactory is not a matter for the United States to say, Dulles asserted, because the United States is not dependent on Suez as other nations are.

The Secretary said, in reply to a question, that he believed Nasser has the influence and authority to accept a fair plan guaranteeing continued world access to the 103-mile waterway between the Mediterranean and the Red Sea.

Dulles was asked for his personal opinion as to the value of collective or individual guarantees for access to the waterway. He replied that the question would not be answered in the abstract because of the many factors to be considered.

There are questions, he said, as to who shall hire and fire the canal pilots, who is to determine the complex traffic pattern of the canal and who is to be responsible for keeping the canal dredged and in repair.

Slogans No Help.

The problem becomes soluble, he said, when it is considered in terms of its detailed ingredients rather than in terms of great issues and slogans, such as Asia versus Europe. Within the framework of the latter terms it is insoluble, in Dulles's opinion.

It is demonstrable, Dulles said in reply to another question, that Nasser would have seized the canal regardless of whether the United States and Britain withdrew their offer of aid in constructing the proposed $1,300,000,000 Aswan dam. The withdrawal influenced only the timing of the seizure, Dulles said. Nasser, he added, had been planning the action for two years.

Dulles said there is no doubt that there is unrest among the canal pilots, who are nationals of several countries, and the fact that Egypt has suggested Britain and France, principal owners of the canal company stock, are stirring up trouble among the pilots illustrates one aspect of the problem.

There ought not to be a situation in which the pilots find it necessary to get "diplomatic sickness," Dulles said. What the United States wants, he continued, is a situation in which the operating policies of the canal are divorced from and insulated from the political policies of any government. If the British and French have had influence in the past, the situation cannot be corrected by transferring the influence to Egypt, he said.

Shuns Grandiose Terms.

Asked whether he had changed his attitude because he had not, at the press conference, used the term "internationalization," Dulles replied he was trying to avoid the use of grandiose terms, that the canal was internationalized by an 1888 treaty and that there was no question about it. He preferred, he said, to think in terms of what to do.

Dulles was asked whether former President Truman made an offer at Potsdam to internationalize the Panama canal. He replied that so far as the records disclose there was no such offer made. Dulles said the records had been very thoroughly examined, in fact, he said, he had examined them himself.

In his memoirs Truman said that at the 1945 Stalin-Churchill-Truman Potsdam conference:

"I announced that I was presenting a paper proposing free access to all the seas of the world by Russia and by all other countries. I was offering as a solution of the straits problem the suggestion that the Kiel canal in Germany, the Rhine-Danube waterway from the North Sea to the Black Sea, the Black straits, the Suez canal and the Panama canal be made free waterways for the passage of freight and passengers of all countries, except for the fees for their necessary operation and maintenance."

gathered up the "Joe Smith" story as their own.

When Stevenson and Kefauver left Chicago yesterday they were saying there are "millions" of Joe Smiths in this land and they are out to get them to register and vote Democratic.

Neither Stevenson nor Kefauver indulged in a "give-'em-hell" technique when they made public speeches in the sun-drenched public square here yesterday afternoon immediately after their arrival.

Stevenson was so quiet, as a matter of fact, that a native son asked out loud, of this reporter, when it was over: "Why didn't he go after the Republicans more than he did?"

Simple Explanation.

A Stevenson aid explained that the bread-and-butter stage of the campaign has not yet arrived. These are organizational meetings, to see where the strength is and where the real power will have to be applied.

This one turned into a pep meeting, much the same as might be found on a university campus the night before the big game.

At the press conference after the closed conference Stevenson was asked what the role of former President Harry S. Truman would be. That, Stevenson said, has "not been ascertained," although, as he said, Truman pledged at Chicago that he would do all that was asked of him.

"Will he have an active role?" Stevenson was asked.

"I just don't know," he replied.

This regional meeting was given additional importance by the presence of Speaker Sam Rayburn of the House of Representatives and long-time Congressman from Texas, and his protege, Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, who celebrated his forty-eighth birthday only yesterday—a fact which was noted on the platform in the plaza.

Around the square as Stevenson and Kefauver spoke on their arrival, there was a full run of color. Indians were there from around and about with their wares to sell—pottery and sandals and their own kind of silver jewelry that appeals to tourists. They come in and sleep on the spots where they intend to sell for days ahead of the fiesta.

Suggestions Welcome.

Stevenson emphasized the "Joe Smith" angle at the plaza meeting by saying that the campaign itself would be "open," with a welcome to suggestions from any and all.

Both Stevenson and Kefauver opened their remarks in Spanish. Santa Fe is more than half Spanish-American — that is Spanish speaking — and this gambit was most popular with the crowd.

By the Associated Press.

The conference brought together 90 representatives of New Mexico, Colorado, Arkansas, Wyoming, Texas, Oklahoma and Arizona.

Most of these states, with 57 electoral votes, are normally Democratic, but in 1952 President Eisenhower carried all of them except Arkansas.

Stevenson told the conferees that the Democrats have "a man-sized job" on their hands to win in the November election and that party workers were going to have to roll up their sleeves and labor in the precincts.

He said that while he does not intend to attack President Eisenhower personally, he is going to make an issue of the way in which the President has conducted his office and what he called the present "failure of leadership."

In answer to a question, he said that in the closed meeting of party leaders, the statement was made that President Eisenhower "should not be spared" in the campaign.

Stevenson said that "for the life of me" he couldn't remember who made the statement.

Rayburn jumped up and said "I made it."

"This is the Eisenhower Administration," Rayburn said, adding that the Administration has to be viewed as a whole "and Mr. Eisenhower is the head of it."

Donnelly Declines Invitation to Democratic Parley.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 28 (UP)—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly said today he has turned down an invitation from presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson to confer with Democratic leaders in Chicago Friday.

The Governor, who is not seeking office this year, said he received a telegram and letter from Stevenson inviting him to the conference.

VOTE BOARD HEAD TO URGE CHECK IN EIGHTEENTH WARD

er it will be able to give any more time to the reported voting irregularities depends on how many routine matters it can dispose of before its term expires at the end of this month.

Records studied by the jury, including absentee "sick" ballots and the applications for the ballots, were turned over by the Board of Election Commissioners under a subpena duces tecum.

Dr. Doris P. Reimann, an intern at Barnes Hospital, certified 85 of the 101 applications in the ward which contains a number of boarding homes for the aged and infirm.

Meanwhile, Building Commissioner Baum reported that two unlicensed boarding houses at 4301 and 4305 West Pine boulevard, where 64 elderly persons had been housed, have been completely evacuated in accordance with yesterday's deadline set by Baum.

Condemned as Unsafe.

Baum condemned the two houses as unsafe for occupancy because fire hazards, discovered last October, had not been eliminated. Mrs. Juanita Cook, operator of the two homes, sent her tenants to the Alcazar Hotel, 3127 Locust boulevard, which she has leased.

Failure of Mrs. Cook to comply with orders to correct conditions found at the two homes was discovered by the Post-Dispatch in an investigation of 36 absentee ballots cast by residents of the homes in the Aug. 7 primary.

SUKARNO FLIES INTO MOSCOW FOR RUSSIAN VISIT

MOSCOW, Aug. 28 (AP) — President Sukarno of Indonesia flew into Moscow today with an escort of MIG jet fighters and hailed the Soviet people as campaigners for freedom and justice.

Soviet President Klementi Voroshilov greeted him at Central airport as he arrived for a two-week state visit. Voroshilov complimented the Indonesian people on their "struggle against colonialism and the vestiges of colonialism in Asia."

Surkarno rplied, "We know the people of the Soviet Union always fought for freedom and still are fighting for justice throughout the world."

Members of the Soviet Presidium were at the flag-decorated airport to welcome Surkarno in a ceremony lasting nearly an hour. About 20,000 security troops and militiamen lined the six-mile houte to his specially prepared Kremlin suite.

Sukarno will go from the Soviet Union to Communist China. He visited the United States and Western Europe this summer.

TRUCKER WON'T LET POLICE WEIGH LOAD, ARRESTED

A man who said he was William G. Ogden of Hartford, Conn., was booked on six charges today when he refused to let the state highway patrol weigh his tractor-trailer loaded with frozen fish.

After Ogden was removed from his truck on St. Charles road near the Missouri river bridge, the patrol to[illegible] tor-trailer to the nearby weighing station, where it was found to be carrying 30,600 pounds of frozen fish.

Ogden was charged in warrants issued by Magistrate Raymond I. Harris with having an overload on a tractor axle, overload on a trailer and an excess of gross weight. He also was charged with having no Public Service Commission permit, no valid operator's license and failure to obey the instructions of the highway patrolman.

Ogden, 25 years old, told State Patrolman Paul Updegraff that he was fined $350 in Indiana yesterday for having too heavy a load. He was taking the fish from Boston to Kansas City. Arrangements were being made to send the fish forward while Ogden was in jail, unable to make bond.

SUCCESSFUL VENTURE, BUT---

YOKOSUKA, Japan, Aug. 28 (AP)—Tsugio Yue's recently organized marine salvage company had a high rate of initial success but made one mistake.

In two months time it removed $55,000 worth of United States Navy cable from the bottom of Tokyo bay—without getting Navy consent. Yue and six associates were jailed today on charges of grand larceny.

MRS. R. ELLIOTT SCEARCE IS GRANTED A DIVORCE

Mrs. Selma A. Scearce, 4475 West Pine boulevard, obtained a divorce yesterday from R. Elliott Scearce, city director of personnel, in the court of Circuit Judge Theodore McMillian.

In her petition, Mrs. Scearce said she and Scearce were married Feb. 17, 1939, and separated last July 15. She alleged general indignities. They have no children.

Little Tricks of Everyday Talk Can Open the Door to Popularity

A publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique of everyday conversation which can pay you real dividends in both social and business advancement and works like magic to give you added poise, self confidence and greater popularity. The details of this method are described in a fascinating booklet, "Adventures in Conversation," sent free on request.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by what they say and how they say it. Whether in business, at social functions, or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances, there are ways in which you can make a good impression every time you talk.

To acquaint more readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in everyday conversation, the publishers have printed full details of their interesting self-training method in a 24-page booklet which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. The address is: Conversation Studies, Dept. 808C, 835 Diversey Parkway, Chicago 14, Ill. A postcard will do.

ILLINOIS AIRMAN SURVIVES CRASH IN STUNTING PLANE

ORLANDO, Fla., Aug. 28 (UP)—Two airmen were in serious condition yesterday from injuries received when their afternoon of stunt flying turned into near-tragedy Sunday.

The Air Force said Airman 2C Charles Jones, 19 years old, of Arcola, Ill., and Airman 2C Wilburn G. Mitchell, 18, of Gainesville, Tex., remained on the "seriously ill" list.

The two enlistees had been executing low-level acrobatics in a plane belonging to a private club. The plane whirled down and crashed with a "bomblike" effect into a lake.

The plane barely missed two fishermen in a boat riding in the channel adjoining the small lake. The fishermen dragged the servicemen from the water and rushed them to an ambulance called by an eyewitness on shore.

The two-seater plane sank in 30 feet of water a minute after it hit.

NURSE IN DEATHS OF BABIES TO GET MENTAL TESTS

Parents of Three Infants She Admits Shaking Attend Coroner's Inquest.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 28 (AP)—Stunned parents of three infants, whom a weeping 220-pound pediatric nurse has admitted shaking to death, filed into county courthouse today for a coroner's inquest.

And while they were preparing statements, counsel for the nurse, Virginia B. Jaspers, 33 years old, said: "We defintely intend to have this girl examined by a psychiatrist. In all probability," Attorney Edward L. Reybolds added, "there will be more than one psychiatrist.

Surprise to Parents.

It wasn't until yesterday, when police said Miss Jaspers had admitted fatally injuring one child and that she probably was responsible for the deaths of two others, that the parents of the victims learned their babies died of other than natural causes.

Shortly after the police announcement, Corrigan made public the names of all three victims and added that she had inflicted a head injury on an 8-week-old baby, and broken the leg of a 3-month-old girl. Police disclosed that the "suspicious death" of the 11-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen H. Kapsinow of New Haven had triggered a four-day investigation.

Corrigan identified the other victims as Bruce Malkan, three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Malkan, now of New Canaan, and formerly of New Haven, and Cynthia Hubbard, 11-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hubbard of Guilford, and formerly of New Haven.

'Children Get On My Nerves.'

Miss Jaspers, whom state health department authorities stressed was not a registered or licensed practical nurse, repeated today that "it was all uncontrollable, I didn't know why I did it. Children sometime get on my nerves. I ought to be put in the electric chair."

After spending the night in the women's cell block at Station 2, the nurse was brought to city court where her case was continued until Sept. 15. She is being held under $50,000 bond on a technical charge of idleness.

Police reported that the deaths dated back to 1948.

Nixon's Father Has Good Night.

WHITTIER, Calif., Aug. 28 (AP)—Frank A. Nixon, father of the Vice President, had "a very good night" and his condition remains about the same, his doctor said today. The elder Nixon has been in serious condition from bleeding of the main abdominal artery.

TYDINGS'S PLACE ON BALLOT GOES TO RUNNER-UP

© New York Times News Service

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28—Maryland Democrats last night picked George P. Mahoney as their senatorial candidate to replace former Senator Millard E. Tydings.

Tydings, who had beaten Mahoney for the nomination in the spring primary, withdrew as the candidate a week ago because of illness. Mahoney claimed the nomination was rightfully his as runner-up.

Mahoney, 56-year-old Baltimore paving contractor, folled a one-day boom for the wife of the former Senator. Supporters of Mrs. Tydings waged a floor fight for her nomination last night.

Mahoney received 97 of the 152 votes of the Democratic State Central Committee as against 55 for Mrs. Tydings, daughter of Joseph Davies, former United States ambassador to Russia.

Mrs. Tydings announced her candidacy Sunday night at a Democratic women's meeting in Ocean City, Md. Mahoney was on the platform with her.

By the Associated Press.

Early today, Mahoney said he would revive the bitter 1950 campaign between Tydings and Republican Senator John Marshall Butler as an issue. "I'm going to take out after Butler throughout this state and make sure the people know about the fraud perpetrated on Tydings six years ago," he said.

Tydings, who served 24 straight years in the Senate, was ousted by Butler in a bitter campaign for which Butler's side was reprimanded by a Senate elections subcommittee.

Singled out for criticism was a fake photograph—a composite — purporting to show Tydings in amiable conversation with Earl Browder, Communist party chief.

Gen. V. I. Khokhlov Dies.

MOSCOW, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Army paper Red Star reported the death of retired Col. Gen. of Artillery V. I. Khokhlov. No age was given. After World War II he commanded the training of artillery personnel.

BATES RECEIVES ELECTION BADGES; ALREADY SURPLUS

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 28—State Treasurer Hubert Bates of Lexington received a sample consignment of bright election campaign badges yesterday from a Boston supply house, but he has no use for them.

The blue and white ribbons bore the legend 'Re-elect Bates as State Treasurer." But the state constitution prohibits the state treasurer from seeking re-election. Bates's term ends next January.

Bates has been in state service since 1933. He was chief clerk of the state auditor's department, then supervisor of collection of the state sales tax. Later he became state collector of revenue, then director of the Department of Revenue. He was elected State Treasurer in 1952, for a four-year term.

ANOTHER VERSION OF GEORGE POLK KILLING

Pepatriate Says 2 Greek Reds in Russia Admitted Shooting.

ATHENS, Aug. 28 (AP)—Two Greek ex-Communists have come back from the Soviet Union with the story that two compatriots there told them they killed United States newsman George Polk.

Polk, a correspondent for the Columbia Broadcasting System, was found shot through the head in Salonika bay May 16, 1948. He had disappeared eight days before in trying to reach Markos Vafiades, Greek Communist guerrilla leader, for an interview.

The two ex-Communists, sailors John Tsiros and Constantine Dimitriou, were repatriated from the Soviet Union last month after seven years there. They held a press conference Friday for Greek newspaper men only. Their story now is in print in Greek newspapers.

They said two Greek Communists bearing the party aliases of Doulevetas and Masavetas told them they killed Polk in Salonika "at instruction of the Greek Communist party so that the Greek government would be implicated internationally." They did not give the men's real names. The two, they said, were among 15,000 Greek rebels now living in Tashkent, capital of Soviet Uzbekistan.

Gregory Staktopoulos, leftist Greek journalist, is serving a life term as a convicted accessory in Polk's murder. He was sentenced March 31, 1949. Two Communist guerrillas, Evangelos Vasvanas and Adam Mouzenides, were convicted in absentia of murder and sentenced to death. Their whereabouts are not known.

COLORADO VOIDS KEY PROVISION OF FAIR TRADE LAW

DENVER, Aug. 28 (AP)—Colorado's Supreme Court yesterday knocked out a key provision of the state's fair trade act, enacted in 1937.

The court, in an opinion by Justice Francis Knauss, held unconstitutional the "non-signer clause" of the law, which required all persons to charge a certain price for an article, even though they had not signed an agreement with the manufacturer allowing him to fix the price.

The decision requires a dealer who has signed an agreement to charge the fixed price while allowing the non-signer to sell at a lower figure.

"The General Assembly itself has no power to fix the prices of merchandise sold on the open market," Justice Knauss held. "It follows that it cannot lawfully delegate such authority to another. . . ."

Communist Party Convention.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Communist party yesterday set the weekend of Feb. 9-12, 1957, for its first national convention since 1950. The convention will be held in New York.

RUSSIA BARS OWNERSHIP OF CATTLE IN CITY AREAS

MOSCOW, Aug. 28 (AP)—A law intended to end private ownership of farm animals in city areas of the Soviet Union went into effect yesterday.

Ownership of cattle and other farm animals in city areas increased the last two years, but there was a lack of feed stores open to the general public. Private owners had been feeding their animals bread, cereals, potatoes and other foods intended for human consumption.

State and collective farmers will be exempt from the law. The government promised to buy cattle from private owners at up to 50 per cent more than current state prices.

SEWER DISTRICT TO SEEK WRIT TO REFUND $82,500

Money Obtained as Guarantee for Moline Creek Facilities Would Be Returned.

The Metropolitan Sewer District decided yesterday to seek a court order to permit it to return $82,500 to persons living in recently constructed homes in the Maline creek section of north St. Louis county.

The money had been obtained during the past two years by the payment of $200 per home by subdivision contractors as a guarantee that funds would be available to insure the construction of proper sewage facilities in case a major bond issue for sewers in the region would fail.

Voters in the Maline Creek sub-district approved a $1,700,000 bond issue authorizing construction of a six-mile trunk sewer last Feb. 7. This will make it unnecessary for the district to draw upon the money it now holds in escrow.

At the suggesion of J. Edward Gragg, member of the district board, the board agreed to instruct its attorney to seek a class declaratory judgment authorizing it to return the money to 414 home-owners in the Hathaway Manor, Hathaway Meadows and Sun Valley region.

Notice of Intent.

The board authorized this because it has been put on notice by Milton Construction Co. that it plans court action to recover that part of the escrow fund consisting of its contributions—$77,000.

William Q. Kehr, executive director of the board, explained the escrow payments came from subdividers. The escrow agreement clearly provides that any refunds should be made to the purchasers of the homes, Kehr declared. He expressed doubt that the real estate company could prevent return of the money to home-owners unless it can get the escrow agreement voided.

Kehr estimated more than $177,000 originally in the escrow fund had already been returned to home-owners in the Maline Creek area after waiver agreements were obtained from subdivision developers to release any claims upon the money.

The sewer district also agreed on a policy limiting the use of septic tanks in new homes in St. Louis county. It will not approve septic tanks for subdivisions planned after Sept. 1. Approval will be given for septic tanks in homes in subdivisions purchased before Sept. 1, if no existing sewers or sewage treatment facilities are available, Kehr declared.

Individual Approval.

Septic tanks will be approved for individual homes if they are to be located in an area where there are no available sewer connections, where the soil is suitable and where there are already homes with septic tanks.

When septic tanks are approved for subdivisions the board will require developers to guarantee that purchasers of homes have full knowledge that septic tanks have been installed, Kehr said.

The board voted to sign an option agreement with Russell & Co. to purchase a private sewer system serving about 2500 homes in the Crestwood-Webster Groves area. Price of the system is $374,700, part of which can be offset by connection fees the private firm agrees to put into a special fund during the life of the option.

Creation of a special benefit Edna street sub-district serving from 150 to 200 homes in North St. Louis and Bellefontaine Neighbors was authorized. The district was created to finance the construction of a linking trunk sewer.

Approval was given to a preliminary engineering survey in the Gardenville area. Kehr said the survey is the first step in creating a sub-district to build sewers to serve more than 500 homes. Approval of another survey for the same purpose in the vicinity of Weber road and Valcour avenue, Affton, was voted. This proposed special benefit sub-district would serve about 45 homes, Kehr estimated.

Six Months for Purse-Snatching.

Charles W. Jones, who gave an address in the 3200 block of Pine street when arrested Aug. 22 for purse snatching, was sentenced to six months in the city workhouse yesterday by Judge Louis Comerford of the Court of Criminal Correction when he pleaded guilty to two charges of stealing sums of less than $50. Jones is a 17-year-old Negro.

BOY, 3, HURT BY WRINGER

The boy's father, Ray Niemeier, a brewery worker, heard Charles scream and went downstairs to investigate. The machine apparently turned on by the boy, had stopped because a fuse was blown.

HOTEL CHASE SUES UNION, BALKY NIGHTCLUB ARTISTS

A suit to enjoin the American Guild of Variety Artists and two nightclub performers from refusing to provide entertainment at Hotel Chase was filed in circuit court yesterday by the hotel. Shows in the hotel's Starlight Roof and Zodiac Room were canceled last Friday because of a contract dispute between the hotel and the entertainers' union, which seeks a contribution from the hotel for the union's welfare fund.

Named as defendants in the suit were Enzo Stuarti, a singer; George Hopkins, a comedian, and Murray Becker, local manager of the union. Stuarti and Hopkins "arbitrarily" refused to fulfill their contracts with the hotel upon the orders of Becker, who has threatened to induce all variety performers to refuse to work at the hotel, the petition charged.

Circuit Judge William E. Buder set a hearing for Thursday on whether a temporary injunction should be issued. The suit also sought $250,000 in damages. Union musicians are not affected by the work stoppage. page.

Democratic 'Fact Book' Puts Emphasis on Eisenhower Health

100,000 Copies of 110-Page Volume Printed, Being Sent to Party Campaigners Around Country.

© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 — The Democratic National Committee's 1956 campaign "Fact Book," now being mailed to party leaders around the country, puts major emphasis on the question of President Eisenhower's health.

The book says "there's no doubt" that the President's health "is going to be an issue in the 1956 campaign." It argues that Mr. Eisenhower raised the issue himself by saying last Jan. 19 that his health would never be wholly restored and that he would have to "avoid excessive fatigue" in the future.

Among other things the campaign document says that:

1. Medical authorities believe there is a 35 to 60 per cent chance of recurrence in ileitis, the President's abdominal ailment.

2. A standard insurance manual " Risk Appraisal," calls ileitis "serious, always serious" and advises "positively no" as to disability insurance for ileitis sufferers.

3. Army medical regulations disqualify for a commission anyone who has suffered a coronary attack like Mr. Eisenhower's. (The campaign book adds that "the President, as commander-in-chief, obviously carries much greater burdens and responsibilities than does the ordinary commissioned officer.")

Press Run of 100,000.

The "Fact Book" is 110 pages long and the size of a digest magazine, with a slick paper cover. The Democratic committee regards it as the basic source of material for national and local campaigning this year. The press run was 100,000 and copies will go to all state and county Democratic leaders, candidates and campaign committees.

The first two chapters in the book pose these questions in the headings: "Can a Part-Time President Handle Full-Time Problems?" and "Will President's Ailments Curtail Vital Activities?"

"Eisenhower was a part-time President even before his illness," the chapter says. It quotes from the magazine U.S. News and World Report that the President has average 81 days of vacation a year. And it charges that "the tough problems are kept" from Mr. Eisenhower by his associates.

The "Fact Book" begins its discussion of Mr. Eisenhower's physical conditin with what is in effect a disclaimer of unfriendly intent. It quotes columnist Walter Lippman to the effect that such discussion "is a horrid duty" but "a duty imposed upon public men . . . by the President's decision to seek another term despite his age and his serious illnesses."

Democratic Dilemma.

The campaign document illustrates the dilemma of the many Democrats who think the medical facts make the President's health a perfectly fair political issue—and their best hope for victory this year—but who have no idea how to use it without causing a backfire of sympathy for Mr. Eisenhower.

There are no suggestions in the "Fact Book" of adroit ways to bring up the President's health in a speech without having the issue boomerang. It is left to the campaigners to decide how to use the material, if at all.

After dealing with the President, the "Fact Book" turns to what is in fact an integral part of the health issue—the Democratic views of Vice President Nixon.

138 TURKISH FLOOD DEATHS

ISTANBUL, Aug. 28 (AP)—Additional reports today boosted to 138 the death toll in flood-stricken sections of north and southeastern Turkey. Dispatches from Adiyaman, north of the Syrian border, said 14 more bodies had been recovered there.

The total included 40 men reported missing and now presumed drowned after seeking refuge under a bridge. The Istanbul observatory recorded a severe earthquake early today but there was no information on whether it had hit the flood-ravaged area.

VOTE CANVASSED IN TEXAS'S TIGHT GUBERNATORIAL RACE

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 28 (AP) — Texas county Democratic chairmen today canvassed the vote from Saturday's tight gubernatorial run-off primary with supporters of both United States Senator Price Daniel and Ralph Yarborough looking over their shoulders in key counties.

Complete, unofficial figures to the Texas Election Bureau last night gave Daniel 698,125 votes and Yarborough 694,578—a lead of 3547 for Daniel. Daniel's percentage was 50.12.

Robert Johnson, head of the bureau, said no further report would be made until Saturday unless corrections in county figures should change the lead. He said that was extremely unlikely.

Workers of both candidates called supporters in key counties and asked them to be present to watch the canvass of the vote.

BUDGET BUREAU ORDERS MORE PAYROLL CUTS

Directs Check on Filling Vacancies — Senator Plans Study of New Wage Increase.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (UP) —The Budget Bureau yesterday ordered a new campaign to trim the Federal payroll, directing all Government agencies to check carefully before filling vacancies resulting from retirements.

Budget Director Percival F. Brundage made the request in a brief statement sent to Government departments.

Meanwhile Senator Olin D. Johnston (Dem.), said he is creating a special study group to explore the need for another pay boost for Federal employes in 1957. He is chairman of the Senate Civil Service committee which handles such legislation.

Predicts Pay Boost.

There are nearly 2,300,000 civilians on the Federal payroll and Johnston predicted the Eighty-fifth Congress, which convenes in January, will grant them a pay rise. He added:

"And it will not be vetoed by the President, because we will then have a Democratic President in the White House."

Johnston set forth his views in a statement which he also planned to read today at the annual meeting here of the American Federation of Government Employes.

Johnston said it is clear that living costs have made an "upward spiral" in the two years since Congress voted salary increases averaging about 7.5 per cent for Civil Service Federal workers and 6 to 8.1 per cent for postal workers.

In his appeal for economy, Brundage said "full co-operation" will help cut Government costs if the need for new employes to replace retiring veterans is reviewed carefully.

Earlier Proposal.

His request paralleled a similar suggestion made Aug. 19 by Representative Davis (Dem.), Georgia, that Government agencies cut their payrolls as employes retire under the newly liberalized pension system.

Davis, chairman of the House subcommittee on manpower utilization, estimated that 50,000 employes will retire by Jan. 1 under the new pension arrangements signed into law this year.

An example of the effect of the new law would be the retirement of an employe at age 60 from a position paying $4000 and after 30 years of service. He would now receive $2250 in annual retirement benefits compared with $1950 under the old formula.

In his statement calling for higher federal wages, Johnston said he also hoped the next Congress would "establish a fair and non-political loyalty program which will protect the nation against subversion and the employe against un-American treatment."

Lists Other Improvements.

Other bills he wants the next Congress to pass, Johnston added, would include a formal declaration of the right of Federal employe organizations to "participate in the formulation of personnel policies and practices;" more job security and a new health insurance program for Federal job holders with employes and Government to share the cost.

James A. Campbell, president of the Federation of Government Employes, told the group's opening session yesterday that another Federal pay raise is a "must" legislative goal for the Eighty-fifth Congress.

He also called on the next Congress for health insurance and other fringe benefits.

RAILWAY UNION DEMANDS SIX-HOUR BASIC WORK DAY

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Aug. 28 (AP)—Less than two months after announcing it would ask for a 25 per cent wage increase, the Order of Railway Conductors and Brokemen yesterday demanded a six-hour basic day for freight and passenger conductors and brakemen on the nation's railroads.

President R. O. Hughes of the union said in a statement issued at his headquarters here that the six-hour work-day demand is a counter to management bid to change long-established working rules.

Hughes said members of the union now can be worked 48 or 56 hours in a calendar week, depending on whether their assignment is for six or seven days. Under the proposed change, he said, the maximum permissable straight time hours would be reduced to 36 or 42 a week.

FIRST AIR PASSENGER DIES

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Jay A. Seitz, who claimed he was the first person to fly in an airplane as a passenger, died Sunday in a hospital here. He was 83 years old.

Flashes of Life

Starting Young.

LYNNFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Steve Grady gave his girl some jewelry — and that is where trouble began.

The mother checked her jewel box and found two rings, two bracelets and a necklace, which she valued at $75, were missing. She told her husband, Police Sgt. Norman Grady, and he initiated a search.

Steve admitted he gave his girl friend the jewelry. Mary said she buried most of it, but can't remember where.

Calling Them Close.

AURORA, Colo. (AP) — Because she missed by two hours being born on Nov. 30, 1951, Dinah Lee Bass must wait until next fall to attend kindergarten—and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Bass, are protesting.

Public schools admit children to classes only if they are 5 years old on or before Nov. 30.

This Is a Change?

DETROIT (AP) — Testifying her first name embarrassed her because people confuse it with a man's Mrs. Eddie Jifferson petitioned Probate Judge James H. Sexton to have it changed to Billie.

AEC APPROVES ATOMIC PLANT IN ANCHORAGE

Authorizes Negotiations on Power Reactor — $18,325,000 in U.S. Aid Sought.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP) —The Atomic Energy Commission announced yesterday its approval of negotiation of a contract for a heavy water-liquid sodium nuclear power reactor at Anchorage, Alaska.

Proposals for the 10,000 kilowatt reactor, an atomic furnace, were made by the Chugach Electric Association of Anchorage and the Nuclear Development Corp. of America, White Plains, N.Y.

The AEC said the plan to combine "heavy water as a moderator and liquid sodium as a coolant would constitute a technical advance in reactor technology of sufficient importance to merit a research and developmentp rogram at this time."

It also considered favorably the idea that the plan is to be located in a very high-cost power area where nuclear power "could become economically competitive sooner than in lower-cost areas."

The project has been divided into three phases. For the first, initial design and development, the AEC has been asked to contribute a maximum of $2,225,000.

At the end of each phase, the AEC and the two firms will determine whether results warrant continuation of the project.

Total assistance sought from the AEC would be a minimum of $18,325,000, covering actual construction and eventual research and development, including $5,500,000 for the reactor, itself, to which the AEC would retain title.

The proposed Anchorage reactor is one of seven projects proposed in response to the AEC's second appeal to American industry to use its resources in the development of nuclear power. Two proposals have been approved for contract negotiations and four others still are under AEC consideration.

LIMIT PLANNED IN U.S. EMPLOYE SECURITY ORDER

Program Would Apply Only to Sensitive Jobs, Bar Association Is Told.

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 28 (AP) —An official of the Justice Department disclosed at the American Bar Association convention yesterday that a new executive order was being prepared which is designed to limit the Government's security program to sensitive positions.

Assistant Attorney General George Cochran Doub, chief of the civil division of the Justice Department, said it would supersede executive order No. 10450, issued in April 1953.

The old order has been criticized because it includes all Government employes.

Doub was an unscheduled speaker before the criminal law section of the convention.

Doub said the order would contain standards by which Government agency heads could define "sensitive" jobs. He declined to say whether a recent Supreme Court ruling prompted revision of the security program.

On June 11, in a case brought by Kenneth M. Cole, a former inspector in the New York district of the Food and Drug Administration, the court ruled 6 to 3 that the federal employe security program does not apply to persons holding non-sensitive and non-policymaking jobs.

Curb on Newsmen Criticized.

Another speaker, Charls P. Curtis of Boston, Mass., criticized the State Department for refusing to issue visas to 15 American newsmen invited to visit Red China.

Curtis, an attorney, is chairman of the Board of Fellows at Harvard University. He said the refusal of visas to the newsmen was an example of the present security program's shortcomings.

"I can't see where any principles are involved," he said. "If it were because they are holding some Americans prisoner, I can think of no better way to harass the Chinese government than to have 15 American correspondents poking around and asking questions."

Dudley B. Bonsal, chairman of a committee of the New York Bar Association, outlined recommendations made by his group which has completed a study of the federal loyalty-security program.

He said his group recommended that the security program be limited to non-sensitive posts and that the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations be abolished unless it can be brought up to date.

He outlined a five-point program of procedure which he said the committee recommended for security cases. The list provided for a thorough preliminary investigation, a hearing at which the right of subpena should be granted to both sides, and a right of appeal.

Bonsal said that his committee recognized in its report that some witnesses should not be made to appear in security hearings because of the secret nature of the testimony involved. He said his report defined a sensitive position as one in which the occupant "had access to information classified as top secret or secret."

"Threat" to Code of Justice.

At another meeting, Judge Elbert P. Tuttle of the Fifth United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta, Ga., said the growing tendency to identify a lawyer with his client, especially in cases involving security, was "a serious threat" to the American code of justice.

Judge Tuttle said the violent outbursts of attorneys in the Rosenberg atom spy case and the "contemptous actions" of some attorneys in the Smith trial of 11 top Communists in 1949 had caused many laymen to come to the "unwarranted conclusion" that lawyers representing such defendants were either themselves Communists or fellow travelers.

Dr. Dwight H. Murray, Napa, Calif., president of the American Medical association, said that physicians who take pay for court testimony should have their licenses revoked. He delivered a paper before the bar association today.

"Medical licensure should be withdrawn by the state from the physician who sells his testimony to the highest bidder and shades his testimony to the xetent that he is paid," Dr. Murray said. "And by the same token it follows that lawyers who engage in and encourage such practices should likewise be disenfranchised."

Ceylon-Russian Negotiations.

MOSCOW, Aug. 28 (AP)—A Ceylon delegation headed by Sir Claude Corea arrived here last night to set up diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

30 DAYS FOR U.S. AIRMAN FREED FROM DEATH TERM

RUISLIP, England, Aug. 28 (AP) — An American airman—freed from a death sentence by a British court—today was sentenced to 30 days by a United States Air Force court-martial.

The airman, James C. Jordan of Newark, N.J., also was fined $50. As an outgrowth of the case, he was charged with violating an Air Force regulation prohibiting airmen from carrying knives with blades more than two inches long. Jordan pleaded guilty.

Jordan was tried by a British court for the death of an Englishman stabbed during a cafe brawl. He pleaded not guilty but was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. On appeal, Dr. Keith Simpson, the British government's chief pathologist, told the court the stab wound was "trivial" and bronchial pneumonia caused the Englishman's death.

BOY INJURES HEAD IN FALL OF 15 FEET FROM WINDOW

Michael Lauck Jr., 2-year-old son of Patrolman Lauck of the Newstead Avenue Police District, suffered a head injury yesterday when he fell 15 feet from a window in his home, 4304 Wabash avenue.

The boy tumbled from a second-story bedroom when a screen gave way as he leaned against it. Lauck, who is on the night watch this month, was asleep in another room. Michael Jr. was taken to City Hospital.

Of course it costs a little more, but your holiday guests will appreciate the compliment

How can Old Taylor 86 cost considerably less than our 100 proof bonded bourbon—and only slightly more than most other 86 proof straights?

The reasons are simple.

Old Taylor 86 is exactly the same in quality as our 100 proof bonded bourbon. It costs you less, only because of lower taxes.

Yet even in this milder, gentler proof, Old Taylor quality is unchanged—rich, mellow, and deeply satisfying.

SLOWEST SESSION OF YEAR; STOCKS LOWER

Pending Long Labor-Day Holiday and Suez Conference Stymie Trading.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—The stock market declined for the second day in a row today in one of the slowest sessions of the year. Losses among pivotal issues generally ranged from fractions to a point, although a few high-priced stocks dropped between 3 and 4. Gains were in small fractions in most cases.

Prices held steady for the first half of the session, and then gradually drifted downward in the afternoon.

Motors and oils were mixed, but most other divisions were lower. Steels and rails extended their losses in the final hour.

Out of 1108 issues traded, 295 decline, 536 advanced and 277 were unchanged. There were 10 new highs for the year and 40 new lows.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped $1.20 to $183.30, with industrials off $1.60, rails off $1.60 and utilities off 10 cents.

Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was 2.65 points lower at 503.05 at the close. The 20 rails lost 1.12 points at 159.78 and the 15 utilities dropped .04 of a point to 68.63.

Trading amounted to 1,400,000 shares, lowest total for 1956. The previous low in trading was yesterday's 1,420,000 shares, which equalled the total on Feb. 13.

Brokers pointed out that it's normal for the market go into the doldrums in the sessions preceding the three-day Labor day weekend.

Egypt agreed today to meet the five-nation Suez canal committee, and this news sent prices up on the London stock exchange. The development made little impression in New York trading, however, as Royal Dutch and Texas Co. rose major fractions and Gulf Oil held about steady.

Du Pont and Santa Fe were off around 2 and United Aircraft declined about 3. United announced plans to offer common stockholders the right to subscribe to additional new convertible preference stock.

Down fractions were Youngstown Sheet, Zenith, Union Carbide, New York Central and Johns Manville.

U.S. Steel and Chrysler, as well as a substantial number of others, held about steady.

ST. LOUIS RESERVE BANK JOINS RATE INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (UP)—Four more Federal Reserve banks raised their interest rates today in line with the Government's anti-inflation policy.

Federal Reserve banks at Boston, Atlanta, St. Louis and Dallas pushed their interest rates to the 3 per cent level adopted by five other banks last week.

Two already were charging the higher rate. The bank at Kansas City is now the only one in the Federal Reserve System still holding the old 2¾ per cent level.

The 3 per cent rate is the highest since the "bank holiday" of 1933.

GAINS AT LONDON

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP)—News of Egyptian President Nasser's agreement to meet the five-nation Suez canal committee sent prices up today on the London Stock Exchange.

The tone of the market was firm until word of Nasser's acceptance reached the floor and then widespread, but cautious gains were marked up.

LONDON STOCK INDEX

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Financial Times daily index of London stocks today was 186.4, up 1.6.

Day's Review Of Business And Finance

GROSS REVENUE OF THE Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines for July 1956 was reported as $6,072,000, compared with $6,618,000 for like month of 1955. Net income, after adjustment bond interest payment, was $16,000, as against $336,000 for July 1955. Gross revenue for the seven months ended July 31 was $43,288,000, compared with $42,347,000 for like period of 1955. The seven-month net income was $1,054,000, as against $1,963,000 for the seven months of last year. A less-than-seasonal wheat movement that reached its peak in June, a worsening of the devastating Southwest drouth, and the nation-wide steel strike combined to adversely affect the July income of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines, Donald V. Fraser, president, pointed out. "Aside from the steel strike which contributed to a slump in business for the Katy as well as other lines, the lighter wheat crop matured earlier than normal in our territory and the peak of the movement came in June instead of July," Fraser said.

DIRECTORS OF PENN-Texas Corp. declared a 2½ per cent stock dividend which at current market prices is equivalent to 34 cents in cash. The dividend is payable Sept. 30 to stockholders of record Sept. 7. The company paid a similar stock dividend in June. In quarters prior to that it paid cash dividends of 35 cents per share.

LOCKHEED AIRCRAFT Corp. reported first half 1956 net earnings of $7,534,000, equal to $2.66 a share, compared with $9,089,000 or $3.21 a share for the first six months of 1955. President Robert A. Gross reported expenditure of $8,746,000 for research and development held the 1956 earnings down. Sales for the first half of 1956 totaled $335,774,000, compared with $372,751,000 in the period of 1955. Lockheed said its backlog increased 31 per cent in the past year to a peacetime high of $1,390,648,000.

A. S. ALOE CO. DECLARED the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents a common share, payable Sept. 1 to record Aug. 29.

BUSINESS WAS SLOW IN the cotton textile market Tuesday. However, mills held the line on prices. Scattered sales of print cloths, broadcloths and sheetings were reported by some houses at about unchanged prices, with deliveries mostly spot and nearby.

CARRIER CORP. REPORTED earnings for nine months ended July 31 amounted to $6,090,000, or $3.39 a share, compared with $6,955,000, or $3.97 a share, a year ago. Sales for the nine-month period totaled $141,809,000, compared with $138,715,000 for like period in 1955. Board Chairman Cloud Wampler said Carrier had achieved an important goal in replacing with civilian business some $36,500,000 in Government shipments last year. In sales this year, he said, Government business was not an important factor, while a year ago the nine-month figure included $32,000,000 of shipments to a single Government agency.

NET EARNINGS OF KAISER Aluminum & Chemical were a record $43,293,295, including $2,655,152 in non-recurring income, in the fiscal year ended May 31. This represented a 52 per cent increase over the previous year. Net sales increased 23 per cent to $330,712,209. (INS).

AMERICAN MOTORS CORP. announced the signing of bank credit and long-term loan agreements totaling $67,570,000 to meet anticipated financial needs for the next two years. The announcement said the new financing program includes extension and amendment of the company's present credit lines and rescheduling of a portion of the 1956 and 1957 maturities of AMC's $16,000,000 long-term indebtedness to Prudential Insurance Co. George Romney, AMC president, said the new credit arrangement was with "the same 27 banks that have handled American Motors' credit requirements in the past." The new agreement runs to Sept. 30, 1958.

JULY WHEAT STRONG SPOT IN GRAIN LIST

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)—Demand for grains perked up after an irregular start on the Board of Trade today, leaving most futures with gains at the close. Wheat and rye again acted better than other cereals. Small buying on the part of mills was reported. Investment demand centered in July wheat, up around 2 cents at one time.

September corn and September soybeans, very weak recently, managed to limit their decline today but could show no worthwhile recuperative power.

Treasury Bills Sell at Equivalent to 2.832 Per Cent Interest.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Government's cost rate on short-term borrowing edged upward again yesterday, slightly nearer the new Federal Reserve discount rate of 3 per cent. A 91-day issue of Treasury bills sold at a discount equivalent to 2.832 per cent interest. This was the highest since 1933, just as the rate of 2.818 last week marked the peak for 23 years. The Federal Reserve discount rate last week was 2¾ per cent at 10 of the 12 Federal Reserve banks. It already was 3 per cent at Minneapolis and San Francisco. Since then, nine of the other 10 banks have gone to 3 per cent. Only the Kansas City Reserve Bank still is at 2¾ per cent.

U.S. GOVERNMENT BONDS ARE QUIET, UNCHANGED TO UP

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—Bond prices improved slightly in late trading today, leaving the market mixed with a modest emphasis on the lower side.

Among issues that recovered from earlier declines were Canadian Pacific 4s which shifted at one time from a small loss to a gain of ¼c at 103½, other higher rails were Milwaukee 5s, Florida East Coast 5s and Pennsylvania 4¼s.

Convertibles also brought some improvement from the early decline.

Government bonds were very quiet. Over-the-counter dealers quoted the intermediate issues unchanged and the long-terms up 2-32 to 4-32.

Foreign dollar issues resisted the generally lower trend with higher prices for Australian, German and Norwegian issues.

New York City's interest costs have risen in borrowing on tax anticipation notes. The city paid a 2⅜ per cent rate for $50,000,000 borrowed on notes maturing Nov. 1. Earlier this month it sold a similar amount of short-term notes at a cost of 2¼ per cent.

United Aircraft Corp. announced plans to sell new convertible preference stock totaling not more than 330,915 shares at not less than $100 per share.

CORPORATE REPORTS

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—Only net income per share as stated by corporations is given in following table. In some instances comparisons with preceding year may show wide swings (gains or losses) which may be due to some extenuating or temporary influence. These facts should be sought in detailed reports.

BUILDING DECREASES IN UNIVERSITY CITY

Figures Indicate County Municipality Is 'Built Up,' Manager Reports.

Construction of residential and commercial property in University City decreased substantially last year as compared with the previous year, indicating that the St. Louis county municipality is "about built up," City Manager Elder Gunter stated in his first annual report filed last night with the City Council.

Gunter in previous years filed monthly and quarterly reports with the council. The annual report was for the fiscal year ended last June 30.

The total value of planned construction during the period, Gunter reported, was $6,741,428 as compared to a total of $8,124,124 during the previous 12-month period.

A total of 256 permits for construction of single family residences was issued during the fiscal year as compared to 411 during the previous year, the report showed. The decrease in the value of construction was 38 per cent.

The number of multiple-family structures for which construction permits were issued last year dropped from 42 to 24 and there was a 60 per cent decrease in construction of commercial property, the report showed.

The traffic problem continued to increase during the fiscal year, Gunter reported. There were 6244 traffic arrests as compared to 5888 during the previous year. Automobile accidents increased from 203 to 259. One out of every four traffic arrests was for a major violation. Fines in the traffic bureau and police court totaled $33,022 during the year.

Criminal activity was greater in general with a total of 319 crimes reported, an increase of 31 per cent over the previous year. Burglaries increased from 94 to 119. The number of juvenile incidents increased from 25 to 81, but the report stated this increase was due partly to the fact that a closer check on juvenile delinquency was made.

The report showed that a total of $287,247 was spent on street widening, paving and resurfacing during the year.

Russian Violinist Dies.

MOSCOW, Aug. 28 (AP)—The newspaper Soviet Culture reported today the death of Violinist A. J. Yampolsky at the age of 66. Yampolsky, a well-known performer, had been a professor at Moscow conservatory since 1922.

TYPHOID SUSPECTED IN DEATH FOLLOWING CAMP MEETING

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 28 (AP)—A Missouri public health official said today one Missourian who attended a church camp meeting at Monark Springs, Mo., July 20-29 is believed to have died of typhoid fever.

Dr. E. A. Belden, director of the state health division's bureau of communicable diseases, said a 20-year-old woman resident of Wright county died last week. Preliminary tests were "suggestive of typhoid but were not conclusive proof" of the cause of death, Dr. Belden said.

He said further laboratory tests, to be completed in the next few days, were expected to give a final determination. He did not identify the victim by name but he said it was known that she was among some 40 Missourians and possibly 400 from throughout the country who attended the camp meeting.

Yes—with the opening yesterday of our new Public Finance Corporation office in ADA, OKLAHOMA—American Investment's subsidiaries continue to meet the growing demand of American families for cash installment loans . . . loans now available through our 400 branches located in 30 states from coast to coast.

But new offices are only part of a well-balanced growth—growth which has witnessed more than 250 additional offices in the last ten years.

Growth is also reflected in additional volume of business and larger net earnings. New offices help to assure more business and net earnings in future years as they begin to contribute their full share to the earnings of the Company.

Highlights of operations for the six months ended June 30, 1956 are shown below. These results reflect some of the contribution already made by the 60 offices opened in the last year. More substantial influence on earnings will be made in future years.

BONN PAYMENTS ACCORD FOR U.S. ARMS CONCLUDED

© New York Times News Service

BONN, Aug. 28—The West German and United States Governments have concluded a payments agreement to cover substantial orders for heavy armaments that well be placed with American manufacturers.

Finance Ministry officials would not discuss the basic outlines of the agreement, but according to Handelsblatt, an authoritative economic publication, the negotiators worked on the basis of an advance payment of $190,000,000 and the balance on delivery.

Handelsblatt also reported that the West German Government was thinking in terms of $1,420,000,000 worth of armament orders. Finance Ministry officers would neither confirm nor deny this figure.

The orders will be above and beyond deliveries the United States will make to the new West German armed forces under an arms aid program.

Handelsblatt said the West German Government has also agreed to make an advance payment of $57,000,000 for armament orders to be placed in Britain.

Egyptian Planes for Syria.

CAIRO, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Egyptian Middle East News reported last night the Egyptian government has announced readiness to supply Syria with all the training planes Syria needs. The announcement followed reports that Britain is canceling shipments of training planes to Syria.

Jordan Chief of Staff Says War Between Egypt, Britain Would Unite Arabs and Russia

Head of Legion Asserts Treaty Ties With England Would Be Overridden by Blood Bond With Cairo—Declares 'We Have Had No Bad Experience With Reds.'

By SAM POPE BREWER

AMMAN.

JORDAN'S CHIEF OF STAFF said yesterday that war between Britain and Egypt would inevitably lead to an alliance of the Arab world with the Soviet Union. He said that any treaty bonds with Britain would be overridden by the blood bond with Egypt.

Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar was interviewed at the Arab Legion headquarters here. Speaking of a Soviet alliance, he said, "That's something we would hate but we would have to accept it. We would have no alternative. This situation is pushing the whole Arab world toward Communism.

"We don't know that it is more vital to defend ourselves against Russia than against the West. We are not threatened by Russia. We have only heard about Communism and that it is a dreadful thing. We have had no bad experience of it as we have of Western domination."

Arab World Test.

Nuwar continued: "This is a test of the whole Arab world, not just Egypt. If we don't stick together we cannot be strong. If we don't help our neighbor we too will stand alone one day."

The handsome young general, now 33, who replaced the almost legendary British Lt. Gen. Sir John Bagot Glubb in command of Jordan's Arab Legion, spoke calmly in English.

He said: "We feel that if Britain and France attacked Egypt it would be an open aggression and we (the Arabs) would all be united against them. We are not strong enough to fight them without an ally and it is obvious who it would be."

Asked do you really think Russia would back you, he replied: "Yes, I think they'd have to."

Nuwar said, "The British have counted on some friends among the Arabs but what can they do against the feeling of the Arab people?"

He expressed doubt that the British would actually resort to violence against Egypt, saying "I think the future of all British interests in this area will prevent them from taking any violent step." Violence, he asserted, would destroy British interests in the Middle East forever.

Full Occupation.

Of possible occupation of the canal zone, the general said that "occupying just the canal zone is no good. All Egypt would have to be occupied or it would be of no use. That would entail occupying all of Arabia as well or it would be no good.

"Can they spare 10 divisions for that? I am sure they would need more than 10 divisions. It took three divisions to maintain internal security in Palestine against the Jewish terrorists."

If the British occupied Arab territories, he said, "The next natural step would be for Russia to occupy Persia 'for security reasons,' and it would not be another Korea. Russia itself would be involved and it would mean a world war."

Of the British charge that President Gamal Abdel Nasser's word could not be trusted, Gen. Nuwar said "the British and French broke all agreements with the Arab world at the end of the first war when they occupied and partitioned the Arab countries. Could anything be more aggressive?

"They defeated and occupied their own allies but it was not looked on as aggression because they were great powers."

Referring to the dismissal of Glubb Pasha in March, Nuwar said "just taking the command of our own army back into our own hands was looked on as a revolution against the British. They don't want us to be free in our own countries."

'Fight for Freedom.'

"The Arabs," Nuwar said, "have reached a point at which they say 'Let us prove now our right to live as free people or go down fighting for it.'

"Rightly or wrongly we have become fanatics on this point of freedom."

Nuwar is without doubt the most important man after King Hussein in Jordan today. There are currents of personal opposition in the army but his statements only confirm sentiments expressed by every Jordanian from him down to the taxicab driver. The difference is that in his case they are expressed by the man who would lead Jordan's army in war.

Discussing Suez Situation

RUSSIA ORGANIZES ASIA, AFRICA UNIT

LONDON, Aug. 28 (UP)—Soviet Russia has set up a special organization to "promote solidarity with Asian and African countries," official sources reported today.

The declared purpose of the move is to strengthen the newly established links between Russia and the under-developed nations.

Immediate plans provide for an early economic conference of Asian and African representatives, the sources said.

Russian policy experts believed the timing and scope of the new setup suggested that Moscow is laying the groundwork for a systematic campaign to envelop Asians and Africans in a new cold-war type crusade against the West.

It was also believed to reflect Moscow's intentions to break into the Bandung front of Asian-African solidarity by creating a link with it.

The newly created set-up has been given the task of "promoting the well-being" of the underdeveloped nations in the two continents, in the political as well as economic and cultural spheres, the reports said.

The assurance of the independence and sovereignty of Egypt is among the specific aims of the new movement.

Representatives of the Asian republics of the Soviet Union are among the members of the organization, the report stated.

No details have so far been disclosed on the method of work of the organization, but the projected economic conference is to provide the first full-dress occasion for establishing closer contacts and ties between the Soviet Union and Asian and African countries.

Place and date of the conference have not yet been formally set, according to the reports.

Peiping Flushed With Success Over Chinese-Laotian Accord

Maneuvering of Southeast Asian Kingdom Into Neutralist Camp Raises New Problem for U.S.

By A. T. STEELE
The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

HONG KONG.

THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS are making it plain, from the publicity they are giving the Chinese-Laotian statement signed Saturday, that they feel they have scored an important diplomatic success. Peiping has good reason for its self-satisfaction.

The kingdom of Laos is now part and parcel of the neutralist camp, and the Southeast Asian defenses against Communism probably have been further weakened, raising a new problem for the United States.

Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma, who signed the joint statement for Laos, is now on his way home with his baggage bulging with Chinese gifts and his ears doubtless still ringing with the toasts of Chinese leaders and the shouts of organized crowds. Another well organized Communist reception awaits the prince in Hanoi, North Viet Nam, where newspapers have been playing up his trip to China as enthusiastically as the Chinese press.

Natural Follow-Up.

His visit to Hanoi is a natural follow-up of the settlement reached a fortnight ago between the royal Laotian government and the rebellious Pathet Lao, which controlled two northern provinces. Until that settlement there was bitter animosity between Laos and Hanoi because of Laotian statements that the Pathet Lao was advised and partly officered and equipped by the Viet Minh.

Hanoi has pressed for a normalization of relations between North Viet Nam and Laos for some time, but Prince Souvanna Phouma refused to consider it until all Viet Minh help to the Pathet Lao was withdrawn. Now, apparently, the two governments are ready to discuss the exchange of diplomatic representatives.

What gives the new situation a special irony is that the United States is paying for the support of the Laotian army, is financing the reorganization and expansion of the Loatian police force and contributing economic and technical aid. The total American outlay exceeds $50,000,000 a year.

Premier's Only Choice.

Since formal diplomatic relations were established with the United States, the Premier has been friendly and co-operative. He felt, however, that he had no choice but to regularize Laotian relations with its powerful northern neighbor.

While the effect of the talk and treatment he received in China is not known yet, it is assumed that American aid will continue to be welcomed. Indeed, without it the Laotian government, particularly the army and police, would be reduced to desperate straits. They would then become extremely vulnerable to the Pathet Lao and its Communist friends.

China has offered to send a delegation to Laos to investigate possibilities for economic assistance. With American experts already dug in, Chinese experts coming and the political situation getting more complicated, it appears lively times are in store for sleepy capital of Vientiane.

AMERICANS' SNACK HABIT FORCES U.N. ALTERATIONS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—The American snack habit has forced United Nations headquarters to make more accommodations for the tourists who visit its plush corridors the year around.

Five million people visited the building last year. During sessions, the only restaurant available to the public was the delegates' dining room. Tourists could eat there only during off-hours when the delegates were at meetings.

To accommodate them, walls of the headquarters concourse under the General Assembly building were hacked away and part of the delegates' underground garage was taken over for a snack bar. During the first two weeks of operation, 1000 persons a day used it.

Questions AEC's Optimism Over Fallout Hazard

Staff Scientist Takes Issue With Claim Danger Is Insignificant.

STORRS, Conn., Aug. 25 (AP). An Atomic Energy Commission staff scientist yesterday took issue with the majority of the commission itself regarding a statement he said took "an unjustifiably optimistic view" of the potential hazard from radioactive strontium in fallout from atomic tests.

Radioactive strontium is one of many radioactive products released in the detonation of A-bombs and H-bombs. Many atomic experts, including the AEC itself, have said that it is potentially the most hazardous of all fallout materials—provided enough of it accumulates in the body. This is because it has a tendency to be retained in the bone structure, and therefore might cause bone cancer if enough of it were present in the body.

Yesterday Dr. John Wolfe said he objected to a recent statement by all but one member of the five-man AEC commission that "it appears that at the present level of weapons testing, the present and potential contribution of strontium 90 to the world ecology is not a significant factor."

Wolfe himself is an ecologist—that is, a scientist devoted to studying the relationships between man, animals and plants and their environment, including the natural waters, the soil and air.

Addressing a special symposium on "radiation ecology" at the annual convention of the American Institute of Biological Sciences, convened at the University of Connecticut, Wolfe said the AEC's conclusion was based only upon records of "average" fallout of strontium throughout the world and he added:

"Perhaps the present hazard 'appears' insignificant, but the potential hazard in local areas can neither be calculated, estimated or guessed on the basis of average fallout records.

"Suppose radioactive fallout is uniform all over the planet. What we need to know, it seems to me, are the extremes in local areas, resulting from accumulation and redistribution on slopes, bottomland, and in the organic debris of ponds, lakes and streams."

DRUMMOND

Conventions Criticized for Glossing Over Cold War Problems — Danger of Apathy Cited.

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON.

IN THE WAKE of the heat and scuffle, the undue complacency and exaggerated criticism which came from the Republican and Democratic conventions, there is a question which needs to be raised:

Will the two presidential nominees do a better, more responsible, and more realistic job of alerting the nation to the hard problems which lie ahead in the cold war?

If they do so—and it would be in character for both President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson to do so—then this campaign can be a source of national strength. It would enable either of the two parties to come to office under circumstances which would permit the Government to cope with the problems which were mostly glossed over in an orgy of convention oratory.

For the most part, both of the conventions and both of the platforms either misstated or slurred over the real problems which new developments in the cold war make it clear we must face without much delay.

Democratic Innuendo.

What possible service can the Democrats expect they are rendering to the country or to themselves by suggesting in a sly, subtle innuendo that the Eisenhower Administration, in negotiating with the Soviets at the summit and in correspondence with Premier Bulganin, is "fraternizing with the Communists?"

Wouldn't it be in character for Stevenson to repudiate such tactics?

What possible service can the Republicans expect they are rendering to the country or to themselves by mouthing "now we are at peace, now we are at peace, now we are at peace" over and over again, when the need is to realize how precarious the peace really is and how much can be lost unless we face up to the new dangers which Soviet tactics impose upon the whole free world?

Wouldn't it be in character for President Eisenhower to lay aside the Republican platform's soothing preoccupation with past diplomatic "victories" and alert the nation to present perils?

It seems to me that some of the dangers are these:

The danger of lulling ourselves to sleep by talking about "peace, isn't it grand," when the need is for renewed and sustained alertness.

The danger of spending so much time congratulating ourselves on successfully countering Soviet military threats—which may or may not have passed—that we neglect to meet new Soviet political, diplomatic and economic threats.

The danger of creating a public opinion which will carry us too far in reducing our military manpower at a time when this action would further weaken NATO and add to the riskful temptation of the free world to let down its guard.

The danger of furthering an already evident public tendency to want to cut back the mutual security and foreign aid programs — to which mood both parties have been contributing—at the very time the Soviet political and economic offensive is gaining momentum.

The danger of allowing the campaign to immobilize America's leadership of the free world at a time when our initiative needs its greatest vigor, vision and vitality.

Bad Beginning.

If the Eisenhower Administration seeks re-election in the mood of a placid peace and a comfortable prosperity, it will, it seems to me, be doing the nation and itself a disservice.

If the Democrats seek to return to power in a mood of destructive criticism and without offering alternative courses of action, they will be denying Stevenson's most cherished trademark; his determination to "talk sense" to the American people.

Only President Eisenhower and Stevenson can adequately repair the bad beginning which has been made.

LEFT-WING Socialist leader Pietro Nenni confirmed yesterday that a merger between his party and Giuseppe Saragat's Democratic Socialists is in the making.

Such a move, which calls for acceptance by Nenni of the Atlantic Pact and of all it implies, would necessitate a break between the left-wing Socialists and the Communists. This would revolutionize the Italian political situation since the left-wing Socialists for the last 10 years have been faithful allies of the Communists to whom they are bound by a unity of action pact.

In an interview with the newspaper Stampa of Turin, Nenni admitted that relations with the Communists have been distinguished by "growing discomfort and coldness."

Nenni revealed that a merger between his party and the Democratic Socialists has taken a step forward, thanks to efforts of the British Labor party, of the French Socialist party and of the Socialist International. Merger talks between the two Italian Socialist parties were set in motion some weeks ago by Pierre Commin, French assistant secretary of the Socialist International, who journeyed to Rome for that purpose.

Merging of the two Italian Socialist parties, Nenni indicated, will take some time. He foresaw three phases: First, the immediate drawing together; second, a common platform in view of the next political elections, and third, merger.

Because the next political elections should under normal conditions not be held until spring or summer of 1958, Nenni apparently is allowing two years time for the first two phases. It is possible, however, that Parliament may be dissolved before completing its five-year term and that the break with the Communists may take place before the formal merger between the two Socialist parties.

DULLES MEETS WITH FANFANI

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Former Premier Amintore Fanfani of Italy conferred with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for 45 minutes yesterday. He said they discussed "the more significant aspects" of United States-Italian cooperation.

Fanfani, Secretary General of Italy's Christian Democratic party, said he met with Dulles "not as representing anyone in particular but as an Italian citizen and statesman."

U. N. Operating Expenses.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold yesterday estimated United Nations operating expenses in 1957 will be $48,250,700, about the same as in 1956. His annual budget report will be considered by the General Assembly when it convenes Nov. 12.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Down by the River Side

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

St. Louis must be the most unproud city in the world, I have decided after a four-week inspection of your fine city. It is disappointing to travel all the way from Britain to discover that St. Louisans have all the worst British traits, and more.

English people are infamous for their restraint and lack of enthusiasm over almost anything except cricket; they are so conservative that they find it difficult to accept anything new. But once they do accept a new idea, they are proud of it.

From a civic point of view, St. Louis has probably accomplished more in the past three years than most cities. It is planning one of the nation's most enterprising Jubilees in September.

Yet not one native of your city has mentioned any of these achievements to me.

I had to read the Saturday Evening Post reprint in your Mirror of Public Opinion to get the real story of progress and St. Louis. I had to consult newspapers and experts before I could find anyone who would divulge what exactly was going on down at the riverfront.

What is happening there is the biggest thing that has struck this city since 1904. To me it is exciting and something I very much want to see. To any other city in the world it would be a source of tremendous pride and a great deal of talk.

After some intensive research into the Mid-America Jubilee, scheduled to open in less than a week, I discovered that leading New York designers and theatrical experts have been working on the project for months. I found a little town of modern art rising from the banks of the Mississippi, representing some of the best ideas and workmanship the United States can produce.

Lt. Gov. Blair on Record

(TELEGRAM)

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Re: Your editorial of last Saturday, "What About Withholding"—it is my judgment that withholding tax for state income would be an easier method of payment and a better method of collection.

I certainly think that the Legislature, which will have to pass the laws, ought to give it the fullest consideration. And it would be my judgment that some withholding system ought to be worked out, because, as pointed out in your editorial, it is likely to produce additional money for state use since it will really reduce any evasion.

I agree with your editorial that the state income tax and all taxes should be fully and impartially enforced and that one of the best ways to tighten it up is to deduct it at the source.

Jefferson City.

Compensating Barbarity

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

During World War II, Congress and the President seized the assets of enemy corporations for two purposes: To prevent them from being used by the enemy; and to provide assets with which to repay those who suffered at the hands of that enemy.

At the moment when the war claims plan sought by Presidents Truman and Eisenhower was nearing completion, bills were introduced to send war claims assets to Germany and make recovery for World War II victims unlikely.

This is not a case of whether innocent Germans are to suffer for their country's actions in the last world war. There are two innocent groups: some of the German corporations involved, and all of the Americans who suffered losses.

There are strong reasons why the American victims should be favored. First, the German government has agreed to reimburse Germans for seized assets—Americans have no such agreement to rely on. Second, by far the largest single amount taken from the American claims assets will otherwise go to I. G. Farben. This would be bitter irony, for 13 of Farben's leaders were convicted of war crimes ranging from inhuman abuse of slave labor to barbarous seizure of property for the I. G. Farben empire.

It seems unthinkable that Congress could seriously consider discriminating against Americans who are without redress for their injuries in favor of non-American corporations who have been guaranteed redress by their own government.

DANIEL WILKES.

If Dulles Had Not Acted . . .

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

If Secretary of States Dulles had been wise, he would not have denied funds to Egypt to get the Aswan dam.

Our Government instead should have offered to provide the funds, which are for a project that is humanly and economically useful and has been approved by the International Bank—provided Egypt agreed to put the offensive arms which she got from the Communist bloc in mothballs, conclude a definite peace with Israel, and open the Suez canal to all ships, as she is supposed to do.

If Egypt refused these reasonable conditions, which would have reduced the danger of war, the burden of turning down the grant of funds would have been on her, and the present dangerous situation would not have arisen.

ALFRED BAKER LEWIS.

A Bare Showcase

Remember Guatemala? Two years ago this summer a rebel government was installed with United States aid and guidance to "stop Communism." This country thereupon accepted an unusual responsibility for the progress of democracy in Guatemala. How has the experiment worked so far?

Few independent observers appear to believe that the experiment has worked very well up to now. But it is hard to prepare a balance sheet because of the vast difficulties faced by the anti-Communist government of President Carlos Castillo Armas.

Col. Armas had to try to rescue his country not only from Communism but also from bankruptcy and illiteracy. To this end the United States has given Guatemala aid totaling some $50,000,000.

It can be said that Col. Armas threw out the known Communists. He reorganized the Government. He replaced the enforced land reforms of the previous Arbenz regime with a modest program which has so far resettled more than 10,000 Guatemalans. He rebuilt the Government, held an election, pushed new roads and—again with American assistance—raised the country's monetary reserves to a record high.

Yet there is another side to each advance. The elections—and the government—were founded on an election law which gave the secret ballot only to literate Guatemalans, and compelled the illiterates—perhaps 60 per cent of the population—to vote in public.

The Castillo Armas government itself has been turning more and more toward the right, in reaction to a brand of Communism that was supposed to have been extinguished.

Moderate critics of the government have been exiled as well as Reds. Despite the land reforms, peasants have been dispossessed by large landowners. Labor unions, promised a new freedom after Communism was crushed, still await reforms. Only 44 unions have been reorganized of 533 which existed in 1953.

In June the government announced that it had learned of a Communist plot. This produced an official "state of alarm" and suspension of the rights of free assembly and speech. When defiant students marched through Guatemala City, police turned sub-machine guns on them.

The result was a new official "state of siege," with revocation of many civil rights. The military is now largely in control. To a degree Guatemala has followed the path of wobbly Latin American dictatorships, with a policy of periodic harshness and liberality.

What is needed is a drastic reorganization of Guatemalan administration, turning it away from the right now as it turned so sharply from the left two years ago. But meanwhile the United States cannot be happy about events in what was to have been a showcase of the advantages of ousting Communism.

Stopping Communism alone is obviously not enough. If it is not followed by measurable social progress, United States policy will have shirked a responsibility and the whole world will know it.

A Rather Slight Improvement

The Defense Department seems rather proud of its revised personnel security questionnaire, feeling that it will prevent future criticism of the armed services on the ground that they made decisions based on "guilt by association" or "guilt by kinship." Any improvement which will eliminate such injustices as the denial of a naval commission to Eugene W. Landy—because of association with his mother—is more than welcome as a step back to American standards of fair play and good sense.

But it is to be hoped that Secretary Brucker will take a second look at the revised questionnaire. It still carries the Attorney General's list of supposedly subversive organizations although no convincing case has been made against some of these. It does promise that age, extent and frequency of involvement will be considered before making membership the test for acceptance or retention in the armed forces. It asks the individual to tell all about such activities.

What's more, it adds: "If there is any doubt in your mind as to whether your name has been linked with one of the organizations named, or as to whether a particular association is 'worth mentioning,' make a full explanation under 'Remarks.'" How is a man expected to find out whether somebody called him a "Communist" after a tavern argument about the income tax or a debate with his drill-wielding dentist about "socialized medicine?"

The Pentagon might go over that questionnaire once more with a blue pencil. In the meantime it might explain why the services were not over-run with spies and subversives before somebody had these forms printed up. After all, millions of Americans marched off to the wars without ever seeing one.

State Police in Khaki

Use of National Guardsmen to help patrol the highways is not new in this country, but it will be new to Missouri on the Labor Day weekend. Gov. Donnelly has ordered several military police units to work with the State Patrol. Illinois tried this as an experiment during the New Year's holiday and traffic deaths were reduced, so Illinois Guardsmen will be on duty again next weekend. In Missouri, last year's Labor Day traffic caused 12 deaths and 168 injuries. So every driver on Missouri highways should welcome the appearance of the new police in khaki. They will ride the roads for everybody's safety.

Close One in Texas

Apparently it will take the official canvass to determine whether the winner of the Texas Democratic primary for Governor is Senator Price Daniel or Ralph Yarborough. The unofficial count shows Senator Daniel leading by less than half of one per cent of the vote, a margin that could easily be overturned in the canvass.

Win or lose, the real measure of Mr. Yarborough's remarkable race is that he ran 150,000 behind Senator Daniel in the first primary in July. Between the two elections he virtually wiped out that margin and evidently made many of his gains in counties earlier carried by the Senator.

No doubt many factors are involved, among them the decline of Gov. Shivers's power after he lost control of the party machinery to the Rayburn-Johnson forces earlier this year. Certainly it would be risky to assume that the strong showing of Mr. Yarborough, an outspoken and unequivocal supporter of Adlai E. Stevenson, foreshadows Texas support of the Democratic nominee this year.

But we would like to believe that his showing does indicate growing strength in Texas for the forces of moderation on the racial issue. As Gov. Shivers had appealed to the most rabid race-baiters in an effort to save his crumbling power, so Senator Daniel was the candidate of some of the least savory elements, especially in East Texas. In some communities White Citizens' Councils which were supporting the Senator did their utmost to mobilize the forces of race prejudice and hatred in his behalf. If the election returns represent a rebuke to these elements and a Texas vote for good sense and restraint on race questions, we say hooray.

41 Out of a Hundred

Taking everything by and large, this is a most prosperous country today. But anybody in danger of getting smug about it need only look at a study of incomes published by the U.S. Department of Commerce in June. That study, as reported by the Cleveland Trust Company Business Bulletin, shows how much opportunity still exists for broadening and deepening the nation's economic welfare.

Between 1947 and 1955, the study brought out, the average annual income of American families went up from $4130 to $5520—a rise of 34 per cent in eight years. Not all of this, furthermore, was absorbed by the rising cost of living. After allowing for that, the real purchasing power of the average family income, before taxes, rose 13 per cent in eight years.

A rising average income has meant, of course, that families have been moving up the income ladder. In 1947, one in every four received an income of less than $2000; now only 16 per cent are in that group. In 1947, 38 per cent received incomes between $2000 and $4000; now the percentage has gone down to 25 per cent.

On the other hand, the proportion of families in higher income brackets has gone up: in the $4000-$6000 range, from 21 to 27 per cent; at $6000-$10,000, from 12 to 24 per cent; and above $10,000, from 4 to 8 per cent.

While this record reveals a heartening growth in incomes, and helps to explain the continuance of near boom conditions today even though one major industry—automobiles—is operating at markedly reduced volume, the most significant aspect of the figures may be what they imply for the future. Even after the remarkable growth in incomes, 41 out of every 100 families are still receiving less than $4000 a year.

Four thousand dollars a year is $80 a week. Anybody who is raising a family on that income at today's prices, taxes and urban living expenses cannot have much left over for the extras which characterize a high standard of living. Prosperous as we are, the nation will be more so when more families of the 41 per cent now receiving less than $4000 a year move up to the next income group.

Recognition for the St. Louis Bar

The Bar Association of St. Louis, cited by the American Bar Association for a year of achievement, has earned the community's commendation as well. Two accomplishments in particular substantially profited the public interest.

First was the association's survey and pointed criticism of conditions in the magistrates' courts, thereby focusing attention on the need for administrative reform. And then followed the splendid work of the group's committee on criminal justice. Out of this came the rule in our criminal courts requiring that a prisoner be accorded a preliminary hearing within 10 days after a charge is filed against him in court. This ought to prevent defendants from being detained for weeks and even months—as they have been—in violation of constitutional provisions for a speedy trial.

Still another opportunity to serve the community has now come the association's way. It has agreed to study bail bond practices and procedures in the city courts. The request for this work came from Mayor Tucker who has said existing procedures are unsatisfactory. The fact that he turned to the bar group is evidence of his confidence in its devotion to improving justice.

Explosion in Siberia

Russia's latest nuclear weapons tests have led to another test of propaganda aimed at India and the "neutrals." The Soviet Union generally portrays similar American nuclear experiments as a threat to peace. To counteract this, President Eisenhower's disclosure of the Russian explosion contains a new appeal for "effective international control of atomic energy."

India and any other nation outside the Iron Curtain must surely agree with Mr. Eisenhower. For it is apparent that Russia will continue to try to develop nuclear war power as long as the United States does, and vice versa, and only mutual agreement on controlled disarmament is likely to stop the cycle.

Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, adds that the Russian tests offer more danger to the world than American experiments because Russia's action is secret. This is probably true. But the uncommitted nations can see that both East and West are doing much the same thing in the way of experiments, only racing to do them bigger and faster.

India's anxiety at the nuclear arms race has been expressed by her scientists in a new study discussed elsewhere on this page. The scientists freely grant that the world is not certain about the effects on mankind of continued nuclear explosions. But they "consider it extremely important—while we are still ignorant as to the true scale of hazard—that radiation exposure is kept down to the lowest possible value."

This of course tends to support Prime Minister Nehru's political view that both the United States and Russia should abandon further experiments. But the conclusion of the Indian scientists is not just an Indian conclusion and is not political; it has widespread scientific support.

The same objectivity, however, might well be adopted by India's governmental leaders. They have often commented on the danger of nuclear tests conducted by the United States. Now Russia has given Messrs. Nehru and Krishna Menon an excellent opportunity to discuss the dangers of nuclear explosions in Soviet Siberia. What will they say?

The Red, White and Blue Rose

A red, white and blue rose has been developed by a Memphian, Stephen Phelan, who is trying to get Congress to adopt it as the national flower. We celebrate this as a horticultural achievement, reserve decision on the aesthetics until we can take a peek, and mention a hope that the Phelan rose will not come under the ministrations of the build-up boys.

For if it did, we can just see—shudder! as it says in Li'l Abner—some bright perfervid lad conjuring up I'm An American Day, on which every man, woman and child in the land would be expected to wear a Phelan rose in testimony of the 100 per cent quantity and the red, white and blue quality of their Americanism, as distinguished from Norwegianism or Nicaraguanism. People who wore roses of other colors would be subject to deep suspicion. Those who wore no rose at all would be subject to deepest suspicion. Business would boom (in red, white and blue roses).

Let us spare ourselves all that, or, indeed, any of that. A good arrangement instead would be that anyone may wear any flower he likes any day he chooses, or skip the same altogether. That's freedom in the United States (or Nicaragua or Norway).

India's Alarm at the H-Bomb

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Just before news came of Russia's new test blast, Indian scientists reported on nuclear explosions; book says while world is ignorant of true scale of danger, radiation should be kept to minimum; thus supports Mr. Nehru's stand for ending bomb tests.

From the India News, Information Service of India, London

NEW DELHI.

The Government of India have published a book entitled "Nuclear Explosions and Their Effects." Following is the next of the Government communique issued in this connection:

About a year ago, Prime Minister Nehru requested the Defense Science Organization of the Government of India to make, with the material available, an objective study of the consequences of use of nuclear, thermonuclear and other weapons of mass destruction. The results of the study made by well-known Indian scientists have been presented in a book.

In a foreword, the Prime Minister expresses the hope that "this study, brief and incomplete as it is, will be of some use in directing people's minds to the dreadful prospect of war in the nuclear age and to the dangers of continuing nuclear test explosions."

The book is written for the layman as well as the scientist. The chief burden of preparing the study had fallen on Dr. D. S. Kothari, head of the Defense Science Organization in India. With him were associated Dr. Homi Bhabha who is in charge of Atomic Energy work and Dr. U. R. Khanolkar, head of the Cancer Research Institute.

Describing the devastating blast, heat and radiological effects of high-yield explosions—explosions in which energy unleashed is equivalent to millions of tons of T.N.T.—the book says it is apparent the high-yield fusion bomb is primarily a radiological weapon.

The study shows how the blast of a single megaton weapon is enough to destroy the very largest of modern cities. Its radiological effect is enough to devastate an area as large as some of the large states.

The multiplication factor, the book adds, in comparison to devastation caused by conventional weapons, is so big that it becomes extremely difficult to appreciate and assess the seriousness and peril of the new situation. In recent tests it is estimated that 15 megaton thermonuclear (or H-bomb) explosions have been tried out.

A 20 megaton bomb, it points out, releases enough energy to put it in the same order as that of a large earthquake or hurricane; its energy is 2 per cent of the annual output of electrical energy in the world. It is pointed out that if this bomb were to be made from conventional explosives, the mere cost of explosives would be roughly £1000 million.

In contrast, a nuclear weapon is, in terms of destructive power, the cheapest thing the world has ever seen—cheaper than the conventional weapons by a factor of hundreds if not thousands. By the sheer logic of the situation, the book points out, "megaton bombs and cities cannot co-exist for a long time."

The book includes appendices on nuclear explosions and weather, radio-active contamination of fish and marine organisms and maximum permissible concentrations in air and water for a continuous exposure.

In the chapter on genetic effects of nuclear explosions two points have received special attention: (1) Internal hazard resulting from ingestion (by absorption) into a body of radioactive substances contained in fall-out from test explosions; (2) and genetic hazard from exposure of the entire world population to ionizing radiation from global fallout. The former injures an individual during his lifetime while the latter manifests itself not in the exposed individual but in his descendants.

In the concluding chapter the book recalls the statement made in July 1955 by the late Albert Einstein, Mr. Percy W. Bridgman, Mr. Leopold Infled, Mr. Herman J. Muller, Mr. Cecil F. Powell, Mr. Joseph Rotblat, Earl Bertrand Russell, Mr. Hideki Yukawa and M. Jean Frederic Joliot-Curie. In the statement the world-renowned scientists and humanists had clearly posed the problem facing humanity:

"Here then is the problem which we present to you, stark and dreadful and inescapable: Shall we put an end to the human race: Or shall mankind renounce war? People will not face this alternative because it is so difficult to abolish war . . .

Next Goal

St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Oct. 9, 1955.

"There lies before us, if we choose, continual progress in happiness, knowledge and wisdom. Shall we, instead, choose death because we cannot forget our quarrels? We appeal, as human beings, to human beings: Remember your humanity and forget the rest. If you can do so, the way lies open to a new paradise; if you cannot, there lies before you the risk of a universal death."

All are agreed, says the book, that test explosions do cause harmful effects. But people are not generally agreed on the full magnitude of harm resulting from them. This question of actual scale of harm has unfortunately been mixed up with non-scientific and political issues.

The study points out that while the scientific knowledge at present available is not enough to give a reasonable clear-cut answer, the assumptions that are made about permissible radiation burden, both sematic and genetic, that an average individual can carry without untoward effect tend generally to be optimistic.

The authors therefore consider it extremely important—while we are still ignorant as to the true scale of hazard—that radiation exposure is kept down to the lowest possible value. Otherwise, they point out, irretrievable harm may be done to what is literally the most precious treasure of mankind.

How 'Picnic' Got That Way

From the St. Paul Pioneer-Press

If you have ever wondered at the origin of the word "picnic," the "Handy Book of Literary Curiosities" offers an explanation that sounds plausible.

The word is said to have originated about 144 years ago. Then, as now, when such an entertainment was being arranged, it was customary for each one attending to bring some special form of refreshment. A list was prepared of what was considered necessary and then passed around, each person picking out such articles of food or drink as he or she would furnish. The name of the article would then be nicked off the list. This became known as "pick and nick," which, by a natural transition, degenerated into "picnic."

The Bigger Story

THE LONG WALK, by Slavomir Rawicz, as told to Ronald Downing. (Harper, 240 pgs., $3.50.)

It was only by accident that this great story of human fortitude in the face of the grimmest natural hardships imaginable came to be published. Ronald Downing, a reporter for the London Daily Mail, was on assignment to get a story on the Abominable Snowman, the strange, semi-human biped reputed to live high in the snows of the Himalayas. Rawicz, a Pole living in England, was known to have actually seen some unusual creatures in the Himalayas, so Downing sought him out for an interview. After talking with Rawicz, Downing found that he had an even greater adventure yarn to tell, and persuaded him to let it be published.

The long walk of the title began in a Soviet slave labor camp near the Arctic Circle in Eastern Siberia and ended more than 4000 weary miles to the southwest in India. Rawicz was a 24-year-old lieutenant in the Polish Army in 1939 when he was arrested by the Russians and imprisoned as a spy. After being tortured mentally and physically by NKVD interrogation teams in Minsk, Kharkov and the infamous Lubyanka Prison in Moscow, he was sentenced to 25 years forced labor.

Traveling by human cattle train to Irkutsk, near the southern tip of Lake Baikal 3000 miles east of Moscow, was an experience that many prisoners did not survive. At the end of the rail journey the prisoners were handcuffed to a long chain and the end of the chain was attached to the rear gate of an army truck. In this way about 5000 prisoners, in groups of 100 to each chain behind a truck, were marched through the Siberian winter northward for a distance of over a thousand miles, between December 1940 and February 1941.

At Camp 303, near the Lena river, Rawicz was befriended by the camp commandant's wife, who helped him to escape. In April he and five other prisoners crawled under the barbed wire and started walking south, without map or compass and with only a very hazy notion of Central Asian geography.

The whole long trek was a nightmare, with death from freezing or starvation awaiting them at every turn. The most incredibly punishing phase of it was crossing the Gobi desert in the middle of summer without food or water. Those who survived did so only by catching snakes and eating them.

At last four of them staggered across the Indian border 12 months after they had begun their long walk. It had been eight days since they had last eaten.

Rawicz reported that he had seen two yeti, or Abominable Snowmen, describing them as being nearly eight feet tall with characteristics akin to both the bear and the ape.

JACK ALDRIDGE.

The Sister of Dante

POEMS OF CHRISTINA ROSSETTI, selected and arranged by Kathleen Jarvis. (Philosophical Library, 104 pgs., $2.75.)

Christina Rossetti has long been known as one of the finest devotional poets of the English language. Perhaps it is for this reason that the editor of this worthy little book chooses mostly love and nature poems and nursery songs revealing another side of her lyric talent.

Under the shadow of her more famous brother, Dante, Christina has not been sufficiently appreciated in our time. She was not, like Emily Dickinson, an eccentric who broke formal traditions; instead, she was Victorian and classical Italian in her love of form and ultimately achieved a wide technical and emotional range in her verse.

Christina grew up in a modest home, a hub of cultural discussion frequented by artists and writers. There the gifted Rossettis lived with their parents in an atmosphere of love and respect, Christina being a quiet and imaginative observer. This choice of her poems shows how warm and beautiful her imagination could be and may tempt readers to look into the intense drama of her life and writings. ESTHER GUENTHER.

Eisenhower Covers Up Our Reverses

WASHINGTON.

THE PRESIDENT and Gov. Stevenson have come to much the same conclusions about the times we live in. It is that the epoch which began with the great depression of 1929, which included the New Deal, the second World War, the Fair Deal and the Korean war, now belongs to the past, that its issues are antiquated, that its war cries and slogans are worn out.

The two parties have now to prove which is the more fit for the age that is opening up. At the Chicago convention it was Mrs. Roosevelt who made this crucial point—that ex-President Truman was living in an age that had passed into history, that Mr. Stevenson was at the head of the new generation who were taking over the leadership and the control. At San Francisco, the theme of the President's address, and indeed of the platform and of the keynote which he inspired, was that the Republican party must now fit itself for a future which will be unlike the past 25 years.

Mrs. Roosevelt

The President's Reading.

Gen. Eisenhower, as we know, has been reading Mr. Arthur Larson's book, "A Republican Looks at His Party," and had been consulting Mr. Larson personally, presumably in the preparation of his acceptance address.

Mr. Larson's thesis is that there is such a thing as "the new Republicanism" and that it is "a distinct and coherent political movement, of which President Eisenhower is the architect and embodiment."

The movement has made obsolete, says Mr. Larson, the old Republicanism which comes down from 1896 and the era of President McKinley and of Mark Hanna, and has made obsolete also, so he implies, the Republican reaction to the New Deal, the Fair Deal, and the two wars.

Two Contrasting Men.

Neither party platform and, as yet, neither of the two candidates has come anywhere near defining the policies, much less a specific program for the new epoch into which we are entering. It would be foolish to expect it. The new policies and the programs to carry them out are not likely to be worked out at this stage of the political contest.

Before that can be done an understanding and a realization of what Gen. Eisenhower and Gov. Stevenson, each in his own way, are saying will have to come to the leaders in American life and thought.

It does not often happen in public affairs, but it has happened now, that on such a crucial point the two leaders are far ahead of their followers. Both will have to worry about their ability to communicate to a large audience their new and unfamiliar ideas.

But within their agreement, there is a contrast between the two men. It is the contrast between Gov. Stevenson, the active leader in the work of a new epoch, and Gen. Eisenhower, in the role of the elder statesman who in his mind's eye sees a new epoch coming and tells the younger generation to prepare for it.

Picture Too Pretty.

Gen. Eisenhower has usually given the effect of being above most of the battle. But in his acceptance address he spoke with all passion spent, as one surveying a distant horizon and contemplating from a high place a promised land.

It is not surprising that his address was not universally acclaimed among the Republican rip-snorters.

The President is fully aware, no one more so, that there will be no promised land to enter if the peace is not preserved. But though the chances are good that in the calculable future there will not be a war, I am very much afraid that the President is giving the country an expurgated and prettyfied view of the international situation. In saying this, I am assuming that the platform and the keynote address reflect his views.

Fake Cold War Claims.

They pretend that post-Stalinist Russia and what is often called "the great thaw" has been brought about by the Eisenhower Administration, and that these historic changes reflect if not a surrender, at least a great concession to, our demands.

This is, I feel sure, a dangerously false reading of the meaning of events. It ignores the rise of Russia as a world economic power. It ignores her break-through to a new plateau of competitive strength.

On the other hand, it ignores the crumbling of the Western system of alliances all the way from Japan, South Asia and the Middle East to the Balkans and Germany.

No doubt the threat of war has greatly diminished, perhaps disappeared. But the decline of the power and influence of the Western nations, ourselves included, is dramatic, and is gathering momentum. It will be a great disservice to our people if they are lulled to sleep.

STATE TO HEAR TAX VALUATION APPEALS

Board to Meet in Clayton for 3 Days Beginning Tuesday.

By BOYD F. CARROLL
Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 28—The State Tax Commission will hold hearings in St. Louis county next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday for 31 property owners who appealed from real estate assessments fixed by county tax officials for 1956 taxes. Hearings will be held in the county courthouse in Clayton.

The 31 appeals from alleged excessive tax valuations is in marked contrast with last year, when 617 St. Louis county taxpayers appealed to the commission from local assessments.

The appeals in 1955 followed drastic increases in real estate valuations in the county, ordered by the state commission to bring the county realty assessments up to a level of 30 per cent of the actual value.

Hearings In City.

Similar hearings will be held in the city of St. Louis from Sept. 10 through Sept. 18, for about 80 taxpayers who have appealed from 1956 tax valuations, Chairman James M. Robertson of Kansas City, said today. Similar hearings are scheduled for Jackson county beginning in Kansas City on Sept. 24.

One of the St. Louis county appeals involves a claim that nine acres of land and buildings used in connection with the St. Louis ordnance plant military reservation is exempt, because of federal use, Robertson said. The tract, owned by Personnel Housing Inc., was assessed at $375,000 for 1956 taxes.

Among other appeals are:

Walter H. Burkart, 2130 south Warson road, Ladue, appealed from an $81,300 assessment for 1956, declaring the valuation should be $27,000.

Billion Estimate.

Robertson said the total assessed valuation of property in St. Louis county for 1956 taxes will exceed one billion dollars when all the valuation figures are completed.

Real estate and personal property valuations for the county for 1956 now total $951,529,440, compared to the 1955 total of $900,886,120.

The commission chairman said final figures had not been received for inventories of merchants and manufacturers, assessed locally, and for the so-called distributable property of public utilities and railroads.

MISS VANDERBILT AND TV DIRECTOR SIDNEY LUMET WED

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—Heiress Gloria Vanderbilt and television director Sidney Lumet were married yesterday.

Miss Vanderbilt has been married twice previously, to Pat DiCicco, a Hollywood agent, and Leopold Stokowski, renowned symphony orchestra leader. She and Stokowski were divorced last Oct. 31, and she was awarded custody of their two children.

Lumet was formerly married to actress Rita Gam. Both he and Miss Vanderbilt are 32 years old.

KENNETH ERVIN DIES, RETIRED FIRE DEPARTMENT CAPTAIN

A veteran of 47 years service with the Fire Department, he retired in 1953. He had been promoted to captain in 1942 and was serving at old Watertower No. 2 at the time of his retirement.

OTTO C. DOERING ESTATE

Doering died April 3, 1955, at the age of 82. He left the bulk of the estate to his widow, two sons and three grandchildren. The Federal Government taxed the estate $719,800 and the state of Illinois took $116,210.

SARA T. TEASDALE PAPERS AT JEFFERSON MEMORIAL

A collection of mementos of Sara T. Teasdale, famous American lyric poetess, is now on display in the foyer of the east wing of Jefferson Memorial in Forest Park, the Missouri Historical Society announced today.

In the exhibit, which will be displayed for about a month, is a picture of the Kingsbury place house of her parents where she and Ernst B. Filsinger were married in 1914, pictures of her and a copy of the "Potter's Wheel," a hand-lettered and illustrated monthly magazine created by a group of St. Louis women from 1904 to 1907.

FIREWORKS, PARADES TO OPEN JUBILEE

Four Processions to Converge on Riverfront Friday Evening.

A spectacular fireworks display, costing $5000, and four parades converging on the St. Louis riverfront, will mark the opening of Mid-America Jubilee Friday evening, it was announced today.

The fireworks display will include a Jubilee emblem, 80 feet high and 70 feet wide. The emblem and two 50-foot square fireworks reproductions of the Missouri and Illinois state flags will be set off on three barges anchored in the middle of the Mississippi river.

About 2000 Boy Scouts and civic organizations of the entire area will participate in the parades, one of which will start on the east side of MacArthur Bridge; another on the east side of Eads Bridge; a third at Twelfth boulevard and Washington avenue, and a fourth at Fourth street and Washington.

The parades, starting at 8:30 p.m., will converge at the Jubilee site. Scouts in the line of march will carry red, white and blue torches through the darkened city streets.

George D. Lorey, special events director for the Jubilee, said the idea of the parades symbolizes the coming together of rural and urban districts and their inter-dependence, which is the theme behind the Jubilee.

The drum and bugle corps from the St. Louis Shrine, the Salvation Army band, the St. Louis All-Girl Drum and Bugle Corps and the St. Charles High School band will lead the various parade elements. Two professional bands also will participate.

When the marchers get to the riverfront, their torches will be extinguished and the Jubilee area will be blacked-out for the fireworks display in the river.

Jubilee officials suggested that those wishing to see the parades and the fireworks display the opening night find vantage points near the riverfront from which they will be able to see various formations the Boy Scouts will make before their torches are darkened.

On Sunday, about noon, a fleet of more than 100 river boats, ranging from small outboard motorboats to 34-foot cruisers, will parade from the Alton Lake area to the Jubilee site, arriving about 1:15 p.m. Water skiers will be waiting to give a 45-minute display of this sport for the entertainment of spectators.

Labor Day weekend tours to Chicago and Niagara Falls conducted by Kirkland Travel Service have been canceled to encourage St. Louisans to stay here and attend the Jubilee, the travel service announced. About 200 persons ordinarily make the three-day trip to Chicago and about 50 go on the tour to Niagara Falls, the firm said.

CLAIM THAT SKULL IS OF NEANDERTHAL WOMAN DISPUTED

DUESSELDORF, Germany, Aug. 28 (AP)—Leading international scientists yesterday argued against a German professor's claim that a skull found in a creekbed is that of a Neanderthal woman who lived more than 120,000 years ago.

The skull, washed up by floods last month in Rhuenda, West Germany, was exhibited to the International Congress of Anthropologists here by Prof. Eduard Jacobshagen of Marburg University. A school teacher had given it to him.

After a two-hour discussion before an audience of 300, the Marburg professor, who had earlier said he was 100 per cent sure of his identification, agreed to subject the find to a fluorite test. The test will be carried out by Dr. I. P. Oakley of the British Museum in London.

Scientists have found that bones attract fluorite, a mineral, in the course of thousands of years and that the fluorite content bears a certain relation to the age of the bones.

Charles Gottlieb Lang Dies.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28. (AP)—Charles Gottlieb Lang, who developed a home business into a firm known as the world's largest packer of pickles and sauerkraut, died yesterday. He was 66 years old. He was chairman of the board of C. C. Lang & Son, Inc.

TOGO MEMOIRS BLAME U.S. FOR WAR'S START

Ex-Foreign Minister's Book Says America's Acts Led to Pearl Harbor.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Shigenori Togo, Japan's wartime Foreign Minister, blames the United States in his memoirs for actions which he contends led to the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941.

Togo completed his copyrighted memoirs, "The Cause of Japan," just a few days before he died in 1950 in a prison for convicted war criminals.

Excerpts from the volume were printed in English yesterday for the first time by the magazine U. S. News & World Report. The complete book will be published Sept. 28 by Simon and Schuster, Inc., of New York.

Togo's version of events leading to Japan's involvement and subsequent utter defeat in World War II accuses the United States of having "determined on war." He contends the United States State Department distorted intercepted messages and misrepresented Japan's position.

Recalling that he became Foreign Minister in October 1941 under the then Premier Tojo, who was hanged as a war criminal, Togo commented:

"Some outsiders seem to have the idea that the Tojo cabinet was determined from the moment of its formation on the waging of war; this, of course, is not true. . . ."

Saying his purpose in entering the cabinet was not to start a war but to avert one, Togo wrote:

"My mistake lay in believing that I could achieve solution merely within the terms of my understanding with Tojo, when neither of us was aware that relations had so far deteriorated that the other party to the controversy (the United States) had already determined on war—there was at that moment, indeed, no one on the Japanese side who had yet recognized the full gravity of conditions."

PHILLIP R. KLINGE FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Funeral services for Phillip R. Klinge, vice president of Hussmann Distributing Co. Inc. of St. Louis, will be tomorrow at 9 a.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church, 225 West Argonne drive, Kirkwood. Burial will be Friday in Chicago.

Mr. Klinge, 40 years old, died Sunday of a cerebral hemorrhage at his home, 134 East Sarah street, Kirkwood, a few hours after being discharged from St. Mary's Hospital, where he had been under treatment for a blood ailment. Mr. Klinge worked in the Chicago office of the refrigeration firm for 12 years before coming here 11 years ago. He was promoted to vice president five years ago.

FUNERAL TO BE TOMORROW FOR CHARLES M. RANDALL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

GREENVILLE, Mo., Aug. 28—Funeral services for Charles Murry Randall, Wayne county (Mo.), superintendent of schools from 1927 to 1955, will be tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. at New Prospect Baptist Church near his Wayne county birthplace.

Mr. Randall, never defeated in his campaign for school superintendent, died last Saturday in a hospital at Poplar Bluff, Mo., after a long illness. He did not seek re-election last year because of ill health.

Survivors include his wife, the former Minnie Heath, three sons, Murry Lee Randall, assistant United States Attorney in St. Louis; Alvin C. Randall of Kansas City and Robert E. Randall of Patterson, Mo., and three daughters, Mrs. Melva Montgomery and Mrs. Lula V. Clark, both of St. Louis, and Mrs. Betty Ruth Harris of East St. Louis.

PRIVATE FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR SIDNEY R. BAER

Private funeral services for Sidney R. Baer, civic leader and vice-chairman of the board and treasurer of Stix, Baer and Fuller Co., were held today at the Rindskopf undertaking establishment, 5216 Delmar boulevard, with burial in New Mt. Sinai Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Leo. C. Fuller, Arthur B. Baer, Maurice S. Jelenko, Elvin K. Popper, Joseph M. Klamon, Dr. Samuel S. Hollender, Carl Baer, Frederick A. Bertram and Jerome M. Ney.

Mr. Baer, 65 years old, died of heart disease Saturday in his apartment at the Park Plaza Hotel.

POST-DISPATCH FOUNDER CITED IN USIA BOOKLET

The late Joseph Pulitzer, who came to this country from Hungary and 78 years ago founded the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, was one of 21 noted persons cited in the United States Information Agency's booklet describing important contributions by immigrants, it was announced today in Washington.

Through the booklet, the agency tells the world the United States is proud of its immigrants, saying: "America is richer for their coming." It said this country accepted 2,000,000 permanent residents from abroad from 1946 through 1955.

HARRY B. M'BEE DIES, WAS MANAGER OF BINDER FACTORY

Harry B. McBee, retired vice president and manager of the binder division of the Royal McBee Corp. here, died today of complications following surgery at Barnes Hospital. He was 65 years old.

Mr. McBee, who lived at 11 Devondale lane, Frontenac, joined the firm, then known as the McBee Co., in 1915 and had managed its St. Louis plant since 1919. He retired last June 30. The firm merged with the Royal Typewriter Co. in 1954 and the new company's plant here manufactures loose leaf binders. Mr. McBee practiced law in Cleveland, O., before entering the business.

Surviving are his wife, a daughter, Mrs. W. G. Avery of Jefferson City; a brother and a sister. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Kriegshauser undertaking establishment, 4228 South Kingshighway, with burial in Sunset Burial Park.

RICHMOND C. COBURN NAMED TO BAR ASSOCIATION BOARD

Richmond C. Coburn, St. Louis attorney, was elected a member of the board of governors of the American Bar Association yesterday at its convention in Dallas, Tex. He will represent the eight circuit court.

David S. Maxwell of Philadelphia, was elected president and will be installed Friday the final day of the meeting. He replaces E. Smythe Gambrell of Atlanta, Ga. Charles S. Rhyne of Washington was elected chairman of the house of delegates.

LACLEDE-CHRISTY, BRICK WORKERS AGREE ON PACT

Laclede-Christy Co., division of H. K. Porter Co., is one of 13 fire brick manufacturers to reach a new agreement with the United Brick & Clay Workers, it was announced yesterday.

The general agreement, which covers 5000 workers in the industry, calls for a 7½ cents hourly wage increase retroactive to last July 1. It includes another increase of 7 cents effective next July 1.

The settlement, closely following that of the steel industry, includes a cost-of-living clause, supplementary unemployment benefits and Sunday premium pay. A Laclede-Christy spokesman said the contract has not been completed on the local level.

His arrival formally restored diplomatic relations between the two countries after a 15-year break caused by World War II. The Philippines' ambassador to Japan, Felino Neri, arrived in Yokohama, Japana, today.

AT LAST! Revolutionary Scientific Powder

STOPS DOG ITCH

• Destroys Fleas, Lice, Ticks (even spotted fever ticks)
• Stops Fungus Itch • Kills Bacteria, Repels Odors

Now, an astonishing new medicated powder proved so effective it is guaranteed to stop your dog scratching in minutes. SCRATCHEX was developed by Dr. A. C. Merrick, famous veterinary scientist, who discovered that in 7 out of 10 cases scratching is caused by a fungus infection, often invisible. The exclusive SCRATCHEX formula stops fungus itch and kills fleas, lice, ticks on contact. At all Walgreen Drug Stores now. Get a season's supply today, only 98c.

Dr Merrick's SCRATCHEX

2. Spores from weeds, grass cause fungus itch ('summer itch, 'mange'). SCRATCHEX stops fungus itch.

STRIKE BLAMED ON TEAMSTERS BY LABOR BOARD

Local 688 Ruled at Fault in Walkout of Coca-Cola Driver-Salesmen Here.

Local 688, AFL Teamsters Union, was guilty of unfair labor practices in calling a strike of driver-salesmen of the Coco Cola Bottling Co. of St. Louis in an effort to force recognition of the union, the National Labor Relations Board ruled yesterday in Washington.

The board found that when the strike started, the drivers were represented by an independent union, the Coca Cola Bottling Co. Salesmen's Association, which had been certified by the NLRB as the bargaining agent of the drivers.

Finding that an attempt to dissolve the association before the strike began was not effective, the board ordered Local 688 to cease and desist from requiring the company to recognize or bargain with a particular labor organization as a representative of its employes "if another labor organization has been certified as the representative of such employes."

In a dissenting opinion, Board Member Ivar H. Peterson asserted the attempt to dissolve the independent union had been successful and that Local 688 was not guilty of the unfair labor practices charged.

The majority opinion said "the attempt to dissolve the association was prompted and financially supported by the respondent" (Local 688), and that "its efforts in persuading the driver-salesmen to disassociate themselves from the association by statements indicating they would be forced to join and by monetary grants have all the earmarks of a not wholly successful 'raid' by a rival labor organization upon the membership of the association."

Local 688 and the company signed a five-year contract last May 8 and filed a joint motion with the board asking that the charges be withdrawn since the union and company had signed a contract and there was no other labor organization then claiming to represent the drivers.

However, the board refused to permit the charges to be withdrawn, declaring that recognition of Local 688 and the signing of a contract with it was the very purpose for which Local 688 had called its unlawful strike.

The union was forbidden to encourage or induce employes of the company to engage in a strike for the purpose of forcing the company to recognize Local 688 as long as the Coca Cola Bottling Company Salesmen's Association is the certified representative of the employes.

WOMAN SWINDLED OF $495 IN 'UNREFINED PIGEON DROP'

Mrs. Mary Ella Stone, a domestic of 2133 Eugenia street, was swindled of $495 by two men who operated a "rather unrefined pigeon drop," police reported yesterday.

Mrs. Stone, a Negro, told officers she was in Union Station Friday when she saw a man pick up a wallet from the floor. A second man began arguing with him for half the contents. The two both Negroes noted Mrs. Stone had observed the proceedings, so they offered her a share of the supposed $1200 in the wallet if she would "keep it quiet."

She said she gave the money to the men, who instructed her to see a certain man at the old federal building at Eighth and Olive streets to get her share of the find. She went there, she said, but could not find the man. She returned to Eighteenth and Market streets, her meeting place with the men, but the other two were gone.

'BANDWAGON' TOUR DIRECTOR

Paxton Ackerman, a Clayton attorney, has been named director of the Eisenhower "bandwagon" caravan in Missouri, the Missouri Citizens for Eisenhower announced today.

The "bandwagon" will cross the state from St. Louis to Kansas City, with stops in towns on the way.

WAR IS ADVOCATED TO RID BURMA OF RED CHINA TROOPS

RANGOON, Aug. 28 (UP) — Thakin Ba Sein, leader of Burma's opposition Democratic party, said today that the Burmese government should declare war on Red China if the Communists refuse to evacuate their troops from northern Burma.

The Democratic party in Burma is noted for its pro-Western views. Before the country attained its independence, Ba Sein was a member of the British Governor's executive council.

Ba Sein emphasized that he did not wish to be known as a "warmonger," but he said the Chinese invasion of Burma's northern provinces was wanton aggression.

He said Red China wants to annex Burmese territory piece by piece, and accused the government of U Ba Swe with being "weak-kneed" in its protests against the occupation.

GOVERNMENT STUDY GROUP IN OVERLAND

Commission Named to Determine Form Best Suited to City's Needs.

A 24-member commission to study the form of city government that will bring a brighter future and more progress to the City of Overland was appointed last night by Mayor Mort Jacobs at a meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

The appointment of the commission was proposed last June by Alderman Robert E. Parkins in a resolution adopted by the entire board. John H. Armbruster, real estate dealer, was named temporary chairman of the group.

Mayor Jacobs said the commission will study the home rule form of government. If it decides this is best for the future of Overland, a board of freeholders will be recommended to revise the city charter. On the other hand, he said, the commission may prefer the third class city form of government. It is now a fourth class city.

Each of the eight members of the city's Board of Aldermen recommended three persons for the commission. Those were the ones the Mayor appointed. The commission will meet with the aldermen Sept. 6 to map methods of procedure.

The board last night also approved a public relations booklet, written and assembled by Mrs. Dorothy L. Miller, city clerk. The booklet will be mailed to all taxpayers with their tax bills.

EATING HABITS IN ST. LOUIS DISCUSSED AT CONFERENCE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PACIFIC GROVE, Calif., Aug. 28—Results of a survey of eating habits of 266 St. Louis families were discussed yesterday by two University of Missouri agricultural economists at a joint meeting of the American Farm Economic and the Western Farm Economic Associations here.

Elmer R. Kiehl and V. J. Rhodes cited the advantages of an eating or sensory test by a consumer panel to learn acceptance of various food products.

In the St. Louis experiment conducted in three weeks, one half of the families tested preferred fatter grades of beef. The other half indicated they saw no difference between lean and fat beef, Rhodes and Kiehl related.

UNION OFFICER AND LOCAL APPEAL FINES OF $3000

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 28—Jack Green, Laborers' union official of Granite City, who was fined $3000 and put on probation for three years for labor racketeering, filed notice of appeal today in United States District Court here.

His union, General Laborers Local 397, which also was fined $3000 on the same charge, also appealed.

Green, a business agent, and the union were convicted in 1954 of violating the federal anti-racketeering act by using force to compel a contractor to hire more workers on the Chain of Rocks levee project near Granite City.

MOVE IN COUNTY FOR UNIFORM SPEED LIMITS

Special Committee of League of Municipalities Named for Traffic Study.

An effort to obtain uniform speed limits throughout St. Louis county was initiated yesterday with appointment of a special committee of the County League of Municipalities.

The new group will seek establishment of a uniform basic 30-mile-an-hour speed limit throughout the area, in line with one of the recommendations of a master traffic control plan proposed recently by the St. Louis Regional Committee on Traffic and Parking.

That group had recommended creation of a "co-ordination panel" within the League of Municipalities to try to resolve inconsistencies in speed limits between adjacent communities.

Broad Scope of Study.

The new committee, however, will have a broader scope and deal with traffic matters other than uniformity in speed regulations, Mayor Jule A. Schweig of Clayton, president of the league, asserted.

"The committee will go into the whole general traffic problem," Schweig said.

"It will study the report of the regional group and try to get the co-operation of county municipalities in carrying out recommendations that are within their jurisdiction."

Schweig said he asked the committee to make its first report at the next League of Municipalities meeting, to be held Sept. 27 in Kirkwood.

Mayor Sterling P. Davidson Jr. of Maplewood, who headed the regional group's subcommittee on county problems, was named chairman of the new committee.

20 M.P.H. in Congested Areas.

In proposing a basic speed limit of 30 miles an hour, the Regional Committee recommended that it be lowered to 20 miles an hour in congested business districts and be raised in open and semi-rural areas.

In another traffic development, St. Louis Comptroller Milton Carpenter yesterday signed a contract to pay the city's share of a proposed $490,000 transit and traffic survey of the metropolitan area.

Carpenter said he had delayed signing the contract, for which funds were appropriated by the Board of Aldermen two months ago, because it had not provided insurance coverage to protect the city.

The contract is with W. C. Gilman & Co., a New York engineering firm. The city will pay $140,000 of the cost. A like amount has been appropriated by the County Council as the county's share of the cost. The remainder of the expense will be borne by the State Highway Commission.

TWO TAX LEVIES APPROVED IN MARYLAND HEIGHTS VOTE

Two tax levies of $1 on each $100 of assessed property valuation were approved yesterday by residents of the Maryland Heights School District at a special election. Approval of the levies assured reopening of the district's schools Sept. 17.

School Superintendent James Taylor had expressed fear the schools would not be able to operate without the additional revenue provided by the two levies, which were defeated by the voters at two earlier elections. There are some 800 students in schools in the district.

One of the propositions approved yesterday by a vote of 645 to 230 provides $1 on each $100 of assessed valuation for the teachers' fund. The other, passed by a vote of 615 to 266, provides $1 on each $100 of assessed valuation for the incidental fund. The total tax rate of the school district this year is $3.58.

ACCIDENT VERDICT RETURNED IN DROWNING OF FISHERMAN

A verdict of accidental death by drowning was returned by a coroner's jury at St. Charles last night in the death of Peter Seifert, 78-year-old commercial fisherman, of 339A Antelope street, whose body was recovered from the Mississippi river at Portage Island.

City Marshal J. C. Hunt of Portage Des Sioux in St. Charles county said the body was discovered floating in shallow water alongside Seifert's skiff Sunday night by Joseph Schmitz of Portage Des Sioux.

One end of the skiff's mooring line was wrapped around Seifert's right arm and an open gasoline can in the boat indicated Seifert had been preparing to fill the outboard motor's fuel tank, Hunt said. Seifert was last seen Saturday by friends he visited in Portage Des Sioux.

AFL-CIO COUNCIL DEBATES TAKING SIDES IN POLITICS

Leaders Split Over Whether National Body Should Indorse Party Ticket.

FOREST PARK, Pa., Aug. 28 (UP)—AFL-CIO leaders were embroiled in a debate today over whether the 15,000,000-member organization should take sides in the 1956 presidential race.

The 28-member executive council discussed the question all morning at a mountain resort here. They scheduled a special afternoon meeting to debate the matter further.

Most of the 10 council members from the old CIO were said to favor indorsing the Democratic presidential ticket. But AFL-CIO president George Meany and at least two other members from the old AFL were reported to be opposed to taking any political stand.

The question before the council is whether to call a meeting of the AFL-CIO general board—which includes heads of all 123 unions—next month in time to make an indorsement.

Council members supporting the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket have predicted that the board would indorse the Democratic slate, since most labor leaders lean that way in their politics.

As the morning session broke up, Meany refused to comment. But Dave Beck, head of the Teamsters Union, from the old AFL—and an opponent of indorsement—said: "I believe that Meany and (Maurice) Hutchinson (president of the Carpenters Union) and I support the same position."

At least eight members of the council are openly committed to supporting the Democratic ticket. They include Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers; David McDonald, head of the United Steelworkers and George Harrison, head of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

But both McDonald and Harrison were reported to have proposed turning the question over to the AFL-CIO's political arm —Committee on Political Education—for a recommendation.

Meany, meanwhile, contradicted Republican statements that their administration is good for labor. He conceded that workers "never had it so good" but said this was true in spite of, not because of, the Republican administration.

Cooler Weather on the Way

—Associated Press Wirephoto
Low temperatures and areas of precipitation expected tonight.

St. Louis will have cooler weather for a few days beginning tomorrow night, Weatherman Harry F. Wahlgren predicted today. Temperatures will remain in the middle 90s through tomorrow.

Showers and thundershowers due sometime tonight or tomorrow will cause the mercury to drop to a low in the upper 60s Thursday and a high in the upper 80s that day, the forecaster said.

Cooler weather will prevail across the nation in that period, the Weather Bureau said. There will be scattered showers and thundershowers through the plains states, Mississippi valley and lakes region, with some in the Pacific northwest. The rest of the country will have fair weather.

No rain was reported in the area in the last reporting period and the month's total stands at 1.28 inches against a normal 3.41. However, total for the year is only 1.57 inches behind normal. There was light rain in the northwestern part of the state. St. Joseph had .01 of an inch. Heaviest in the country was 1 inch at Galveston, Tex.

Maximum state temperatures yesterday ranged from 87 at West Plains to 96 at St. Joseph. A high of 93 was reached at 4:30 p.m. here. National highs varied from 58 at Tatoosh Island, Wash. to 103 at Presidio, Tex.

The state's low-temperature scale early today ranged from 63 at West Plains to 75 at Kansas City. Most of the state was moderately cool during the night. The low here was 69 at 7 a.m.

Clear and bright as mountain air

A NEW KIND OF BEER FOR AMERICA'S NEW WAY OF LIVING

The idea for it came from Bavaria: Why not a bright, refreshing beer like they drink in that land of sports and festivals and fun? And so it's here—made by America's leading brewer. A beer as clear and bright as a day in the Alps, as refreshing as mountain air. A beer that leaves your taste fresh . . . is light on the tongue. A beer that's made to order for bowling, bridge, do-it-yourself activities, "come-on-over" entertaining . . . Busch Bavarian.

DODGERS HAVE 16 STRAIGHT GAMES WITH LOWER CLUBS

TOUGHER SCHEDULE FOR BRAVES AND REDLEGS

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (UP)—Back on the Braves' heels again, because skinny Don Bessent pitched like Clem Labine at his greatest, the Brooklyn Dodgers set sail today into a schedule of 16 straight games against second-division teams with their pennant hopes higher than ever.

Bessent, who took over as the Dodgers' No. 1 relief artist when Labine broke a bone in his wrist last week, blanked the Braves for four innings yesterday to gain credit for a clutch 6-3 victory. He now has pitched 25 straight shutout innings.

It was the Dodgers' "biggest" win so far this year, for it again put them only two games behind Milwaukee after a split of their two-game series.

Now, only one game behind in the important "lost" column, the Dodgers feel the schedule favors them in the run to the wire. Here's why: Of the 33 games they have left, a whopping 27 are against second division teams and only six against top teams. By contrast, the Braves play first-division teams in 14 of 31 games, and third-place Cincinnati meets the leaders 14 times in 29 games.

20 Remain at Home.

What's more, Brooklyn is the only contender with more home games left than road games. The Dodgers play 20 of their remaining 33 at cramped but cozy Ebbets Field, where they hit so many homers. The Braves have 14 home games left, the Redlegs only 10.

Thin, pale-faced Bessent, gaining his first victory of the year in relief of ace Don Newcombe, allowed just one hit in four frames and was boosted to victory by two key plays.

Pitcher Gene Conley of the Braves made the first play. With runners on first and third in the first of the eighth and the score tied, 3-3, he fielded Carl Furillo's one-bouncer and chose to throw to the plate instead of trying for a double play. Before baserunner Jim Gilliam was tagged out in a rundown, the Dodgers had runners at second and third.

That set up the second play. Jackie Robinson was purposely passed, filling the bases, and Roy Campanella singled to break up the game. Three scored on the hit, Robinson coming all the way home from first when the outfield relay was slow.

That gave Brooklyn a 6-3 lead and Bessent kept the Braves at bay.

The Braves had built up 3-0 edge against Newcombe on Joe Adcock's solo homer in the second and Bobby Thomson's two-run homer in the fourth. Duke Snider of the Dodgers cracked his thirty-fifth homer with a man on in the sixth and the Dodgers tied the score in the seventh when Robinson doubled and Sandy Amoros singled.

Told to 'Watch Home.'

Conley explained his decision to throw home: "I was told to watch home."

Said Braves' pilot Fred Haney: "We're better off than when the Dodgers came to town. We split the series and have two less games to play."

The only other major-league action Monday saw Chico Carrasquel drive in three runs with a pair of homers to lead Cleveland to a 5-2 victory in a night game at Washington, thus moving the second-place Indians within seven games of the first-place New York Yankees in the American League. Rocky Colavito also homered for the Tribe as pitcher Bob Lemon, tossing an eight-hitter, gained his seventeenth victory and the 198th of his career.

Yonkers Team Advances.

The Yonkers team defeated Everett, Mass., 9-4 in the second of two double elimination games. Earlier the Everett boys won a 3-0 victory over the new champions.

Yonkers defeated Everett Sunday 10-0.

Third Brooklyn Run on Campy's Key Single

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

JACKIE ROBINSON crosses the plate with the Dodgers' third run on a key single by Roy Campanella in the eighth inning of a big game at Milwaukee won by Brooklyn, 6-3. The Braves had passed Robinson to fill the bases for Campy, whose injured hands reportedly had been retarding his batting. The relay on the hit was slow and here the ball gets away from Catcher DEL CRANDALL. DUKE SNIDER (4) gives hold-up sign to Robinson. The umpire is LEE BALLANFANT.

Cardinals to Bat Against Curt Simmons Tonight

If the Braves win only 17 of their 31 remaining games, the Cardinals would have to win all 30 of theirs to pass first-place Milwaukee in the National League race.

With that sort of mountain ahead of them, the Redbirds, of course, are devoting most of their time to looking over their shoulders. There they see Philadelphia, which is here tonight at 8 o'clock at Busch Stadium in the opener of a two-night series closing out the Eastern clubs' visits here.

The Phillies are four and one-half games behind the Cardinals, who occupy fourth, the last money spot. However, the difference is only three games on the loss side, so Curt (10-8 Simmons) tonight has an extra incentive to roll along on his excellent comeback season. The lefty has a seven-victory streak snapped just the other day.

For St. Louis, whose five-game winning string was cut by the Giants in Sunday's second game, the hurler is likely to be Willard Schmidt, the 27-year-old righthander from Hays, Kan. Schmidt has a 3.85 earned-run average.

After 124 games last season, the Birds had won only 53, 10 fewer than the present Cards have accumulated. So the Birds need to win in only six out of 30 to top their 1955 finish.

The Cardinals have picked up their two games above .500 in the National League standings against the East with a 40-38 record. It's been a dead heat with rival Western teams, 23 and 23.

Philadelphia, which is 10-9 against the Cardinals, can trace most of its trouble to two of the lower echelon clubs. Pittsburgh has taken the Phils 10 out of 14 and last-place Chicago has knocked off Mayo Smith's men 12 out of 20.

Al Schacht, the 62-year-old baseball comedian, will perform before tonight's game. He had a 14-10 record as a Senators' hurler in 1919-20-21.

The Cardinals are at .500 or near that mark in a number of statistics. They've won 31 and lost 31 at night, are ahead, 14-13, in one-run decisions and have won six of 11 extra-inning games. The Birds have swept four doubleheaders, dropped five and split 11.

$8433 Per Game for TV Rights to College Basketball Contests

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 28 (UP)—The Schoenling Brewing Co. of Cincinnati has announced that it will pay the University of Dayton $50,600 for television rights at six of the Flyers' home basketball games next season.

Edward Schoenling Jr., president of the firm, said he believed the sum was the highest in history for basketball in this part of the country. The contract called for $8,433 per game.

University of Dayton officials said the money would be used to strengthen its athletic facilities.

Babe Zaharias 'Still Optimistic,' George Says

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 28 (UP)—Babe Zaharias is losing strength as a result of her fight with cancer but her husband said "we are not losing hope."

Georgie Zaharias said his wife is "still optimistic" and had told him "we must keep going."

The famed woman athlete, who this spring celebrated her forty-second birthday in the hospital, visits with members of her family daily and spends much of her time reading messages of good wishes and prayers for her recovery.

A bulletin from John Sealy Hospital said yesterday, however, that there was no discernible change in her condition.

Jennings, Which Beat '55 Champion, to Play Bel-Rieve in Softball

Jennings, which knocked out defending champion Lucky Eleven, meets Bel-Rieve tonight at 7:30 in the A.S.A. men's softball tournament at Manchester. Secos play Charlie's at 9 o'clock.

The four teams playing tonight and Ellisville have lost one game apiece in the double-elimination tourney. Thurmers No. 1 and Happy Hollow, the only other survivors, are unbeaten. Bel-Rieve eliminated Thurmers No. 2, 4-0.

The tournament queen will be picked between games Thursday night, about 8:45. Fourteen bathing beauties will compete.

Tillman's of Lincoln, Nebr., the Glen Towers of Des Moines and a team from Omaha will be among the field of nine teams in the A.S.A. men's regional at Manchester Sept. 7-8-9.

Herrin Catcher Is Signed by the Cubs

HERRIN, Ill., Aug 28 (UP)—The Chicago Cubs have signed 17-year-old Terry Jones of Herrin, to a contract. The youth is a left-hand hitting catcher.

The boy's father, Robert Jones, said Terry received $2000 for signing and that his contract had been assigned to Ponca City, Okla., in the Sooner State League.

Stengel Says He'll Be Back to Manage Yankees Next Year

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (UP). CASEY STENGEL has confided to close associates that he will be back to manage the New York Yankees again next season, regardless of how his team finishes this year, it was learned today.

"I figure I'm going to be around here for maybe two more years," Stengel told them.

The Yankee pilot, who recently celebrated his sixty-fifth birthday, signed a two-year contract on Sept. 22, 1954, to direct the team through the 1955 and 1956 seasons. Last year he was ill on several occasions but this year the grizzled old veteran has been as chipper as ever and has been credited with an outstanding job of running the club, despite a large number of injuries and ailments among the players.

He reportedly received $80,000 a year for the past two years and probably would receive at least that amount again under a new contract.

72s for Goalby, Switzer in U.S. Amateur Trial

ST. LOUIS COUNTRY CLUB, Aug. 28—Joe Switzer, Old Warson, and Bob Goalby, St. Clair Country Club, shot 72s to lead the early finishers today in the first half of the 36-hole sectional qualifying round of the National Amateur golf tournament. Bob Cochran, Norwood, had a 73.

Par for the St. Louis C.C. course is 35-36—71.

Walker Cupper Jimmy Jackson, Algonquin, who has taken part in six Amateur tournaments, posted a 78 for the 18 holes. He fired a 36 on the front nine but went to 42 on the back stretch.

About 40 players competed for the six places at stake in the sectional trial here.

St. Louisan Hord Hardin shot a 148 over the Twin Orchard course at Chicago yesterday to qualify. Hardin, who was in Chicago on business, put together a 73 and a 75.

Singleton Tops Coast League in Efficiency

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28 (UP)—Reliable Elmer Singleton (16-7) of the Seattle Rainiers rolled along today as the most effective pitcher in the Pacific Coast League with an earned run average of 2.69.

However, the biggest winner was Rene Valdes (19-9) of Portland while Dave Hillman (18-5) of the Los Angeles Angels had compiled a winning percentage of .783 to lead in that department.

Dick Drott (11-9) of the Cherubs continued to set the pace in strikeouts, having fanned 160 batters while Pete Mesa (12-10) of San Diego stayed ahead for the most walks with 122 passes.

Southpaw Bill Werle (13-13) of Portland had worked the most innings—219—and Eddie Erault (8-17) of San Diego had lost the most games.

Mrs. George Conant, Medalist, Wins First District Match

GOLF
by ROBERT MORRISON

How Come?

FOR years the custom of improving the lie, or "teeing" the ball in the fairway with the clubhead, was a bad habit in St. Louis where fairways haven't always been in good condition.

But it was a surprise when the women's district organization continued to permit it in their current championship tournament at Glen Echo, where watered fairways are good.

The women have a logcal explanation. It was presented by Mrs. Alfred Goldman of Westwood, rules chairman.

"We didn't change (that provision) because we've been playing it that way all season," she said. "We don't consider it fair to require playing the ball as it lies of those who haven't been accustomed to it through the season when the reason they haven't played it that way is that their courses are not in good enough condition."

It's a debatable point. The U.S.G.A. rules authority abhors improving the lie, playing winter rules in the growing season. Any golfer worthy of championship competition from the district level up usually recognizes the futility of this false aid that gives him the delusion of being better than he is.

Conditions Alter Cases.

ABOUT seven or eight years ago, St. Louis golf leaders began stamping out the practice. But with the drouth of recent years, the practice has been renewed because some courses couldn't be kept in condition through the summer.

For top golfers there seems only one legitimate excuse for improving the lie. That is when the golfer is attempting to prepare for a particular tournament where he has reason to believe the majority of his shots will be made from good lies. That doesn't happen very often.

As for the championship aspects of the women's tournament, Mrs. Hoffman pointed out that the St. Louis District women's event really has two purposes. One is to determine the champion; the other to promote interest in the game.

"If we hadn't let the players improve the lie, we wouldn't have half this many playing," she said of the field that numbered about 111. It was a matter of not discouraging players before they even tee off. It's discouraging enough sometimes as it is.

Unfertile Ground.

ED FURGOL'S resignation at Westwood caused another old pro who got out of the business some time ago, to say a few words about the St. Louis situation in that respect.

Ray Schwartz noted that five professionals had left their jobs here in the last two years. Besides Schwartz and Furgol these included Ted Neist at St. Louis C.C., Walter Ambo at Meadow Brook, and Homer Herpel at Algonquin.

Schwartz asserted the basic reason is that there isn't sufficient opportunity for income and that clubs are operating under an outmoded procedure.

"They're still operating as if it were 20 or 30 years ago," he said. "A pro here has to pay his help and it means he has to sell some $70,000 worth of merchandise before he can reach the level of income he wants. Clubs don't ask club managers to pay the waiters, do they?"

Schwartz's criticism was general in nature and wasn't intended to apply to any particular club. Members can and will tell you in particular instances of how well they provide for professionals.

In Furgol's case, the departure undoubtedly came as a result of a top national golf figure believing he could do better in some other club connection. Westwood didn't have to apologize because it undoubtedly provided him with one of the best jobs in this district.

But the fact remains that for one reason or another many good professionals here have not been satisfied with the situations.

Turns In 5 and 4 Triumph

By Robert Morrison

GLEN ECHO COUNTRY CLUB, Aug. 28—Mrs. George Conant, Jr., tournament medalist, moved into the quarterfinals of the District Women's Golf tournament today with a handily-won 5-and-4 victory over Mary Gail Cassett of Westwood.

The St. Louis Country Club woman, a mother of four who took up the tournament game seriously only last season, played better in her first round match than she did in winning the medal.

"I was hitting the ball better and Mary Gail had a bad putting round," said Mrs. Conant, who was five over par for the 14 holes of the match. She had won the medal with a five-over-par 80.

Meets Mrs. Anderson.

In tomorrow's quarterfinal round Mrs. Conant will meet a long-time tournament player, Mrs. W. F. Anderson of Westborough, who scored a 2 and 1 triumph over 1939 champion Mrs. Ray Schwartz. Mrs. Anderson showed a nine-over-par approximate medal including a triple bogey seven at the twelfth. She squared the match at the fifteenth with a 12-foot par putt and then won the next two holes when Mrs. Schwartz failed to play them well.

Looming as perhaps the biggest title threat in this upper bracket, however, was three-time champion Jeanie Dobbin of Norwood. She trimmed Mrs. Lee Flood of Normandie, 8 and 7.

Jeanie, who won the title in 1950, 1951 and 1953, finished out the round in 74, one under women's par. "I needed the practice," said the young woman who has been a standout here a number of years but had slacked in activity this summer.

Miss Dobbin's foe tomorrow will be Mary Rose Driscoll, 23-year-old school teacher and home course player who won her first round match from Mrs. Ed Furgol, 4 and 3.

"I'm really in a tough bracket," remarked the medalist, Mrs. Conant, who had it easier than she might have expected against Miss Cassett.

On 10 greens the 19-year-old Mary Gail either three-putted or missed makeable putts after good chips. Part of the reason undoubtedly was that Glen Echo's rebuilt greens are in a condition that presents either mental or actual problems, despite the fact that they are in fair shape for having been rebuilt within the last year.

Mrs. Conant was out in 41 and two up against Miss Cassett, who briefly held a one-up lead after three holes, but lost the advantage as Mrs. Conant won three straight holes. On one of those holes, the 216-yard fifth, the strong-hitting Mrs. Conant drove the green and got down in two putts for a birdie three.

A five on the par-three ninth, a lake hole where her tee shot rebounded from a tree into the water, prevented Mrs. Conant from scoring better. She also had double-bogeyed the second and bogied the third where she three-putted.

Mrs. Fouke Wins.

In the lower bracket of first-round match play last year's district tournament runner-up, Mrs. Lucien Fouke, scored an 81 in the course of a 5 and 4 win over Mrs. David Mitchell, Norwood.

Mrs. Fouke and former champion Susan Driscoll, Glen Echo, meet next.

Biggest form reversal of the day came when Mrs. C. T. Shepherd, Norwood, defeated the 1955 district junior girls champion, Barbara Beuckman of St. Clair, 1 up. Miss Beuckman had been fourth in qualifying with 84. Mrs. Shepherd thus advanced to meet Mrs. A. U. Simmons, Norwood, who defeated fellow club member Mrs. Russ Schoneberg, 2 and 1.

Tourney Newcomer Shows Way at Glen Echo

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

MRS. GEORGE CONANT JR. of St. Louis Country Club, who shot a five-over-par 80 at Glen Echo for medal honors in the annual Women's District meet. The mother of four children, she has been competing in tournament golf for only two years. She won her first round match, 5 and 4, over Miss Mary Gail Cassett.

Burdette's Crack to Robby About 'Spare Tire,' Lew Says

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 28 (UP)—Pitcher Lew Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves said Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers threw a baseball at him because of a comment about Robinson's "spare tire, not his race."

Burdette said last night he yelled to Robinson "what time does the watermelon get cold." "I meant the watermelon around his waist. Cripes! there wasn't anything racial about it," Lew added.

The incident occurred before the second inning of Sunday's game here. Robinson was quoted in New York newspapers as saying Burdette said "things uncalled for" — racial slurs. "I aimed at his head and it's a good thing it missed," Robinson was quoted as saying.

Burdette said the ball landed in the dugout and did not hit anyone. "He threw it as hard as he could. Guess he was mad, but he didn't have any reason to be."

The Milwaukee pitcher said he has exchanged angry words with Robinson on other occasions. "Everyone gets angry once in a while," he said. "In my opinion there was nothing to this last incident. It's all over as far as I'm concerned."

It was the second ball-throwing incident here this season. Ruben Gomez of the New York Giants hit Joe Adcock of the Braves with two thrown balls and was chased from the field by the big first baseman.

A Robinson bat-throwing incident here last season prompted the Milwaukee County Board to pass a law making it illegal to "throw objects into the stands" at County Stadium. The law carries a $50 fine and is applicable to fans and players.

Drury to Play McKinley in Junior Tennis

TOWER GROVE PARK, Aug. 28—Four youthful players with backgrounds of experience in sectional and national events will play here tomorrow in the semifinals of the St. Louis Muny junior tennis tournament.

Top-seeded Neil Drury, who recently gained the final round of the Canadian junior tourney after competing in two United States events, will oppose Chuck McKinley, runner-up in the recent National outdoor boys' championships. Dick Horwitz and Rod Susman—both topflight players with experience gained in out-of-town play—will meet in the other half of the draw.

All four won quarterfinals handily today, with McKinley leading the way with a 6-0, 6-0, victory over Gregory Zampagna. Drury defeated Arthur Snider, Horwitz won from Rich Rahubka with the loss of only one game and Susman eliminated Jim Bryan.

Curt Roberts Hits 4 Homers In 7 Innings

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 28 (AP)—Curt Roberts is a little guy. Stands 5-8, weighs 165. He's a second baseman who doesn't look like a power hitter. And he isn't—ordinarily.

But last night he became only the fifth player in International League history to sock four home runs in one game. And he did it in seven innings, driving in six runs as his Columbus Jets defeated Havana 10-7 in the first game of a doubleheader. Roberts had a single in four trips as Havana won the nightcap 5-2 to retain a 1½-game edge over the Jets for sixth place.

Since coming to the Jets in the Kansas City-Pittsburgh deal that sent Second Baseman Spook Jacobs to the Pirates on June 22, Roberts had hit only four home runs in 69 games. In five previous seasons in organized ball, he had hit only 29—not even averaging six a season.

But the 27-year-old infielder really tore into 'em last night. Two of the homers came with one on. The other two were solo shots—one an inside-the-park job.

No one had slugged four in one I.L. game since 1938, when Bob Seeds did it for Newark, then a league member, at Buffalo. Russ Arlett did it twice in one season playing for Baltimore, another departed member. He slammed 'em all against Reading, on the road June 1, 1932, and at home, July 4.

The only other I.L. sluggers to do it were Bill Bottenus of Buffalo, against Wilkes-Barre in 1895; and Rochester's George Kelly, against Reading in 1919.

In the other games, first-place Toronto gained a four-game lead with a 6-3 decision over Montreal while Rochester was taking over second place with a 3-2 victory against Buffalo. Miami fell to third, 4½ games back, with a 2-0 loss to Richmond.

Star School Battery Enrolls at St. Louis U.

George Werley and Jim Helein, who formed an outstanding prep, Legion and amateur baseball battery, have been accepted for enrollment at St. Louis University, it was announced by Athletic Director Eddie Hickey.

The 17-year-old Werley won 18 and lost only two games pitching for three teams: St. Louis U. High, the Aubuchon-Dennison Legion post and the Meramec Caverns of the Ban Johnson League. He won high school letters in baseball, two in football and one in basketball.

Helein hit .300 at St. Louis High and .305 for the Aubuchons. He is 18, also a football letter winner.

LaSalle Baptists Win Intermediate Title

LaSalle trounced Water Tower, 9-3, last night at Forest Park to gain the Baptist Softball League's intermediate championship. LaSalle, which lost the first game of the playoffs to Water Tower, came back to win the next two.

The Baptist Senior All-Stars nosed out Missouri Pacific, 7-6, following the intermediate contest.

Elmer Pfautch Dies; Former Sandlotter

Elmer (Lefty) Pfautch, who played sandlot ball as a first baseman and outfielder in the DeMolay League and with the old National Sporting Goods traveling teams in the 1930s, died Sunday at the age of 46. He resided at 9327 Aster. The funeral will be from Ziengenhein's, 7027 Gravois avenue, at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Judy Torluemke Shoots 92 in Junior Tourney

TOLEDO O., Aug. 28 (AP)—Husky Mary Mills, 16-year-old Gulfport, Miss., high school pupil, shot 37-37—74 to win medal honors by four strokes in the eighth annual U.S. Golf Association's girls' junior championship.

The qualifier drew 58 competitors—14 fewer than last year—and the 32 low scorers will play their opening round of match play tomorrow. There are two more rounds Wednesday, semifinals Thursday and 18-hole finals Friday.

The Heather Downs Country Club course, over the shortened distance for the girls, has a par of 37-36—73. A score of 90 was needed to qualify today, and seven players at that total played off for six match play spots. Lynda Taylor of Pittsford, N.Y., lost out in the second extra hole.

Youngest player in the competition was 11-year-old Judith Torluemke of St. Louis The freckled, 63-pound national peewee champ who has been golfing since she was 6 years old, shot 46-46—92 and failed to qualify.

St. Ambrose Opposes St. Engelbert Softball Team Tonight at Fox

Defending champion St. Ambrose plays St. Engelbert tonight at 9 o'clock at Fox Park, with the loser facing elimination from the C.Y.C. senior men's softball two-losses-and-out meet. The winner will oppose St. Agatha in the title round Thursday at 9 p.m.

Frank Borghi, who had been carried off on the shoulders of Brazilians after starring in the United States team's big 1-0 upset victory over England in the world soccer tournament, missed a chance to receive more hero treatment in the 3-2 loss to St. Agatha.

After St. Agatha had gone ahead in the third extra inning, the tenth, on Bernie Tighe's homer, Borghi of St. Ambrose whacked a towering drive over the centerfielder's head, but was nailed at the plate on his try for a home run. St. Engelbert eliminated St. Pius, 3-2.

Bilko Hits His 51st Homer in Coast Loop

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 28 (UP)—Steve Bilko hit his 51st home run of the season last night as the league-leading Los Angeles Angels edged Portland, 5-4, in the only game played in the Pacific Coast League.

The bulky first baseman's first inning swat moved him within nine homers of the league record established in 1925 by the late Tony Lazzeri.

However, the hero of the Angel victory was Pitcher Bob Thorpe, who connected for three hits—including a three-run double—in three trips to the plate.

State Softball Title Tourney Opens Friday

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 28 (AP)—Pairings were announced last night for the twenty-third annual men's State softball tournament. It marks the ninth time the event has been held in St. Joseph. A total of 22 teams are entered.

The tournament officially opens Friday evening at 7:30 when King City plays the Gower American Legion, while the S. & M. Athletics of St. Joseph will meet the Pattonsburg Merchants.

The double-elimination meet will be completed next Monday.

Good Counsel Sets Two New Pacing Marks

Good Counsel's time of 1:58 1-5 for a mile in the first heat of the $7481 Breeders Filly Stake yesterday broke all records for two-year-old harness horses. A 10-length victor in this heat, Good Counsel took the second dash of the race for two-year-old pacers in 2:00 2-5.

The two-heat clocking of 3:58 3-5 broke the world record for that category. Frank Irvin was in the sulky.

Cassin Hanover, owned by Mrs. Charlotte Sheppard of Hanover, Pa., and driven by Fred Egan, won the $7673 Breeders Filly Stake for two-year old trotters with times of 2:05 and 2:05 4-5.

The previous record for a two-year-old was 1:58 3-5 set by Adois Boy in a time trial three years ago. Good Counsel also broke the mark for pacing fillies which was 1:58 4-5 in a time trial in 1953 by Adois Betty, the filly race record of 2:00 4-5 by Floating Dream and the track record of 1:59 by Dudley Hanover three years ago.

Stockham, Walloped by St. Paul, Must Win Tonight or It's All Over

Maywood Again Is Opponent

By John J. Archibald
of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Aug. 28—That old law of averages can be evaded for quite a while sometimes but when it gangs up on you from three sides you just have to go down—as the Stockhams did last night, 16 to 4.

The defeat in the American Legion junior baseball sectional tournament puts all three teams on an equal basis with 1-and-1 records. Stockham will take on Maywood, Ill., tonight, with Bob Miller the probable pitcher for St. Louis. The loser will be eliminated and the winner will play St. Paul in a final game tomorrow night.

Averages Catch Up.

In the last seven games against some of the best Legion teams in the Midwest, Stockham hurlers had not allowed more than three runs in any contest and had averaged 1.57—counting both earned and unearned runs.

And the North End team, which has won the Minnesota state Legion title six out of the last seven years, had lost all five of the games it had played in sectional tournaments—starting with a defeat by Stockham in 1950.

Thus, when St. Paul busted loose with four hits and three runs against Edwards in the first inning last night and turned the game into a rout by scoring four more in the seventh and six in the eighth, Al Grosch's club could only figure that perhaps it was inevitable.

Not that the St. Louisans didn't put up a struggle. Though held hitless for three innings by Righthander Keith Krzyzaniak and trailing 7-0 after four, the Stockhams hung in and fought stubbornly to get back in the ball game.

Smart Play by Sweeney.

In the fifth, with Alan Gevers on third as the result of an error and Ollie Sweeney on second after his hit, Bob Hardcastle bounced toward short. Sweeney watched the ball coming toward him, stopped just in front of the shortstop until the ball was about to hit him so as to block the fielder's vision, then raced on as the ball skipped through. The clever play was worth two runs for Stockham. But the need was for wholesale scoring and Grosch's club couldn't manage that against Krzyzaniak, St. Paul's No. 1 pitcher, who had been held back just for them.

Stockham had 11 hits in all, three of them by Catcher Jerry Nauert.

St. Paul, however, had 19 hits. Edwards left in the third after allowing six hits and six runs. Joe Hendricks relieved but he was slugged for 11 more hits.

With two out in the eighth, Grosch gave Rightfielder Fred Schueler his first opportunity to pitch. Schueler did well, allowing one hit and no runs. The husky lefthander recently had been working out on the mound.

Tonight it will be Maywood, which was beaten 11-1 by Stockham on Saturday, against a club which was just beaten, 16-4.

27-Inning Corkball Game.

Race Horse Dies.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Aug. 28 (AP)—Camarero, the race horse holding the world record for the most consecutive victories, died here last night. The 5-year-old colt won 72 out of 76 races, including 56 in a row. He won his last race Sunday. Camarero was owned by two brothers, Jose and Juan Vidal of San Juan.

Canadian Boat Scores Victory In Trophy Race

DETROIT, Aug. 28 (UP)—Canadian challenger Miss Supertest cruised to an easy victory in the second heat of the Harmsworth Trophy race yesterday when the Shanty's engine conked out while the American defender appeared headed for a repeat victory.

The third and deciding heat will be held today on the Detroit river course.

But Schleeh, a record-breaking jet pilot on leave from the United States Strategic Air Command, whipped past the Canadian challenger with an impressive burst of speed even before the two boats went into the first turn.

Shanty, leaving little doubt that it was the faster boat, set a new Harmsworth lap record of 110.357 miles an hour in its first swing around the twisting five-mile course. It erased the old lap record of 102.676 m.p.h. set in 1950 by Slo-Mo-Shun IV.

Shanty, after breezing by the Canadian challenger, made it look as though it was going to be last Saturday all over again as it pulled steadily ahead. Schleeh enjoyed a lead of at least a mile at the one lap mark.

But that was about it for Shanty, owned by William Waggoner of Vernon, Tex., and racing under the colors of Seattle Yacht Club. As it headed into the next turn, Shanty's engine appeared to go dead. Schleeh climbed out and boarded one of the small craft patroling the course.

Supertest, plagued by mechanical difficulties through the past week, took it easy after the American defender was taken in tow. Bill Braden of Hamilton, Ont., pilot of the challenger, turned the first lap at 93.703 m.p.h., a slow pace when compared with Shanty's record-shattering spin.

On the next lap, Braden slowed to an average of only a little better than 90 miles an hour. After that he dropped into the 80s. Miss Supertest's average speed for the 35-mile race was 83.258 m.p.h.

Luedee Kayoes Provizzi; Boxes McAteer Next

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (UP)—Jerry Luedee of New Haven, Conn., slugging tree surgeon who used the axe on Bob Provizzi last night, will meet Pat McAteer of England, British Empire middleweight champion, in another TV 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena, Sept. 17.

Brooklyn Bob's hit-and-run tactics did well in the early rounds, but Luedee began to find the range in the fourth.

The paid attendance at St. Nick's was 1223; the gate, $2500.

Robinson Changes Mind; He'll Fight for the I.B.C. After All

Truman Gibson, secretary of the I.B.C., said Robinson would be contacted in New York today after learning that Sugar Ray had capitulated to I.B.C. President Jim Norris.

Robinson two weeks ago said he was through with Norris and the I.B.C. because he couldn't get enough money from them but yesterday announced "I'm ready, willing and able to defend my title on Sept. 25 or a later date at Yankee Stadium."

Robinson had demanded 47½ per cent of the net plus 60 per cent of all money received from theater or home television with a guarantee of $60,000.

Joe Glaser, Robinson's business adviser, said yesterday he had a long and cordial talk with Norris before he left for Chicago and "I think we can say definitely that Sugar Ray will fight for the I.B.C."

Norris and Gibson arrived in Chicago not knowing of Robinson's decision.

"Robinson's decision is news to us," said Gibson upon arrival in Chicago. "Jim and I had talked about it on our way to Chicago and now we'll make it a point to negotiate with Glaser tomorrow (Tuesday)."

Gibson said Glaser had contacted Norris after Norris had given Robinson a deadline to accept "our offer." Gibson added that Norris explained to Glaser an arrangement to sell the fight to home television sponsors.

"Glaser told Norris he'd have to talk to Robinson first," said Gibson, "but we left New York before knowing what they had decided. We don't know what the definite proposition will be but in view of Robinson's decision we'll contact him Tuesday and make arrangements for the fight."

State Tourney Entrants Add Batterymen for Title Event

By Neal Russo

Each team in the state tournament of the American Amateur Baseball Congress here over the weekend will be permitted to add three batterymen, Erwin Knueppe, Missouri president, announced.

The extra men may pinch-hit or pinch-run, but in the field they will be restricted to pitching or catching, Knueppe pointed out. They must be picked from other teams in the same league.

Carondelet Sunday Morning Club No. 1, which qualified for the meet by repeating as Muny South Side League champion, has taken on Pitchers Mel Anderson and Joe McDonnell from the Kimacks and Catcher Larry Smith, also of the Kimacks.

Borbein-Young's pickups include Pitchers Vic Caradonna and Bob Loddeke and Catcher Marion Kowalewski, all of Union Printers. The Red Villas have chosen only Bob Boehlow, Hoffmeisters' pitcher.

The entire one-loss-and-out tourney will be played at Fairground No. 1 Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Other teams entered are St. Pius and Holy Rosary of the C.Y.C., Wilson Aces, and the Jefferson City G.B. Redbirds.

One Team Goes Out.

The Muny playoffs resume tomorrow with two night games at 8 o'clock. Kutis North and Borbein-Young meet at Fairground Park No. 1 and Carondelet Sunday Morning Club No. 2 opposes the Jokers A.C. at Carondelet Park. The loser of the Carondelet game will be eliminated.

Jules Faron and Ron Schuettenberg, veteran righthanders, have been showing flashes of their old form in the County League. Each gained a 2-1 victory in his latest start. Faron of Creve Coeur (American Division) held Twin City to four hits in a 10-inning battle and Schuettenberg of Florissant allowed five hits as he outpitched Gene Wahlig and Bob Cooper and knocked Webster out of first place.

Heavy hitting keeps Holy Innocents rolling in the C.Y.C. Crusader division playoffs. In the 19-8 triumph over Holy Family, Jim Prow hit two homers and Frank Nolte one.

In a snappy seven-inning game that took only one hour, 20 minutes, St. Jerome advanced in midget play with a 5-3 victory over Epiphany. Tom Meiners homered for Epiphany.

Miss Rose Bender, who was struck on the face by a line-drive foul in a Muny playoff at Fairground Park Friday night, suffered a broken cheekbone. She is the fiancee of Walt Hasselbring, Villa's pitcher.

Jockey Longden Closes In on Richards' Mark

DEL MAR, Calif., Aug. 28 (AP)—Jockey Johnny Longden brought in two more winners at Del Mar, including Swirling Abbey in the featured California Breeders' Sales Stakes, yesterday.

The veteran jockey now has 4860 victories for his career and is only 10 behind the world's record of 4870 held by England's Sir Gordon Richards.

Swirling Abbey broke seventh, quickly moved into the pace-forcing role, and got up in the last stride to gain a nose victory over Call Hy. High Drawer was third.

Documentary Drama Is Hard to Produce

By John Crosby

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.

TRUTH is not always stranger than fiction; sometimes, it's a good deal more hackneyed, Bob Costello, producer of Armstrong Theater, has discovered. Armstrong had been on the air for five years with a rather run - of - the - mill drama show when they decided to deal exclusively in documentary-type dramas. This approach, which has been conspicuously successful, is now getting close to its first anniversary, which makes Armstrong's problem no easier.

JOHN CROSBY

The idea is to find stories that are not too strange to be plausible or, on the other hand, stories that don't sound like they come straight out of soap opera—you'd be surprised how many do. For instance, Armstrong was once working on an Army vs. civilian story. Soldiers from a new air base had moved in on a town; soldiers and civilians hating each other until one of the soldiers married the mayor's daughter, then everyone got along fine. Well, that's what actually happened, but it sounded like pure B-picture, and had to be abandoned.

ANOTHER STORY, which was not abandoned, was about a war orphan, seemingly reunited with his family in this country. The kid turned out to be the wrong war orphan and the lad faced deportation to Yugoslavia until a special act of Congress (which the Armstrong drama helped pass) made him a citizen of this country. Well, the right war orphan and the wrong one had different color eyes and how did all those agencies which check up on such things manage to miss something so obvious? But they did. The authors got around that by just not mentioning it.

Just because the story is a good one doesn't mean it will fit the requirements of TV drama. Costello and his associate producer and editor, Jacqueline Babbin, like their stories to be fairly contemporary. The Korean war, for instance, they consider too old now. Some good true stories have villains—and that means the villains have to consent to be cast in that role, and most of them won't. The story has to fit in an hour with time for commercials. All things considered, it isn't easy.

OCCASIONALLY, A STORY comes along that's just too good to be true. The Armstrong crowd ran across a picture story in Life magazine like that. A Life photographer on the east-west border of Berlin saw a little boy picked up by East German police for just putting his foot across the line. The sight haunted the photographer and soon he was on a search for the family, which ended with the reuniting of boy and family in West Berlin.

However, stories like that don't fall into their laps. Armstrong now uses quite a few of what they call "composites." These are several separate stories pieced into one. For instance, the story of a couple adopting a child contained the experiences of two or three couples, in order to make it more representative of the adoption problem.

ANOTHER PROBLEM is point of view. When you are dealing in a true story, no two people see it quite the same way and the problem is whose point of view to accept. Armstrong tries to avoid advocating anyone's point of view, and also doesn't like to preach.

For a long time, Armstrong searched for a good prison story. No individual prison story seemed quite right and a general story on prisons was much too large and unwieldly. Finally, they stumbled on a story about a work detail of convicts who had grown accustomed to seeing a very pregnant woman near the site of their work day after day. One day, after a heavy snowfall, they noticed she wasn't there. Alarmed, they decided that something was wrong. And something was. In fact, the prisoners saved her life.

WHEN THEY STARTED lining up stories for their second year, Costello and Miss Babbin had occasional tremors of fear that they had already done all the "actuals" that were of interest. Then along came the Andrea Doria story and the Chicaga polio epidemic, both of them excellent grist for the mill. News never stops happening.

You might say there's a small trend in the direction of the documentary drama. The Robert Montgomery show will do more and more true stories next year. The truth not only has more impact, but frequently more originality and flavor than fiction. One of television's greatest successes last season was "A Night to Remember," the story of the sinking Titanic, and I doubt that it would have packed half the wallop if it hadn't been true.

He's Hollywood's No. 1 Swoon Boy

William Holden, Happily Married 15 Years, Is Women's New Movie Idol

By Sheilah Graham

HOLLYWOOD.

FOR years William Holden went along minding his own affairs and leaving the love stuff to Gable, Peck and Cooper. All of a sudden he's on the sunny side of 40 and women all over the world are naming him the No. 1 swoon boy.

Bill isn't sure he likes it. In fact when I started chatting about it he asked, "What was wrong with the old Holden?"

But whether he likes it or not, we have a new boy in Hollywood, a romantic rogue who is arousing female fans from here to Hong Kong. He's a new lover with a special something that most women can't resist.

And producers, being generally wise in spite of the brickbats, have made the most of it. At present the skirted set—teen-ager to elderly matron—is viewing William in "Love is a Many Splendored Thing," "Picnic" and Paramount's "The Proud and the Profane," in which Bill teams with Deborah Kerr in a torrid romance that clinches his place as the biggest heart-throbber in town. Perlberg-Seaton put a mustache on him, cropped his hair and presto!

It was "Sunset Boulevard" that kicked Bill's career off the ground, and in 1953, "Stalag 17" won him an Oscar. But I think it was the controversial "The Moon is Blue" that proved Bill could command the swoon group. All the engaging Holden charm and personality came out in a single package. Probably the most professional of all pros, Bill is a trifle nonplused over his present envious position. He said, "You know, to me acting is just a job. Each picture is a separate business enterprise."

Oddly enough, Bill has reached the swoon king stage without involving his private life. He's one of the few big stars who can boast of only one marriage. He and Ardis (Brenda Marshall) have been married since 1941, and there hasn't been a breath of scandal or even a gossip item, about their home life.

Sometimes writers complain he's dull. A few months ago, a reporter doing a magazine profile searched high and low for a sensational paragraph on Bill. He finally gave up, saying, "Isn't there anything interesting about Holden at home?"

BILL shelters his three children, and will brain any publicity man who gets them involved with his career. "It's the one thing that could make me quit acting," he said.

Bill is very civic-minded and until recently was park commissioner in his community in the San Fernando valley. Several weeks ago, he made one of his infrequent TV appearances to help dedicate a youth center, a project he's deeply interested in.

Now Bill is excited over his new company, Toluca Enterprises. He'll do movies, TV pictures and has a music publishing firm. "I may not be the busiest actor in Hollywood, but I'm not far off," he said.

One of Bill's current peeves is "the acting schools that load newcomers with a lot of nonsense under the guise of 'realism.' Sometimes I think that sort of school is run by a combination of Salvador Dali and Jean Paul Sartre, instead of by a professional actor. Creative acting is different from creating painting or writing. It's really impersonation of human beings and you can experiment so far, then you cease to be believable."

WARMING up, Bill teed off on the youngsters who attempt to stylize themselves in the footsteps of a successful actor. He used Marlon Brando as an example. "What they mistakenly call Brando's style is actually Brando, and probably would fit only one man—Brando himself. I'm grateful no one tried to make me a copy of Gary Cooper or Clark Gable when I was going to Pasadena Playhouse. I might have been playing bit parts today, or selling insurance."

He is always amazed when two or more of the "style school" graduates get together on a set.

"They start talking about things I can't understand. How to project themselves, or the proper way to show the inner struggle of the character they're portraying. Oddly enough, the character they are playing maybe has five lines of dialogue, and the director already has decided the projection he wants."

I asked whether or not this so-called "new style" of acting isn't really an offshoot of the various forms of modern art.

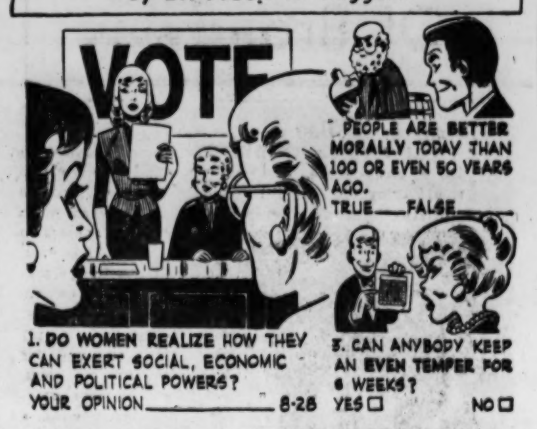

"Maybe so," Bill answered, "but I hope I'm not around the day the public wants cubism, realism or surrealism, mixed in with what I think of as plain old acting."

As a producer as well as an actor, the question came up as to whether he'd hire any "stylized" students. Bill grinned. "If they can forget their style in 10 seconds flat and let the script and director guide them, sure I'll hire them if they're good."

This combination of actor, great screen lover, ideal husband and father, and energetic business man doesn't come along too often, but neither do persons like Bill Holden.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By Dr. Albert E. Wiggam

Answer to Question 1.

I DOUBT it, and neither did I realize it until I read about a woman in a Midwestern town. She knows about 50 persons and divides their names among close friends. When some issue comes up for bettering the town, each of her 10 friends phones five members on the list. These, in turn, phone five more friends. Within 24 hours they have 5000 or 6000 organized workers for putting over their plans. Gosh, girls, clean up your town and make shysters take to the woods before morning.

Answer to Question 2.

True. Woodrow Wilson said in his "History of the American People," that as late as 1840 (probably later) when a clergyman was ordained, the church members drank enough liquor (brewed by the women) to start a saloon. They had to appoint one visiting minister who would remain sober long enough to perform the "ordination" ceremony in the service of the Lord. Schools, colleges, welfare organizations have multiplied by the thousands, and a man today who does not belong to some cause for human betterment is almost a social outcast.

Answer to Question 3.

No. About the thirtieth day he wakes up unaccountably irritable. His morning cigarette tastes bad; his drink, if he takes one depresses him. Little things go wrong at the office. By the next day, things he didn't notice before get him hot and bothered. Bad news distresses him, and good news doesn't uplift him. This goes on from three to five days. Dr. Rexford Hersey has shown in his book, "Zest for Work," that no one can escape these periods.

Test yourself and find the cause and cure in "Solving Personal Problems," a non-profit booklet available from Dr. A. E. Wiggam at the Post-Dispatch. Inclose 15 cents, coin only, and stamped, fully addressed reply envelope.

Fitted Foundations

UNLESS "BARGAIN" FOUNDATION GARMENT IS PERFECT FOR FIGURE, IT IS NO BARGAIN.

ALREADY you have looked yourself over and decided what you can do to improve yourself for the new season ahead. Maybe you know that you have to lose weight. That's going to take time with diet and exercise combined. But in the meantime you can make your new clothes look better and even fool the public a little by selecting a new girdle and bra, or an all-in-one foundation.

Be sure you try it on and have it fitted to you and your figure type. You have no idea, until you do this, what a difference the proper, well-fitted foundation can do for your entire appearance. Watch the length, remembering that girdles are made from 10 to at least 17 inches. One inch more or less can make a whalebone of a difference in comfort, beauty, and health.

Don't just pick up something that is a bargain on a counter. Unless it is perfect for your figure, it is no bargain. Select what you need and have it properly fitted. The greatest mistake a number of women make is not taking the time or trouble to have their foundation garments—bra as well as girdle—fitted. When the figure is well and comfortably fitted, the wearer moves with better body balance.

When you find a girdle that improves your figure and seems to be comfortable, try sitting in it. See that you can move comfortably and take a good deep breath. When you are seated in a new girdle, see that the garment is sufficiently long to prevent a roll of flesh from developing at either waist or thighs. When you bend over, ask yourself, "Does the garment curve with my body?" If it wrinkles or rides up, it is not correctly fitted.

Figured for You, gives expert detailed instructions and illustrates how to select foundation garments that provide comeliness, control and healthful comfort for your individual type of figure. Send 10 cents in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope to Secrets of Charm in care of the Post-Dispatch.

Floor Tile

A good deal of grief has been caused by people installing floor tile before the adhesive on the floor was properly set. If the adhesive sticks to your finger when pressed into it, it's still too wet for the tile. Give it a few more hours or even a day. Tile adhesive that has been on the floor for a day or so is still okay to set tile into.

Kitchen Warning

One Reason Teen-Agers Are Bored

By Ruth Millett

"IN this country we are producing a person who ceases to ask what he can do and asks more and more where he can go. We have substituted 'something to watch' or 'someplace to go' for 'something to do.'"

The man who recently made that observation is Dr. Henry Bowman, one of the country's well-known sociologists. He was speaking of the needs of young people.

Anyone who has any real contact at all with today's adolescents must be appalled at how many of them lack any real interests and ambitions.

All too often, they express their restlessness and dissatisfaction by jumping into cars and riding from place to place. They get together in gangs with no ideas of what they want to do or plan to do. Many have no ideas at all about working for the things they want or doing anything constructive.

All too many of them feel their parents owe them everything they want and that nothing in the world matters but doing exactly what they want to do.

They are growing up in a world where the trend is to give teen-agers more and more and to ask less and less of them.

They have been set aside in a teen-age world instead of being taken into the family as responsible, contributing members.

They get what they want without effort on their part. Consequently, they are quickly bored with what they have and are constantly demanding something new.

They have learned the magic of the words "everybody else does such and such." They use them as a club over the heads of their parents who all too often don't have the gumption to come back with, "That's not the way it is going to be in OUR family."

Isn't it about time we parents started to help our children discover something to do instead of indulging them in the easier answer—finding something to watch or some place to go?

Beauty After 40

By Edyth Thornton McLeod

"HOW should I dress? I am in doubt as I have white hair, blue eyes and am very small, barely five feet. All my life I have been called cute and I dress in a pretty babyish fashion. At 50 I feel foolish. I am a busy civic-minded housewife and grandmother. —J.E."

You should change your type of dressing. Beautiful fabrics cut on very simple lines and worn with pretty hats should be your angle on fashion. If you wear prints, choose those with the smallest dots and tiny geometric designs. Don't attempt to look taller, just be your diminutive type. Wear high heels because they give you poise but not to make you look taller.

"What 'neutral' shade in nail polish can I use? I do not like bright shades. I am 57, silver gray hair. I use only conservative rose-red lipstick. —Mrs. CLARA B."

Why not use the attractive silver iridescent polish. It is in good taste and most attractive. Then there will be no conflict with your lipstick.

A SMALL BOY invaded a big store's lingerie section and shyly presented his problem to a woman clerk. "I want to buy mom a surprise present of a slip," he said, "but I forgot what size she wears." The clerk said, "It would help to know if your mom is tall or short, fat or skinny."

"She's just perfect!" beamed the small boy, so the clerk wrapped up a size 34 for him.

Two days later, mom came to the store herself and changed it to a 52.

Young Vandals

By Amy Vanderbilt

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: I live in a community where children cause nothing but trouble, such as wrecking plants and trees, swinging on washlines and breaking them, soiling freshly laundered clothes with sticks dipped in mud or dirt, scattering refuse all over the street, throwing stones, smashing bottles, shooting arrows through open windows, running up and down fire escapes and private stairs, hammering on apartment doors—to name only a few of their so-called antics.

AMY VANDERBILT

"If said children are told to go home, their language is enough to make an old trooper blush. It appears that these young vandals are not allowed to wreck things in their own homes or yards.

"Whom can we blame the most? Certainly not the children. Perhaps our increasing crime can be traced to such backyard barbarism. —Mrs. S. M., Harrisburg, Pa."

IN EVERY COMMUNITY there are always a few children, probably emotionally troubled, who are destructive and defiant. When they "can't get away with it at home," they take it out on the neighbors.

Such children love to create an enemy, and the property owners who become greatly upset over certain children's running across their lawns, etc., find that they are soon a target for all kinds of annoyances by the wilder element among the neighborhood children.

Before complaining to the child's family about such conduct—or in dire circumstances, the police—it is well, if possible, to try to make a friend of the child or children. This is not best done by pleading or recriminations. It is often done by a firm and simple statement of fact.

For example, "Boys, it took me all morning to wash these sheets. Now you have dirtied them and they will have to be washed all over again. I could go to your mothers about this, but I don't want to. I think if you understand from me the inconvenience and extra work you have caused me, you won't let this happen again. I don't see why we can't settle this between ourselves without my getting you in trouble with your parents."

A FRIENDLY GESTURE to a difficult child on the part of a property owner who has suffered abuses from him may turn him into a friend who will prevent the gang from inflicting any further harm.

Various community projects—the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls and the "Y"—can help to drain off these aggressions in children so that they are not taken out on the community.

Where real malicious mischief persists among a few children, it is often more effective to enlist the assistance of the school, rather than of the parents, who may be too involved emotionally to deal well with the problem.

Many schools now have child psychologists to assist with such difficulties, for they can make psychiatric aid available to seriously troubled youngsters who are causing community problems.

Make Your House Safe for Babies

Eliminating Potential Danger Spots Is Not Enough—Practical Lessons Also Necessary

By Harry F. Dietrich, M.D., and Sidonie M. Gruenberg

Accidents take the lives of more children than the deadliest diseases of childhood. Yet most parents worry about sickness, pay too little attention to preventing accidents. Here two experts in child welfare give advice to parents on stopping accidents. This is the third and last installment from "Your Child's Safety," published by the Public Affairs Committee, New York.

AS SOON AS THE CHILD CAN SIT UP, LEAN OVER, REACH AND PROPEL HIMSELF IN ANY DIRECTION HE ENCOUNTERS DANGER AS SURELY AS THE CHICK OUT OF THE EGG.

THE BABY is safe in his crib or carriage only through the first helpless months of infancy. As soon as he can sit up, lean over, reach and propel himself in any direction he encounters danger as surely as the chick out of the egg.

He will lean out of his carriage to look after a fallen toy and he will fall out unless he is held back by a safety harness. He will crawl or climb into dangerous places and pull dangerous objects to him.

The carriage harness, the high chair (or low chair), the play pen are invaluable aids to safety. It is almost impossible to imagine how the mother of a healthy, active baby could get along without them.

But it is also important for parents to recognize that these are all forms of physical restraint, and that parents must exercise some judgment in using them.

For the child old enough to place on the floor, the parent's problem is enlarged. The child still has to be confined, but in his pen he can move about. He must have things to play with.

He must be able to reach out for toys that have fallen out of his fort. But there must be a zone of safety from which he cannot drag to himself foreign objects or a dangling tablecloth.

The child in the play pen is safe, but he will not stay there contentedly if he is not also happy. When mother places her child in the play pen or the fenced-in yard she needs to ask herself certain questions.

How often does she put him there and for how long at a time? Has he merely a haphazard jumble of too many toys, or something to do that is interesting to him?

Children can be lonesome too. Is he left alone for long periods or does mother leave her washing machine once in a while to visit with him?

As the child begins to crawl and walk, his area of freedom—and of danger—expands. Then parents have to consider the possibilities of the entire house. Certain general rules should almost be taken for granted.

For example: bars on window, gates on stairs, tools and utensils and sharp or pointed objects like knives and forks and shears and sewing gear out of reach, floors and the lower shelves, tables, chairs and stools have to be watched.

And as the child grows in size and mobility, parents have to revise their sense of security by surveying the possibilites opened up by the child's development.

The dangers change as the child grows older. A house that is safe for the infant confined to his crib or carriage is not necessarily safe for the baby learning to crawl and to pull himself to his feet, or for the toddler who climbs and reaches, or for the curious preschooler who wants to experiment with adult's tools and to perform grownup tasks.

Just as parents think ahead to the larger shoe sizes and more advanced playthings their boy or girl will soon need, parents must think ahead to the new activities the youngsters will soon attempt.

The safe home is the home in which the parents keep ahead of their children's growth and interests, and who provide accordingly safe space and safe equipment for them, while they plan and rearrange and eliminate as many hazards as possible from the child's path.

Not all hazards can be removed, of course. The toddler learns to avoid tables and dressers and chairs; and he learns presently to avoid smaller objects on the floor, most of which he may himself have strewn about.

Here the parents can be helpful by reducing the danger spots as far as possible. But there is a limit, for some danger spots are permanent fixtures in our homes. And these the child must learn to recognize as such, with the parents' help.

A LITTLE child cannot know that a knife is dangerous until it cuts him, or that a fire or an electric outlet is dangerous until it burns him.

But he must have learned that Mother and Father are there to make him happy, to give him food and other things he likes, to play with him and amuse him. He likes them, he trusts them. This knowledge he has learned not from the words they have spoken but from the way they have behaved toward him.

It is in the same way that he can learn that the parents are there to keep him safe. He learns from the way mother or father behaves about that fascinating hole in the wall in contrast to the way they behave about the many things that have been permitted him.

When the little boy is about to put his finger into the electric outlet, she lifts him away and gently says to him, "No. no!"

But she takes him to the wall switch and helps him to press it and shows him the light that goes on. She is teaching him, "You must not do that, but you may do this."

She is giving him an alternative satisfaction for his curiosity, as fascinating as the forbidden one. Indeed, some children may learn that in order to put the light on he must first crawl to the outlet and wait for his mother to lift him to the switch.

But most children will get the lesson more directly, without waiting for further lessons on electricity. The wise parent will supplement the safety lesson with a cheap precaution by buying safety dummy plugs for each exposed outlet within baby's reach.

By the time the child is ready for school, he is usually ready to take over some measure of responsibility for his own safety.

Last-minute cautions, however, are not the most effective aid to him. The experience and teaching he has had through toddler days and his relationship with his parents will be his chief guides in taking care of himself.

Parents who have patiently educated their children for safety from the beginning have prepared them for many new situations they will meet when they are on their own.

The kindergartner is generally taken to school by an adult or older child. The child's readiness to cross streets by himself is an individual matter and one of traffic conditions. But most children are not given this responsibility until they are past the age of five, then only when conditions are favorable, and they have demonstrated their ability to watch lights, look to left and right, and take notice of cars turning a corner into the street. For most children, awareness of cars turning usually comes considerably later.

From three years on, the child can be taught to watch the light changing. Soon he can play at leading Mommy or Daddy across the street when the signal is green.

Eventually he can be watched by an adult remaining on the sidewalk while he makes the crossing alone. When there are no lights or traffic officers, the child's responsibility is, of course, considerably greater and he will need longer supervision.

Children in an automobile age need to learn very early that there is danger in the street. A young child can be taught to be cautious without being frightened. His mother says, "Cars are big and can hurt you." She says this in a reassuring tone, holding his hand firmly from curb to curb.

Still it is a long while before even a school child can be relied on not to run impulsively into the street after a ball or a playmate. Children are far safer playing elsewhere than in the street.

WHEN the child leaves the house for kindergarten or the playground, even when he is accompanied by an older person, it becomes obvious that the home cannot by itself insure the child's safety and still let him grow. Every community is responsible for the safety of its children, and every adult member of the community bears this responsibility individually as well.

Drivers of cars and trucks are the most conspicuous example of this responsibility. The repairman who is not watchful of his tools or his unfinished repair work; the householder who is careless with his rubbish, especially tin cans and broken glass; the farmer who leaves a well or cistern uncovered—all are endangering children.

Excavations, trenches, buildings going up or coming down offer serious hazards. In one community a trench left open for a concrete foundation to harden tempted four boys between nine and 11 years old to dig a tunnel: tons of dirt, piled by the workmen on the edge of the trench, fell in on them, killing two of the boys and injuring the other two severely. There is no reason why a community cannot require a contractor by law to keep a watchman at a building, remodeling, or wrecking site.

Most adults are parents, and as parents they have the deepest motives for making the community safe for their children. In many towns, parents have been the moving force behind safety measures, such as the extra traffic light or a policeman at a dangerous crossing.

OUR children learn safety every day in their play. As they become ready to go out alone on skates and bicycles, they are taking new and significant steps in learning to take care of themselves. At each new stage, parents can expect them to show their good judgment and competence before they are allowed the freedom they want.

A boy or girl who wants to ride a two-wheeler on busy streets or highway needs to know the traffic regulations virtually as though he were driving a car.

Parents are most effective in teaching safety to their older boys and girls, in these new situations, when they know their children as individuals. As with young children, some take directions more readily than others.

One child is more aggressive, another more timid. One needs restraint, another encouragement. Some need supervision for a long time while others show early that they can be relied upon to look after themselves.

The aim is not to turn the child over to his own devices, ready or not, nor to shelter him indefinitely, but to help him learn how to protect himself from harm.

Living in the modern world requires that we learn a great many skills. We must learn to handle tools and appliances, to walk through streets crowded with traffic, to ride in modern conveyances and to drive an automobile. We must learn to use fire, electricity, and other powerful servants of twentieth century man.

How successfully each of us avoids accidental injury or death depends to some extent on others, but each person's safety is, in the end, his own concern. The childhood years are the time for learning the skills, the judgment, and the attitudes that make for safety. We, the parents, are our children's teachers.

Show-Off Shelves

By Elizabeth Hillyer

PRIZED OBJECTS WITH THEIR OWN SPECIAL LIGHTING.

THAT prized collection of glass or china or favorite objects of art—give it the honored place it deserves and make it decorate the room. Feature it on wall shelves and give it its own special light.

One of the best ways is to design a cabinet with a cornice top deep enough to conceal long fluorescent tubing, then to place in it glass shelves which the light can filter through. The effect is striking, and every detail of every object can be seen.

Plan the depth of the shelves to suit the objects displayed, but a minimum of six inches of depth from the cornice to the back of the shelves is sufficient room for the fluorescent tubing, and the cornice should extend downward at least six inches.

Have the cabinet built with storage room behind doors below, and it adds usefulness as well as decoration to the room.

Elizabeth Hillyer's new booklet "What's Wrong With That Room?" gives a quick check list of room faults, and how to correct them. Sixteen questions are discussed to cover subjects from floors to ceilings. Write to Miss Hillyer for your copy. Address her at the Post-Dispatch, and inclose 15 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope, with your request.

Have you an old wood-burning stove gathering dust in the storage room? Why not fit with wheels and a handle (a la wheelbarrow) and use as a barbecue stove.

Tips for Teens

By Elinor Williams

IF you've begun to have dates, this year, perhaps you'll want to check your movie manners like the girl who wrote this letter:

"I would like to know something about etiquette when going with a boy to a show. After the boy has bought the tickets, who enters the theater first? While watching the picture, if others come in, must the girl and boy stand up each time to let them through? When leaving your seats in the balcony, who goes down the aisle first?"

Answer—The rule, "Ladies First," is true when you go to a theater.

You, the girl, should enter the theater first. Your date should open the door for you and you precede him.

Inside, you precede him, following the usher down the aisle. If there's no usher, it's correct for the boy to go first to find seats, but this is the only time the boy goes ahead of the girl—unless he goes first when you leave your seats in the balcony in order to help you down the stairs.

When others enter or leave while you're seated, it's polite (and usually necessary!) for you to stand up to let them pass—unless you're in one of the theaters where there's plenty of room for them to pass while you're sitting down.

Remember, it's also good manners to be quiet in the theater, too.

Contract Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

THE great Mr. Champion cursed himself for bidding one spade on the first round of bidding in today's hand. Not that it was a bad bid, but it was highly questionable from the human standpoint.

Mr. Champion wished that he had bid three no trump and I agree with him. With Mr. Muzzy as a partner, why fool around with beautiful approach bids? From the North seat it looked like a no trump hand, so why not try to get the play?

But Mr. Champion spoke too quickly and when the bidding came around to Mr. Muzzy, he got the no trump call in first.

As a matter of fact, this particular hand was a hard one to mess up, even for Mr. Muzzy, but he found a way.

The six of diamonds was opened and all he had to do was to duck the first trick. However, the contract looked easy to him and he went right up with dummy's ace. Here Miss Brash started the key defensive play which eventually brought about the defeat of the hand.

Using the rule of 11 (deducting the number of the card led from 11), she found there were five diamonds higher than the six spot outside of Mr. Abel's hand. So she dropped the jack on the first trick and awaited developments.

At trick two Mr. Muzzy led dummy's jack of clubs and let it ride. Mr. Abel won with the king and returned the four of diamonds. Mr. Muzzy, playing in a haze of unjustified optimism, won with dummy's king.

From Mr. Abel's play of the four spot, Miss Brash knew he had started with five diamonds and therefore Mr. Muzzy had only one left. So she played the queen to avoid blocking the suit.

This convinced Mr. Muzzy that she was now out of diamonds. His only remaining fear was that the ace of hearts was in Mr. Abel's hand. He led a small heart to the jack at the next trick and was overjoyed when it was Miss Brash who won.

But Miss Brash calmly produced the five of diamonds and her partner ran off three more tricks.

Summer Season Ends For Douglas Visitors

By Dorothy Garesche Holland

DOUGLAS, Mich., Aug. 28.

THE end of the summer is so near that everyone is trying to crowd in as much fun as possible before loading the car with bags, golf clubs, tennis racquets, the family dog and the inevitable jars of shells the youngsters love to collect. Small boys dash off for a final trek up Mount Baldhead, the steep sand hill between Lake Michigan and the Kalamazoo river, so beloved of would-be-mountain climbers. Youthful anglers can scarcely be induced to come home for meals as "the fish are really biting now." And of course the grown-ups are trying hard for the lowest golf score of the season or setting out for a final tour of the antique shops.

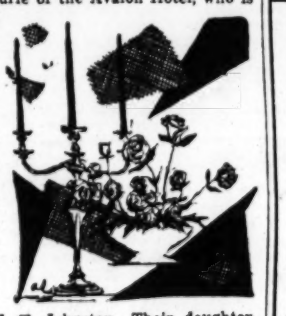

The Lake Shore Association held its annual Watermelon Festival Aug. 18, on the grounds of the Webster Corettes' home, formerly Five Acre farm. Mrs. Paul F. Ring was general chairman of the party which was a rousing success with about 100 adults and children enjoying the fun and dignified doctors and professors in kitchen aprons cutting and serving the watermelon. Although it was a cool evening a gorgeous backdrop for the festivities was provided by an overwhelming flame and turquoise sunset. The Rings' daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John H. White, spent a few days here recently, accompanied by four of their children, Elizabeth, John, Paul and Matthew.

Among the new arrivals in Douglas is Mrs. Richard S. Hawes III who joined her four children who were staying with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hawes Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Eagleton and Miss Joan Macken are here for a week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Mark D. Eagleton Jr. Dr. Raymond La Driere spent a few days on the Lake Shore recently, joining the group on the beach the day everyone was surprised to see a destroyer come in and drop anchor near the Oval, the Saugtauck bathing beach. It appeared out of the fog and left just as suddenly the next morning.

St. Louisans Hostesses at Luncheon.

TARA, popular restaurant in the village of Douglas, is always a favorite spot for parties and it was here that Mrs. William F. Benoist entertained guests at luncheon last Tuesday. Miss Ethel Burie of the Avalon Hotel, who is staying at Beachmont, and Miss Grace von Phul had a similar party Thursday and on Monday night, Aug. 20, Mrs. Frank D. Beardsley invited the group to an evening party. Earlier in the summer Mrs. Beardsley's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rodgers, stopped to see her on their way to Crystal Lake. The Beardsley cottage will be occupied during the last week of August by Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Johnston. Their daughter, Mrs. James Brant of Boston, will come with her young son to join her parents.

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Kinsella drove up from St. Louis last week with their youngest son and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. Peter Kinsella. Another St. Louis family spending the end of August on the Lake Shore are Mr. and Mrs. Vincent M. Flynn and their daughters, Elizabeth and Barbara, and son, Jerome. Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Cooney and their three children have also arrived for a few weeks of sunshine and relaxation.

Many families returned to St. Louis the middle of August, among them Mr. and Mrs. Diedrich F. Rixmann, their daughters, Judith and Susan, and son, Diedrich Jr. Others who have gone home include Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. von Brecht Jr. Last week the Von Brechts motored north to spend a few days at Mackinac Island, leaving their older daughter, Julie, in Charlevoix to visit Miss Marilyn Hichew. Miss Ruth Harris and Miss Dorothy Gorsuch also returned to St. Louis last week after a vacation here. Mrs. Laurence J. O'Neill has departed after visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Barron.

Spencer-Latta Wedding in Montana Today.

A LARGE group of St. Louisans is in Western Montana for the wedding this evening of Miss Carol Ann Latta and Tom Kerwin Spencer. The ceremony will take place at sunset at Kona Ranch, near Missoula, the home of Miss Latta's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thurman Latta, who until four years ago lived at 15 Oakleigh lane, Ladue. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Karl Page Spencer, 16 Dromara road, Ladue.

Bowls of yellow and white chrysanthemums and candelabra holding white tapers will be placed on the living room mantel and the fireplace will be screened with native greens as a backdrop for the ceremony. The Rev. Dr. Thomas W. Bennett of the Missoula Episcopal Church will officiate.

The bride is to wear a ballerina gown of eggshell silk taffeta, styled on princess lines and drawn to a bustle bow at back. Distinguishing the bateau neckline is a deep border of alencon lace embroidered with pearls. Miss Latta's veil will be worn with a taffeta coronet trimmed in pearls and she will carry a cascade of white odontoglossum orchids.

Emerald green crystallette over matching taffeta will be worn by the maid of honor, Miss Nancy Calvin of Newton, Ia., former classmate of the bride at Iowa State College, Ames, while the bride's cousin, Miss Sally Cameron Coultas of Kirkwood, who will be junior bridesmaid, will wear a similarly designed frock in nile green. Both young women are to carry bronze and yellow chrpsanthemums with accents of wheat, the honor attendant's in a cornucopia and the bridesmaid's in a basket.

Benjamin A. Bishop of St. Louis is to serve as best man and the bride's brother, Robert Allen Latta of Missoula, will be usher. Additional guests are invited for a reception after the wedding and will be greeted by Mrs. Latta in honey beige cotton lace trimmed in matching satin, and Mrs. Spencer in sage green lace and chiffon. Both will have corsages of orchids.

Guests from St. Louis include the Spencers' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Murphy (Joan Spencer); Mr. and Mrs. Dwight W. Coultas Jr., parents of the junior bridesmaid and uncle and aunt of the bride, with their son, Andrew Robbins Coultas; Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn A. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. William Rodiek Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood A. Rothaus, with their daughters, Joan and Carol. From Phoenix, Ariz., came Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cash, former St. Louisans.

To Be Among Debutantes

—Photograph by Robert C. Holt, Post-Dispatch Photographer.

PICTURED ON THE BEACH AT DOUGLAS, MICH., WHERE SHE SPENT THE SUMMER WITH HER FAMILY AT THEIR COTTAGE, ELKHORN LODGE, IS MISS JOAN MARIE BARDENHEIER, WHO WILL BE AMONG THIS SEASON'S DEBUTANTES. YOUNGER DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH BARDENHEIER JR., 6350 PERSHING AVENUE, SHE WILL SHARE HONORS AT A BALL JUNE 15 AT THE UNIVERSITY CLUB WITH MISS PATRICIA ANN DICKMANN AND MISS PATRICIA O'NEILL AND WILL BE INTRODUCED TO HER PARENTS' FRIENDS SOMETIME DURING THE WINTER, THE DATE INDEFINITE. MISS BARDENHEIER WILL ENTER MARYVILLE COLLEGE AS A SOPHOMORE THIS FALL.

Motoring to Quebec a few days ago were Mrs. Paul Beisman, 501 West Polo drive, Clayton; Mrs. Norton Berry, 10114 Ingelside, Ladue, and Mrs. Rudolph Brock, 1 Daniel road, Ladue. There they met Mrs. Berry's daughter, Miss Barbara Berry, who has just returned from the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, where she spent a year. The group will tour Canada before returning to St. Louis.

Mrs. Eldridge H. Lovelace, 5 Brookside lane, Ladue, her daughter, Miss Jean, and her son, Richard, have returned from Plum Lake, Sayner, Wis., Mr. Lovelace, who was with his family, boarded a plane at Wausau, Wis., for Guam and the Philippines where he is doing consulting work for the Navy. Miss Jean, who will be a senior at John Burroughs School in the fall, was a counselor-in-training at Camp Warwick Woods earlier in the summer. Richard, also a John Burroughs student, was at nearby Camp Warwick Woods.

Goerner - Brown Home Wedding

MISS LILLIE MAY BROWN and Leighton Goerner were married Friday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Homer Brown, 221 North Rock Hill road, Webster Groves. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Gregg Goerner, 421 Park avenue, Webster Groves.

The 6 o'clock ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leon R. Robison, pastor of Second Baptist Church, before the two families. Mrs. Norman C. Schute was the bride's only attendant and Frederick Powers was best man for Mr. Goerner. The bridal party stood before an altar of white flowers and greenery arranged about the living room mantel. A reception followed the marriage service.

The former Miss Brown wore a powder blue silk linen suit, a small navy blue hat and a corsage of white orchids. Mrs. Schute was in a slate blue silk linen suit and a black hat. Her corsage was pink carnations.

After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Goerner will live in Riverside, Calif. She is a graduate of Webster Groves High School. Her sisters and brother are Mrs. Ira A. Liberty, Mrs. E. Brice Miltenberger, Mrs. William T. Beckmann and Frank H. Brown Jr. The bride is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ricketts Wise and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Brown, none of them living.

Mr. Goerner also was graduated from Webster Groves High School and attended Washington University School of Fine Arts. In World War II he served with the Navy in the Pacific for four years. A grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh G. Goerner and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Allen R. Sheffer, Rochester, N.Y., he is a brother of D. Gregg Goerner Jr., Mrs. Donald L. McCoy, Mrs. Frank Pierce Donovan, Minneapolis; Daniel M. Goerner, Kansas City, and Miss Elizabeth Ann Goerner.

Martha Carr's OPINION

Dear Martha:

WE think the world of my mother-in-law and she is good to us, but she is always trying to run our lives. She will call and talk for an hour but if she is at our home and someone calls, she always wants to know who it it, why he or she called and doesn't that person know you have work to do and don't want to be on the phone. Also, if anyone stops by she wants to know why, and if we mention that we are going out, she wants to know everything about it. She is constantly criticizing someone in the family. We are getting tired of having her over, then listening to her criticisms of others. She believes she should be able to tell the grandchildren what they should do, even whom they may play with or what they may wear. She doesn't want any of us to entertain other relatives.

JOD.

You can't turn your back on a member of the family as you could on an objectionable acquaintance, so you may just have to grit your teeth and refuse to let her eccentricities and her bossiness bother you. She may feel left out and for that reason is trying to run your lives to compensate for her loss of status. But whatever the cause, the result isn't any more pleasant, so take one problem at a time and try to meet it as it arises. If she wants to talk on the phone and you're too busy, cut the conversation short with a pleasant excuse. If she asks who is calling, tell her casually and let it go at that, or kid her out of it, or just frankly tell her it's a personal matter, then change the subject. Stand your ground on your right to entertain whom you wish, but occasionally bring in some of her special friends. Refuse in a tactful but firm way to listen to criticism of others, and close the conversation with a complimentary remark about the current victim. With your husband's help and by refusing to let her make your life miserable, you can lessen the effect of her faults even if you can't correct them.

Dear Martha:

I CERTAINLY FEEL SORRY for D.T., who said her mother read her daughter's mail, often to outsiders. I am not saying I think mothers shouldn't know what their children are up to, but girls and boys have private affairs that they would like to keep quiet so as to avoid any embarrassment later on. I strongly feel that private letters, phone calls, etc., should be respected.

G.M.

I agree, but, as you say, it is important for mothers to know with whom their daughters are corresponding and the kind of companions they are associating with. The mothers should discourage the writing to strangers, unless under a "pen pal" arrangement sponsored by a reputable agency. But the young people should certainly be able to carry on a conservation or receive a letter from a friend without the fear that the parents will not only read or listen in but will broadcast everything that was written or said.

Beauty Rituals

By Josephine Lowman

IT is impossible for a woman to look really well groomed unless she has a plan to which she adheres. I would like to list what I believe to be the essential rituals for the woman who wishes to delay aging and look as attractive as possible at all times.

EVERY DAY

1. Fifteen minutes or a half-hour of exercise.
2. Daily careful cleansing of the face and neck, at least one time.
3. Daily lubrication of the skin if it is at all dry. An eye cream or one of the hormone oils patted about the eyes before going to sleep at night. This latter disappears into the skin.
4. At least one bath a day.
5. Scalp massage.
6. Careful brushing of the teeth, after each meal whenever possible.
7. An hour or so outdoors whenever possible.
8. At least one 15-minute rest period; two would be better.
9. Facial and neck exercises.
10. Be sure to eat a well-balanced diet.

ONCE A WEEK

1. Have your hair shampooed and set or do it yourself once a week.
2. Have a manicure once a week.
3. Give care to your eyebrows. Do they need tweezing? Usually once a week will be sufficient for taking out the stray hairs.
4. Give special attention to superfluous hair. Some women will require this twice a week.
5. Once a week give your elbows some extra attention. Bleach them with lemon juice and massage them well with cream, leaving the little elbow mitts on all night long.
6. Go over your clothes to see which ones need pressing, cleaning or laundering.

WHENEVER YOU CAN

1. An occasional pedicure is a great luxury and will help you keep your toenails looking well-cared for.
2. Treat yourself to a professional massage whenever you have the time and money.
3. Be independent periodically and spend the day in bed. Take some books along and just be good for nothing once in a while. You will come back to the rush of daily living very much refreshed.
4. See your dentist at least twice a year. Three times is better.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

"OUR company is giving a large dinner for one of the executives who is retiring in several months. Invitations are to be sent to many business friends with whom he has been associated these many years. We would like also to include their wives. Herein lies our problem: We do not know the home addresses of many of those being invited, and it would be a tremendous task to look them up. We were wondering if it would be proper to address these invitations to Mr. and Mrs. and send them to the business address?"

It would be quite all right, under the circumstances, to send the invitations to the business address. However, I would suggest using two envelopes as is done with wedding invitations and addressing the outside envelope to Mr. John Jones followed by his business address and then write Mr. and Mrs. Jones on the inside envelope indicating that his wife is invited too.

A Labor Day Treat

By Edith M. Barber

THERE is one thing we particularly appreciate about the Labor Day holiday. The date is consistently on a Monday; and we can count on a long weekend. Of course, this is more certain than the weather, but we shall all be hoping for an outdoor meal, either at home or away.

While some of us will indulge in a thick steak, or in those always-favorite hamburger patties, many of us have become converts to skewer cookery. For this, small chunks of meat—usually beef—sausages or small balls with vegetables will be provided.

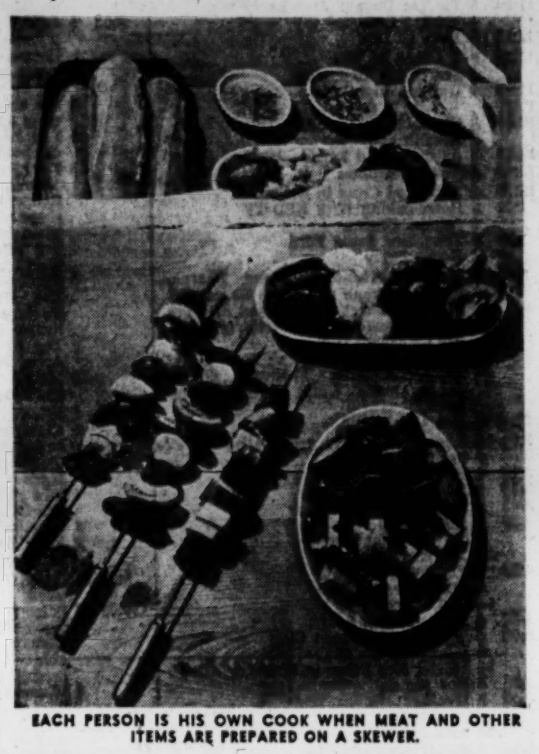

Each person will fill one of those long skewers especially designed for kebab preparation and cook it over the coals to suit himself. It should be seasoned to suit his own taste and, for this reason, should be perfection. Long French rolls or loaves can be provided. These may be split, if desired, and the kebab combination arranged on a long half for one of those popular giant sandwiches.

A tartare sauce or barbecue sauce may accompany a meal of this type, easy to prepare and easy to eat.

Dillwurst Kebabs.

Six slices bacon, 12 one-inch cubes cheese, one pound knockwurst or frankfurters, cut in one-half-inch slices; six medium dill pickles, cut in thirds, two tablespoons chopped chives, one-quarter cup melted butter or margarine, six long French or frankfurter rolls, cut in half lengthwise.

Cook bacon over medium heat until lightly browned, and drain on absorbent paper. Weave one strip bacon around two cubes cheese. Arrange cheese and bacon, knockwurst or frankfurters and pickles on skewers. Broil three to four inches from heat four minutes, or until cheese is lightly browned and meat thoroughly heated. Combine chives and butter or margarine and brush rolls with mixtures. Top with kebabs on bottom halves of rolls and remove skewers. Top with remaining roll halves.

EACH PERSON IS HIS OWN COOK WHEN MEAT AND OTHER ITEMS ARE PREPARED ON A SKEWER.

Sweet Pickle Beef Kebabs.

Three-fourth pound ground beef, two medium tomatoes, cut in wedges, 12 small white onions, cooked, 12 sweet gherkins, one-fourth cup melted butter or margarine, one clove garlic, one-eighth teaspoon oregano, six small loaves French bread, cut in half lengthwise.

Shape beef in 12 balls, about one inch in diameter. Arrange beef balls, tomato wedges, onions and pickles on skewers. Broil three to four inches from heat four to five minutes, or until meat is browned on all sides. Combine butter or margarine, garlic and oregano and cook five minutes. Remove garlic. Brush loaves with oregano mixture. Arrange kebabs on bottom halves of loaves, remove skewers and top with remaining bread halves.

Having Foreign Visitors

By Clarissa Start

RECENTLY our household participated in a program of international good will and enjoyed it very much. A group of foreign students, six boys from France and Belgium and a girl from Singapore, were in St. Louis under the auspices of the Association for World Travel Exchange. They are spending two months touring the United States in a station wagon with their American leaders, Leon and Regina Sharlip of Philadelphia, and in each city and town, local groups provide homes and hospitality for them. We were among the St. Louis hosts.

Clarissa Start.

Our guests were Christian Goutte of Paris, France, and Jacques Dehon of Liege, Belgium. Chris and Jack, as we called them, are young men of 20 and 25 respectively, and they were with us from Thursday through Monday. It was such a busy weekend that we never got around to asking them the traditional question, "What are your impressions of the United States?" But we were able to pick up quite a few impressions in passing.

WHAT ARE young men of France and Belgium like, and what do they like? Well, they like records. They spotted our jazz collection the first evening and gave it a scholarly going-over. Occasionally they interspersed Ralph Sutton and Jelly Roll Morton with a dreamy reminiscent, "Mademoiselle de Paris" or "Reviens."

Friday was devoted to sightseeing, educational and entertaining — Washington University, the Post-Dispatch, the downtown area, Anheuser-Busch. Friday evening was purely social, and we found out something else European young men like. They like girls. It had been our impression that Jacques spoke very little English but when we introduced the boys to two pretty girls, it was amazing how fluent Jacques suddenly became.

They also like automobiles, we learned when we took them on a Saturday morning visit to our dealer. Jacques, whose father has the only automobile distributorship in Liege, was amazed at the number of cars and the number of dealers. At the supermarket we had expected them to be impressed and they were—but not at the variety of food. They were impressed at the number of men wheeling carts and doing the shopping.

FURTHERMORE, we found, they like to swim; they like hamburgers, and they like to play cards. This came out in the course of the day as we attended a swimming party, a barbecue, and another party. The language of two spades and three clubs is international.

They also like animals and on Sunday were amused by the chimp show at the Zoo. We got off to a late start that day because they like to sleep late on Sunday mornings. They also like orange juice, ham and eggs and toast for breakfast.

What are European young people like? They are like American young people. It is the same old story, often told. But one which, we think, bears retelling.

Brief Visit To Farms In Denmark

By Eleanor Roosevelt

COPENHAGEN, Denmark.

I WAS told that the Government in Denmark is trying to induce more people to go into farming. Only 20 per cent of the people are engaged in farming but about 60 per cent of the return on export income comes from farm products.

The amount of land a small farmer and his wife can work and care for themselves, rarely with outside help, has been carefully worked out.

The small land holder whom we visited has 16 acres, of which .7 acres is in woodland, which is cut only for firewood.

The agricultural area is divided into seven fields. Two fields are for growing grass, one for mixed grain, three for barley, one for sugar beets. The entire crop output is used for feeding purposes.

The vegetable garden is for home consumption only, as are the products of the few fruit trees and the berry bushes that are on the place. They have two farm horses, but not of the heavy draft variety, seven cows, two calves, 10 hogs, one sow and about 40 chickens.

The emphasis is, of course, on the production of milk and hogs, which represent the money income of the farm. A small farmer usually shares his machinery with another farmer.

THE GOVERNMENT will loan 8000 kroner for the purchase of land and 14,000 kroner for the erection of buildings. The particular farmer we visited had borrowed this money in 1940 and moved onto the land on April 1 of that year. The Germans occupied Denmark on April 9. What a hopeless situation it must have seemed to him, and for some time afterwards he certainly paid no 4 per cent interest on his land.

But while the Germans took most of the products from the farmers, they realized farm production had to be kept up for the good of the occupation soldiers. So the farmers fared better than most people.

By 1950 the Government of Denmark was willing to loan this small farmer an additional 7000 kroner to build a barn and he seems to be doing well.

OUR NEXT VISIT was to Mr. and Mrs. A. Pilegaard Larsen. He is a tenant farmer and rents his farm on an eight-year lease. He has 100 acres of good clayey soil and the use of his acres is carefully plotted out. He has 38 cows and 25 heifers. He also raises the particular Danish breed of pink hogs which produces the kind of bacon liked in England, and he keeps 250 chickens.

He employs a married herdsman, who has his own house on the place, and two farmhands. Mrs. Larsen, who takes care of the chickens, the garden and house, has a maid to assist her.

This farmer does not share his farm machinery but owns two tractors, one combine and a threshing machine with straw baler. Much of this machinery is bought in the United States. It is very expensive and American dollars are hard to come by, so no carelessness is tolerated in caring for the machines.

Television Notes and Gossip

GALE STORM, whose new television series, "Oh, Susanna," starts on CBS-TV in about a month, got her double-hurricane name when she began her Hollywood career. Her real name was Josephine Owaissa Cottle. Miss Storm's last television series was "Margie," in which she played the daughter of Charles Farrell.

Gale Storm

Gordon MacRae has been signed as host of the new series of "Lux Video Theater" and in the coming season will direct and star in five musicals on the program.

* * *

"Big Story" this season will dramatize events of nationwide appeal rather than present stories of regional interest.

Ed Sullivan, recuperating from injuries suffered in an automobile accident, will return to his program Sept. 16. Gagsters are suggesting that the program that night carry film clips of the accident, with state police taking bows in the audience, and the entire hospital staff on stage.

The television networks went into the red on coverage of the national conventions. Coverage cost at least $17,000,000, of which sponsors footed about $14,000,000. And this doesn't take into account the losses incurred by the networks in pre-empting regular programs.

Celeste Holm and Cyril Ritchard will star in the musical extravaganza, "Jack and the Beanstalk," to be presented on "Producers' Showcase" Nov. 12.

Bert Lahr has signed for three Sunday appearances on "Omnibus" next season. Sunday will be the only day he'll have free from his starring role in a Broadway musical. Asked why he is taking on the TV duties, Lahr said, "With taxes, you can't save enough to take Sunday off any more."

The new CBS-TV adventure series, "Buccaneers," scheduled for a late September start, has a setting in Nassau in the Bahamas. However, the series is not being filmed there but on an English shore.

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

PARIS.

ACCORDING to a late estimate, this city, the capital of France, has a population of almost 3,000,000.

Since my arrival, I have been impressed by the quiet atmosphere which now exists. There has been a big change in the last few years. Motorists are forbidden to sound their horns. The wild honking which I remember has become a thing of the past.

Q. What about prices in France?

A. They are high for most things which travelers wish to buy. One woman tells me that she has searched in vain for a suitable dress at a price under $100.

In various shop windows I have seen displays of men's shirts. They seem to be about the same as one would pay $4 or $5 for back home. Here they are priced at enough thousands of francs to make the cost from $10 to $15 apiece.

A. Yes, that trip is still popular. Instead of using a single elevator, a perso.. rises by stages in four elevators. The cost amounts to about a dollar to reach the top, but what a task it would be to walk up steps to such a height. You would feel exhausted after a climb like that, and hardly could enjoy the view of the city.

Eiffel Tower is the tallest structure in Europe, but it falls short of a few buildings in the United States. The tallest of all —268 feet taller than the Eiffel Tower—is the Empire State Building.
